Strong Opposition Shown By Wenner-Gren Voting

First count in the public opinion ballot conducted by The Times this week indicates that the people of southern Vancouver Island are overwhelmingly against the development scheme for northern B.C. proposed by the Axel Wenner-Gren interests as now presented.

The poll demonstrated that the issue is one of the most controversial public questions raised in many years.

More than 2,000 people sent in marked ballots.

Up to this morning approximately 1,500 had been tabulated, but today's mail brought hundreds more, so that it is not possible to publish the final totals today, as originally planned.

SHARP CONFLICT

The poll results so far indicate that Greater Victorians' votes on the issue are in sharp conflict with the result of a survey announced by Premier Bennett in a press interview Monday.

The Premier said that the people of British Columbia were 20-1 in favor of the project. He based this estimate on "weekend press comment . . . letters reaching this office and from special information from all corners of the province."

The progress count so far showed

Bennett Budget Protested By Loggers, UBC Students

A torchlight protest parade by UBC students and the promise of a legal fight by logging interests were the main reactions to Premier Bennett's "cautious" $295.9 million budget delivered to the legislature Friday.

Vancouver police and firemen slithered through snowy streets following reports that "a big fight and a fire" had broken out at Georgia and Howe.

It turned out to be a torch-lit parade of University of B.C. students demonstrating to protest the fact Premier Bennett didn't boost a grant of $1,000,000 annually to the $2,000,000 figure they had been seeking.

L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said the association will contest legally the constitutional basis of a logging tax in B.C.

Mr. Andrews said the decision to contest the tax was made before the budget came down, but that the new formula announced by Premier Bennett in his budget aggravated the grievance.

The new plan will bring $1,500,000 into B.C. coffers.

It provides for a progressive tax scale on profits of integrated logging and processing firms.

Mr. Andrews said the tax would be contested on the grounds it was actually being levied on lumber processing. With companies involved not only in logging but in processing, it is hard to identify the logging profit, he said.

The manufacturers' association produces about 90 per cent of the lumber cut in the coastal area, Mr. Andrews said.

Legislation setting up the revised tax plan received first reading in the House Friday.

WIRE BRIEFS

Balcer Quits PC Post

OTTAWA (BUP)—Conservative leader John Diefenbaker today confirmed tha t Leon Balcer has resigned as the party's organizer for the province of Quebec.

Franco Fires Cabinet

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco dismissed his cabinet ministers Friday night and told them "a new period" of Spanish political history was beginning, a reliable government source reported today.

Eden Ailing Again

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters)—Sir Anthony Eden had a slight recurrence of fever and some abdominal pain Friday night but doctors said he "seems satisfactory."

Beliveau OK—Doctor

MONTREAL (CP)—Centre star Jean Beliveau has been given a clean bill of health, and will play tonight, coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens said today after a talk with the big player's personal physician. (See sport pages.)

U.K. Soccer Schedule Hit By Weather

LONDON (Reuters)—Heavy snow blizzards in the north, the Midlands and the west of England and driving rain the rest of the country played havoc with the British soccer schedule today.

Some games were called off after the referees had a look at snowbound or waterlogged grounds. Others were abandoned before full time ran out.

Stoke City's right-winger, Neville Coleman, triumphed over mud, water and the whole Lincoln City team to bang in seven of the eight goals by which his team shut out Lincoln.

Stock's win put them in second place of the Second Division on goal average—ahead of Notts Forest and behind Leicester City.

WEEKEND SALUTES BOY SCOUTS

Weekend Magazine, a feature in today's Times, pinpoints the world-wide observance of the centenary of Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts. Described and pictured are the Scout and Girl Guide celebrations in Sackville, N.B. where "they're all good Scouts." In Greater Victoria there are 2,500 Boy Scouts and a fast-growing group of Girl Guides.

Israelis Blowing-Up Gaza Bases?

CAIRO (Reuters) — Reports reaching Cairo from El 'Arish said explosions could be heard from frontier outposts in the Gaza Strip indicating the Israelis were destroying military installations.

Similar explosions were heard from El 'Arish prior to the Israeli withdrawal there.

CRISIS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles today invited congressional leaders of both parties to a Sunday meeting with him on the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower has received another message from Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel, but the White House declined to disclose its contents.

Ben-Gurion, in a speech to the Israeli Parliament Wednesday night, refused to accept U.S. proposals for withdrawal of Israeli forces from areas captured from Egypt.

Eisenhower administration spokesman said Israel will have to modify its position and that the U.S. position will not be altered.

Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban is flying back from Jerusalem after consultations with Ben-Gurion. He is due Sunday.

PEARSON TO FORE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — After weeks of postponements, proposals and counter-proposals, the UN Friday took up the Israeli dispute again—and an assembly battle over the question of sanctions against Israel was the immediate prospect. However, indications are that nothing will be done until the U.S. makes its final declaration.

The Arab delegations late Friday put formally before the assembly their long-threatened sanctions resolution, which would ask all UN members to cut off economic, military or financial aid to Israel if she does not withdraw at once.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson has been a leader of the anti-sanctions faction. He considers that passage of such a resolution would be a complete admission of UN failure. During the weekend he is expected to try lining up support for a compromise plan —and if the U.S. falls in with this as a result of the Washington talks the sanctions proposal would be doomed to failure.

LOOK OUT FOR 'WAVES'

Snow Treacherous Streets Blamed in Several Accidents

More than a dozen traffic accidents between early afternoon Friday and this morning, many of them blamed on snowy streets, sent eight persons to hospitals with varying injuries.

In satisfactory condition at Jubilee Hospital after an operation for internal injury is Robert Wicks, 6½, 1051 Admirals, who was in collision with a car in a school crosswalk Friday about 1 p.m. near Craigflower School.

Police said the boy was driven to school by his father, left the car and proceeded to cross Admirals past a school patrol flag into the path of a car driven by William B. Nikkels, Happy Valley.

Saanich police took the boy to hospital where he was treated in emergency for facial abrasions and head injuries, then admitted.

OVERTURNED

Mrs. Yvette Smethurst, 57, and her daughters, Jeanette and Sylvia, of Brentwood, were treated at Jubilee for injuries received when the car Mrs. Smethurst was driving overturned about 7.40 p.m. on Patricia Bay Highway after going out of control.

The car apparently skidded on the slippery highway near Beaver Lake, went into the ditch and turned over.

Admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. Mae Lee, 24, with facial injuries, and her daughter, Deanna, two, with head injury, who were occupants of a car involved in an accident on the Malahat about 7.40 p.m.

In the city, Arvid Beck, 66, 33 Simcoe, was treated for minor injuries received about 7 p.m. when he was in collision with a car in the 500 block of Yates.

Seven-year-old Glenn Campbell, son of Mrs. Hazel Campbell, 800 Reed, was treated for a cut head at St. Joseph's at 8.10 p.m. He fell at his home.

AMBULANCE CRASH

Police call to take him for treatment was answered by a naval shore patrol wagon, which was in a minor collision with a parked car as it proceeded to hospital.

Slippery streets were blamed for the vehicle striking the parked car at Quadra and North Park after it swerved to avoid a car attempting to cross Quadra in its path.

Other minor accidents occurred through the evening and overnight as slushy driving conditions reduced automobile control.

Bad Weather Blocks Up-Coast Jet Search

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bad flying weather held up an air search today for a T-33 jet trainer, missing 50 miles up-coast on a flight here from Portage La Prairie, Man.

Aboard the "Shooting Star" jet was FO Gilbert Russell, 26, of Portage La Prairie and Port Arthur.

RCAF officials said the same bad weather which is believed to have been a factor in the plane's disappearance would hold searching aircraft on the ground until mid-afternoon.

A marine search involving three tugs, several fishboats and three government vessels was organized to search the Malaspina Strait area between Pender Harbour and Texada Island.

Residents of the area reported hearing an aircraft about the time the T-33 went missing.

The jet was one of two T-33's which set out from Portage La Prairie at about 2.30 p.m., PST, on a long-distance training flight bound for Sea Island air force base. They refuelled at Lethbridge, Alta.

One plane landed at Sea Island at 7.08 p.m., at which time last contact was made with the second, which was flying 10 minutes behind.

Victoria Gets Sun Sunday

A wet, sticky blanket of snow, that buried Vancouver Island to depths of over two feet overnight, broke up today under the impact of warm weather, auto traffic, and a blitz by highways department crews.

By midmorning authorities in the up-Island area feared disastrous floods might be caused by the warm rain that fell for a few hours, but weatherman William Mackie said here in Victoria that rain is likely to become light and intermittent this evening and overnight.

Heaviest snow of the overnight storm was at Sproat Lake where up to 30 inches of snow made travel impossible. Nearby Port Alberni had 18 inches of snow, and Campbell River and Courtenay reported 15 inches overnight.

"It's still snowing here today, but traffic is beginning to move," Courtenay RCMP reported. "There have been no cases of distress but plenty of inconvenience. Cars are stranded all over the district."

HIGHWAY BLOCKED

The highway over the Alberni summit between Cameron Lake and Alberni was impassable at press time, and it is understood the last traffic made the trip late Friday afternoon.

Here in Victoria the fall was measured officially at 5.8 inches, but Mr. Mackie said it would reach seven inches in some portions of the district. Many cars were unable to move and about 20 were reported stalled at Memorial Arena where there was a hockey game Friday night.

By this morning, the snow had softened to slush, and in most cases traffic was able to proceed without difficulty. By press time the traveled portion of most main roads was clear.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported all buses from up-Island arriving here on time.

Duncan reported 12 inches of snow and warm temperatures, but no rain. Main roads were reported passable, but side roads were blocked in many cases.

At Nanaimo there was up to 18 inches of snow, and residents of many suburban areas were temporarily marooned.

Worst hit transportation operation was Trans-Canada Air Lines, that lost four flights to Vancouver Friday evening, and four Vancouver flights and a Seattle flight today. Normal traffic was resumed at 10.45 a.m. today.

Bennett's Pay Hiked to $20,000, MLAs Get $1,400 Boost to $5,000

Hon. W. A. C. Bennett joined the ranks of Canada's highest paid premiers Friday when estimates for 1957-58 presented to the legislature provided him with a salary of $15,000 a year and a $5,000 sessional indemnity.

His salary last year was $9,000. His executive assistant, Ron Worley, received $9,600. (Worley's salary this year is unchanged.)

Cabinet ministers each will receive a total of $12,500 a year, an increase of $5,000 over last year's salary.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's allowance—additional to his sessional indemnity—will increase from $2,000 to $3,500.

The sessional allowance of Mr. Speaker Thomas Irwin will be boosted from $1,800 to $3,500.

MLAs will receive $5,000 instead of as formerly $3,600.

The breakdown on their scale shows $4,400 indemnity and $15 a day for living allowance, based on a 40-day session.

Clerk of the House E. K. DeBeck will get an increase from $1,700 to $2,500, and newly appointed law clerk Ian Horne from $1,200 to $1,500.

Premier Bennett said the new salary scale will "enable our members to get around the province more and learn what is going on in other constituencies besides their own."

Pay increases also were included in the estimates for members of the Public Utilities Commission.

Dean Harry Angus, chairman, will have his salary increased from $10,816 to $12,000, and commissioner Percy George and A. B. Jackson from $8,300 to $10,000.

PM ANNOUNCES NEW DEAL FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today announced plans for a complete overhaul of the federal employment structure under a new civil service chairman.

He said the chairman is to be appointed during the next few weeks.

NORMAN CRIBBENS

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Study in Faces As Budget Bared

It was a study in faces to watch the general reaction to Premier Bennett's reading of his new record-breaking budget Friday afternoon.

While the Social Credit members listened with unrestrained admiration, there was a grim-faced lady in the public galleries who looked as if she had been persuaded to attend a bawdy night-club party.

Had there been nude dancing girls on the floor of the legislature, the lady could not have looked more disapproving.

Someone suggested she was a Liberal party campaigner of years gone by.

The rest of the House—members and public alike—listened in respectful silence to the premier's address, although some of the older folk in the galleries complained he spoke too fast.

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan leaned back in his chair as if he had heard it all before.

George Gregory, sole representative of the Liberal party due to the illness of P. Archie Gibbs, listened to the speech with becoming gravity, occasionally scribbling notes on his desk pad.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi sat eager-eyed, absorbing the premier's words as if they were pearls of wisdom.

W. J. Asselstine, that rugged man of the north—a Liberal turned Social Crediter—listened gravely, chin supported on both hands.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd, always a benign figure, leaned back in his chair as if relaxing in his favorite club.

Mrs. Buda Brown (SC, Vancouver-Point Grey), in black dress with large white collar and orchid, listened intently throughout the two-hour speech.

Tom Uphill, puckish 82-year-old Independent member for Fernie, followed the premier's speech for one and a half hours with stern knitted brows, then got up suddenly, as if obeying an urgent summons from the corridor, and left the chamber.

Ald. Don Smith, new Social Credit member for Victoria City, listened judicially, arms folded on chest.

Health Minister Eric Martin leaned forward, chin in hand, like some ancient Caesar holding a tribunal. And Ray Williston, youthful-looking minister of lands and forests, had the air of a man who says, "This is straight talk, whether you like it or not."

In the back of the galleries was a white-haired man who seemed more concerned with the comfort of the House than the Premier's speech.

Chin on chest, he dozed happily from the time the Premier started speaking at 2.40 p.m. until the vigorous desk-thumpings of Socred members awoke him at 4.45.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett told reporters his budget should be regarded as an insurance budget.

"Even if there were a recession," he said, "we would have enough reserves to carry on our regular services. And we have the interests of the people at heart."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, was the first to shake the premier's hand when he left the chamber.

Although the premier's budget gave no further aid to UBC than the $1,000,000 a year for 10 years already promised, Dr. MacKenzie said:

"I am glad, Mr. Premier, that you are still keeping the door open. I know you are on our side."

★ ★ ★

In honor of the budget speech, Premier Bennett and his cabinet were uniformly dressed in black coats and striped trousers. They wore white hyacinths against a green fern to represent the Social Credit colors—white and green.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett, suffering from a cold, was gradually losing his voice as he neared the end of the budget speech.

By taking frequent sips of water, he managed to finish—hoarse but smiling.

10,000 Sign TV Petition

More than 10,000 signatures have been received by the Saanich Voters' Association asking that CHEK-TV's transmitter be moved to cut down on interference, it was reported today.

It is the association's aim to have the petition to Ottawa completed by March 7 in order to have it before a meeting of the CBC board of governors April 3.

Object of petitioners is to obtain at least 20,000 names.

However, an association spokesman said, that if the results were to be completed in time more volunteer canvassers are needed. Donations are also necessary, it was added, to meet expenses.

. . . POLL

that 1,428 persons have voted "no" to the question whether it is wise to tie up such a large area of northern B.C. for the benefit of one group of interests. It is estimated the land reserve placed by the government covers about one-tenth of the province. The vote in favor of this question was only 76.

On the second question, as to whether B.C. should make any kind of deal with the Wenner-Gren interests, the negative vote is 1,370 and the affirmative 124.

The final question was whether it is morally right for Einar Gunderson, who holds public posts as executive vice-president of the PGE Railway and as a member of the toll bridge authority, to also be a director of the Wenner-Gren development firm. The vote on this is 1,418 against and 81 in favor.

The figures thus indicate the feeling shown by the poll run from 11 to one up to 18 to one against the questions.

It is conceded that this is not necessarily the complete picture of feeling, since in an unofficial ballot of this kind the tendency is for those who are opposed to a project to be more vociferous and definite in their views than those who favor it. Some of the latter would be more inclined to let the ballot go by default rather than bother sending in a vote. However, the enormous majority against it is taken as registering a very wide antagonism.

Tallying of the votes is being supervised by W. Gordon Holms, of the chartered accountancy firm of Bailey, Monteith, Holms & Co., and all ballots are being placed in his possession.

The unusual interest in the ballot was demonstrated by dozens of letters accompanying votes mailed to The Times.

Many of these were highly complimentary to the paper for giving people the opportunity to express their views. They also gave a variety of opinions on whether the province should deal with Wenner-Gren in view of his alleged sympathies prior to the last war; and on how cautious the government should be in allowing rights over large portions of territory.

There were a few of those favoring the plan who claimed the wording of the ballot was "loaded" against the project.

Further results of the tally will be announced in Monday's paper and it is hoped to have the count complete by Tuesday.

Naval Probe Ordered Into Dockyard Death

W. M. Stewart, 49, Asphyxiated by Gas While Working in Hold of Vessel

A naval inquiry into the death of William M. Stewart, 49, 1527 Camosun, in an accident at HMC Dockyard Friday afternoon will be conducted within a few days.

A civil inquest into the death will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Sand's Funeral Home, coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said.

Mr. Stewart, a civilian rigger at the Dockyard, was asphyxiated by carbon dioxide gas shortly before 2 p.m. Friday when working in a confined after hold of the navy torpedo recovery launch Wildwood as it was undergoing refit.

Three other civilian workmen in the hold escaped above decks of the 70-foot vessel before they were fully overcome by the gas. They turned in the alarm and were given first aid treatment.

One man, George D. Nelfgan, 971 Dunsmuir, also a rigger, who was working with Stewart, and two HMC Dockyard firemen, Frank F. Bell, 95 View Royal, and Donald J. Metcalfe, 3251 Rutledge, were admitted to HMCS Naden Hospital for treatment.

The firemen had donned all-service breathing masks, good for respiration in atmosphere containing no less than 16 per cent oxygen, and went below decks to get Stewart.

Carbon dioxide, from a 50-pound cylinder being connected to the ship's fire-fighting system, completely filled the hold. The firemen felt themselves being overcome and returned to the dockside.

By this time other firemen, with oxygen-generating breathing equipment, were able to go down and get Stewart.

Efforts to revive him proved in vain. He had been in the hold about 15 minutes from the time the alarm was given, a navy spokesman said.

Delay was caused by the fact the oxygen-generating masks require several minutes to begin functioning.

Others in the hold at the time were pipe-fitter Harry Maat, 403 Hillside, and shipwright Robert F. Dunton, 2350 Epworth. With Neligan they scrambled to the open air, gasping for breath.

Maintenance bosun Arthur Jane, 73 Sylvan Lane, saw them and turned in the alarm.

Plane Crash Death Toll May Reach 25

SEOUL (AP)—A burning United States transport plane crashed on an islet in the Han River Friday night. At least 134 of the 159 aboard were saved, but five bodies were found and it was feared the death toll might reach 25.

The pilot said an engine of the big C-124 Globemaster ran wild, burst into flames and spewed chunks of metal into the two-decker fuselage.

As the tide ebbed at the Han's mouth today, permitting resumption of the search for bodies, air force officials listed 20 persons missing. A spokesman said: "It is very doubtful if they will be found alive."

New York Dockers End Costly Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Dock men went back to work today on piers in New York and other northeastern seaboard ports, ending a costly 10-day strike.

Signals summoning longshore gangs sounded at 5.55 a.m. and a few minutes later the docks buzzed with activity. A huge backlog of cargo meant plenty of work ahead.

The scene was repeated elsewhere along the coast from Maine to Virginia following the signing of new contracts between employers and 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) who load and unload ship cargoes in the ports.

Losses to shippers and industy during the strike have amounted to an estimated $30,000,000. More than 100 ships were tied up.

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

Copper is one of 14 elements obtained from Inco ores. Inco produces over 250,000,000 lbs. of copper a year. And more than half of all this copper goes to Canadian companies for the manufacture of copper tube and fittings and hundreds of other useful products. Copper tube and fittings for supply and drainage plumbing are easy and economical to install... and will usually last as long or longer than the buildings in which they are used.

INCO COPPER in millions of feet of plumbing for Canadian homes

...more jobs in Canada

FOR LONG LIFE and trouble-free service, there's nothing quite like copper plumbing in the home. It won't rust; it resists corrosion; under normal conditions, it will last as long as the building.

Today, nearly all the new homes being built in Canada have copper plumbing. And more than half of this copper comes from Inco.

Here's how Inco Copper helps make jobs for Canadians. Down in the mines, Inco workmen blast out the ore. It is milled, smelted and refined at Inco's plants in Copper Cliff, Ontario. Refined copper is sold to Canadian companies for the manufacture of tube, fittings and other plumbing items. Then plumbers install them in Canadian homes.

All these operations help provide jobs for thousands of workmen. That's how Inco helps stimulate the growth and development of industry in Canada.

Resignation Demand Made by B.C. Tory

(From Times News Services)

Progressive Conservative Howard Green has demanded the resignation of an official of a government agency on the ground that he is a Liberal candidate in the coming federal general election.

Mr. Green, member for Vancouver-Quadra, said that Arnold Darroch, a member of the Canadian farm loan board, was nominated as a Liberal candidate in December.

Outside the House, Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg-North Centre), who originally questioned the propriety of Mr. Darroch remaining on the board, said Mr. Darroch will contest the Ontario riding of Wellington-Huron.

"Is it ordinary government procedure that a member can retain a government position and go on campaigning while being paid by this government?" asked John A. Charlton (PC-Brant-Haldimand).

William Benidickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Harris, promised to look into the matter.

The matter came up as the House discussed legislation to increase the farm loan board's loaning capacity by $20,000,000 to $80,000,000.

The debate recalled the furore in the House last year over the late L. B. Thomson being a Liberal candidate in the 1956 Saskatchewan provincial election while he was director of the Prairie farm rehabilitation administration a federal agency.

Mr. Thomson, who was defeated, had tendered his resignation but Agriculture Minister Gardiner said at the time that no action was taken on it.

CPR Corporate Bill Runs Into Snag

A bill to simplify the corporate structure of the Canadian Pacific Railway company ran into trouble.

The CPR plans to absorb 37 wholly-owned subsidiaries. Legislation was passed at the last session dealing with 13 of these companies and a bill this year deals with another 12.

Among these 12 are the Kaslo and Slocan Railway Company and Nakusp and Slocan Railway Company in British Columbia. Thirty-five miles of these companies' lines were abandoned by the CPR in 1955 and the board of transport commissioners ordered the railway to turn over the right-of-way to the B.C. government.

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) and Howard Green (PC-Vancouver Quadra) both asked that names of the two railways be deleted from the bill. They argued that this would speed up transfer of the right-of-way to the B.C. government and construction by that government of a highway to replace the railroad.

C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River) said deleting the names would have the opposite effect because it would delay transfer of title to the right-of-way to the B.C. government and thus construction of a highway.

George McIlraith (L-Ottawa West), sponsor of the private bill, said Mr. Herridge's and Mr. Green's remarks had no relation to the bill, which simply provided that the CPR assume all the obligations of the subsidiaries in question.

Debate ended at that point with adjournment.

* * *

The House with a minimum of debate gave approval in principle to legislation increasing Prairie Farm Assistance Act benefits paid to western grain farmers who suffer partial or complete crop failures.

The legislation retains the levy on farmers at its present level of one per cent on grain deliveries.

In the resolution stage of the measure earlier in the week there was extended debate, with CCF spokesmen calling for increases greater than those proposed by the government. But Friday spokesmen for all parties expressed themselves in favor of the principle of an increase and gave the bill second reading.

The bill was sent to the agriculture committee for detailed study.

The proposed payments are $4 an acre on half the cultivated acreage if the wheat yield in the qualifying area is below three bushels an acre; $3 if the yield is three to five bushels, and $2 if it is between four and eight bushels. The present payments are $2.50 for yields below four bushels and $1.50 between four and eight bushels.

* * *

Trade Minister Howe indicated the government plans to drop the position of federal transport controller, vacated Dec. 31 with the resignation of Roy W. Milner of Winnipeg. The Canadian wheat board had been asked to set up a traffic department to handle boxcar allocations for Prairie farm grain shipments.

* * *

Discussion opened on legislation to split the national museum into two institutions—a museum of natural history and one of human history.

On this last matter, Douglas Harkness (PC, Calgary North) suggested the present museum is being divided to create jobs for men already appointed as directors. He said the government had gone ahead with the appointments over protests of the professional institute of the civil service and of a mass meeting of the museum staff.

Bus Hits Tree; Two Die

Thirteen Injured In Toronto Crash

TORONTO (CP) — Two persons were killed today and 13 injured when a Gray Coach Lines bus swerved off Highway 11 in nearby Richmond Hill and wrapped itself around a tree.

The victims were not immediately identified.

The dead and injured were trapped in the wreckage of the bus which one person said "looked like a banana."

There were conflicting reports as to what happened. Ross Kelly, Gray Coach Lines public relations officer, said the bus driver swung sharply to avoid colliding with a truck. Another story was that the bus was passing the truck. A third was that the bus and truck crashed.

Workmen used acetylene torches to cut through the tangled steel of the wreck and free the injured. But the body of one of the dead was still imprisoned a half hour after the men tackled the job.

Many passengers were women headed for downtown Toronto shopping centres.

Mr. Kelly said the injured included bus driver R. G. McBride of Toronto.

Many of the injured were given hasty first aid treatment at a nearby automobile showroom. Ambulances took them to hospital at Newmarket, 28 miles north of Toronto.

Bob Birrell, a member of the showroom staff, said the accident picture was "a dreadful mess." He said "dozens of people" were brought, dazed, bleeding and with clothing awry, into the building.

Nobusuke Kishi New Japanese PM

TOKYO (Reuters) — The ruling Liberal-Democratic party today confirmed Foreign Minister Nobusuke Kishi as prime minister of Japan.

Kishi, who was acting prime minister, succeeds Tanzan Ishibashi, who resigned Friday because of illness.

BONN (AP) — West German President Theodor Heuss has postponed his visit to the United States because of bronchitis, his office announced today.

The 63-year-old president was due to go to Washington March 1. Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano has not changed his plans and will fly to the U.S. March 5.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By DINAH KERR and IRVING STRICKLAND

QUESTION: "Do you think "laggard" students, or those who are indifferent to their studies in high school, should be made to leave school as is the case in Calgary?"

Mrs. J. H. Fox, 2747 Prior: "No, you can't order a child to leave school. They have to be educated somewhere. I would have them switched to a vocational school where they could learn a trade."

Mrs. L. C. Ambrose, 5058 Wesley: "No, I definitely don't think they should be kicked out. Many factors enter into a child's indifference — for instance, his experiences at home —or he may just be going through a "lazy" stage. These students should be given every opportunity, just as they would in a family. Every child isn't a ball of fire, but that doesn't turn the family against him."

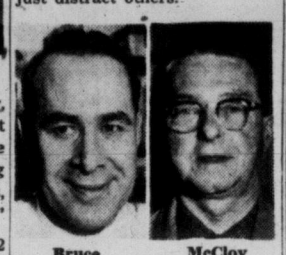
Fox Ambrose

Ashby Hippolt

Douglas Ashby, truck driver, 3061 Albina: "If the kids won't work, yes, they should be made to leave. But if they're trying hard and getting low grades, they should be allowed to stay."

Mrs. Joseph Hippolt, 822 Caledonia: "It all depends on the reason why they won't work. It might be their lack of encouragement or lack of the right sort of teacher—that's very important. Before the child is considered for expulsion, he should be given aptitude tests to see if he is studying subjects for which he's suited."

Clay Bruce, druggist, 651 Dupplin: "Actually, I think it's a good idea. If the students aren't helping themselves, they're not helping anyone else. They're not of any use to anyone where they are and they just distract others."



Bruce McCloy

J. H. McCloy, owner, McCloy Cleaners: "Yes, I think they should at least be separated from the good students. But they should also be given a chance to succeed in school, perhaps in a special class with a firm teacher."

IWA Official Charges Operators Painting Unreal Economic Picture

VANCOUVER (CP) — President Lloyd Whelan of Local 1-217, International Woodworkers of America, introduced a report at the IWA 20th convention Friday lashing out at the "one-sided propaganda campaign" against wage boosts being conducted by industry.

Whelan said the 150-page report had been compiled by experts hired by his local without the knowledge of IWA policy - making and research groups.

The report accused lumber operators of waging a propaganda campaign about the poor condition of the lumber market and said this campaign had influenced the demands of workers. It called operators "prophets of doom" who were forecasting an unreal economic picture.

Whelan's report met a mixed reception. Some said it was an electioneering stunt. One delegate noted that the report had only covered in detail what president Joe Morris had said earlier.

Can I test Christian Science for myself?

The steady growth of Christian Science has naturally caused many to wonder what it is that appeals to so many and whether it might be helpful in their own problems. Some have friends or relatives who are Christian Scientists and have inquired of them. But others prefer to look into the subject entirely for themselves and reach conclusions in their own way.

Doctors Threaten To Quit U.K. Plan

LONDON (Reuters) — Forty thousand angry doctors Friday made ready plans to quit the National Health Service if the British Government turns down their claim for a pay increase.

Officials of the British Medical Association say a doctor's walkout would toss the administration of the health service into chaos. Doctors now are working out their own arrangements to treat patients independent of the national service.

If the government grants the pay demand, it will mean a rise of £500 ($1,400) in the average general practitioner's income.

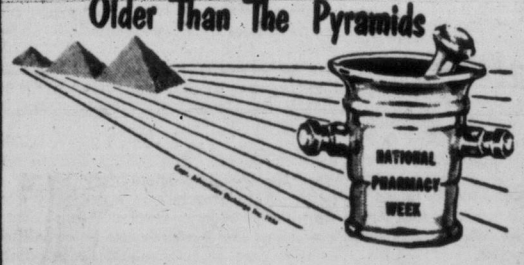
Younger Than Yesterday
Older Than The Pyramids



Among the most ancient of preserved records are prescriptions inscribed on clay tablets by the Apothecaries of earliest Egypt. From its crude beginnings over 4,000 years ago — up to the miraculous accomplishments of the 20th century — Pharmacy has contributed greatly to the advance of the healing arts. Recorded history is filled with accomplishments of this noble profession in bringing a healthier, happier, longer life to mankind. We salute the past and look to future advances — for truly, Pharmacy is younger than yesterday.

Restrained Optimism

MR. BENNETT'S BUDGET IS too complicated to be quickly analyzed in detail. But its main facts are clear.

He is raising British Columbia's expenditures to a new and staggering peak. In the coming fiscal year he will spend directly some $295 millions. As this includes $21 millions for debt reduction the increase in general government spending, over last year, is $16 millions or about 6 per cent.

In addition, various agencies of the Government, like the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the Toll Bridge Authority and the Power Commission will spend capital sums not yet disclosed.

All this spending, unimaginable a few years ago, can be readily financed out of the Government's huge revenues or by borrowing. But there can be, says Mr. Bennett, no cut in taxes. High spending and high taxes—the highest in Canada—are to remain his policy.

He is to be congratulated on his wise decision to accept the new federal-provincial tax agreement and not to impose a separate provincial income tax. How the CCF could imagine that he would do such a foolish thing, financially and politically, is difficult to imagine. He knows that he has received a generous deal from Ottawa and he is accepting it.

Mr. Bennett's new system of bookkeeping may be efficient but it is so complex that no layman can hope to understand exactly how the new budget is balanced. At first sight his estimated revenues of $268 millions in the next year fall short of his expenditures by nearly thirty million dollars. However, he has on hand large surpluses from former years and these can easily cushion any deficit in the next year.

At any rate, he intends to collect, over a period of two or three years, far more than he spends on current account and to use the remainder in reducing the direct public debt.

It would normally be reduced by the use of sinking funds but this does not satisfy Mr. Bennett. He intends, in the current and in the next fiscal year, to make an extra reduction of about $36 millions.

This would be a great achievement if it were real. Unfortunately it is not real. For while the direct debt is falling and will soon disappear altogether, the indirect debt—through government guarantees to many enterprises—is rising rapidly.

In the last year, for example, these so-called "contingent liabilities" have increased by $85 millions and now stand at $223 millions.

The indirect debt increase far outweighs the direct reductions. And so far as the citizen is concerned direct and indirect debt are the same thing—repayment and interest costs must be borne by the public through one channel or another. We are not climbing out of debt. We are sinking deeper into it.

In spite of this fact, the Premier has tempered his earlier enthusiasms to some degree. He finds the broad economic outlook for the province a little bit clouded, no doubt by sober contemplation of the declining export market in lumber and other commodities.

If, as the Premier says, he intends to "make haste slowly" until his path is clear, he will be acting wisely. The greatest danger to B.C. and to Canada today is a runaway inflation which could debase our dollar beyond recognition.

Save the Plateau Now

IN HIS BUDGET SPEECH FRIday Premier Bennett referred again to the creation of a new department "to co-ordinate the administration of recreational facilities provided by the province and the conservation of certain natural resources."

He spoke while the echoes of a plea from the Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Comerce still linger in the air. The Courtenay-Comox interests want the Forbidden Plateau to be included in Strathcona Park to preserve it from possible rape by pulpwood loggers.

The Forbidden Plateau is one of the great natural assets of this part of the world. Its scenery is magnificent. Its present use as a recreation ground gives only a hint of its future value for that purpose.

The people of Comox and Courtenay fear it will be destroyed by a pulp-tree harvest—that its immeasurable wealth will be thrown away for a few quick dollars.

They have grounds for those fears. Buttle Lake has been "changed" in a way many people consider tragic. Elk Falls is gone. The Plateau, say those closest at hand, is in danger. Trees grow slowly there; it would take 100 years to replace them.

Let the new department move in immediately, save this priceless region and prove, without delay, its intention to conserve these natural resources.

Hungry for Miners Not Hungarians?

WHEN BRITAIN FACED A coal famine some years ago, the authorities sought to increase output by bringing into the country Italian miners. British union miners refused to work with them. Production failed to meet consumption levels and coal was literally delivered to Newcastle.

A somewhat similar situation seems to prevail in Britain today. The National Coal Board estimates a shortage of 8,800 workers this year. It had planned to bring in 5,000 Hungarians—has, in fact, a total of 3,000 Hungarian miners already in the country. Once more the unions have said "no."

Conceivably the British miners fear that an influx of Hungarians into their particular field will prejudice working conditions, possibly introduce cheap labor and depress wages. If that is the case, the miners' position seems to ignore the broader aspects of national economic health and their own long-term interests.

Britain, which built its industrial strength on coal, still has a vast supply of that fuel. The people of Britain are still using it, both for heat, power production and special industries. But the supply, in recent years, appears to have scarcely met requirements. There have not been enough miners digging a sufficient amount.

At this distance from Britain's coal fields, the sentiment of the British miners cannot be fully appreciated. Nor can details of their objections to the employment of refugees be completely aired.

Yet it seems strange that these men on whom British industry and home-owners depend so heavily should reject the opportunity to let others help them mine. If there is to be a shortage of 8,800 workers this year, why should not the deficiency be cut in half by Hungarians who are seeking a life away from the oppression of their homeland at tasks they are competent to do?

Mr. Eisenhower Fights Inflation

Christian Science Monitor

WE are glad that President Eisenhower has once more expressed his reluctance to apply direct federal controls on business. But we note that he is so concerned about inflation he warns business and labor the government will have to resort to controls if the failure of voluntary restraints continues.

We note too that on the very same day a United States Chamber of Commerce economist told a congressional committee that no individual businessman or labor leader can be expected to "exercise effective voluntary anti-inflationary restraints."

Certainly there is little evidence that such restraints are being exercised. Current reports show instead more wage and price boosts, including one on gasoline despite extra heavy supplies.

But is it true that business and labor leaders are helplessly caught in the inflation spiral? Surely it is still true in many lines that lower prices provide a competitive advantage. And we have heard of workers who accepted wage cuts when convinced it was necessary to keep a business going.

We cannot believe that prices would not halt or even retreat if consumer resistance mounted. And it could happen without formal agreement by every producer in a given industry. This, of course, is not exactly the kind of voluntary action based on "enlightened Americans" perceiving "their own long-term good," which Mr. Eisenhower urged. But is he being utterly unrealistic in assuming that decisive portions of American business and labor can and will act voluntarily?

We trust not. For unless individuals can initiate restraints one of the pillars of free enterprise is undermined. Unless voluntary action can be effective then drastic government controls do appear inevitable if the boom-bust cycle is to be halted.

Probably Secretary Humphrey and former President Hoover are in a minority in fearing a "hair-curling depression."

Yet clearly more attention should be given to their concern lest mounting inflation produce depression. We do not believe the government has exhausted its own ability to act short of direct price controls. But it is true that it is better equipped to halt deflation. Indeed, the economy, too, somewhat resembles a cat—much better equipped for climbing up than down. Anybody who has ever observed kitty on a telephone pole can see her claws are built for ascent.

Americans retain dreadful memories of the depression. Not only does business and labor want to keep on climbing; all the political pressures are against anything that looks like a recession.

Yet everyone recognizes—theoretically—that in addition to the real robbery of folks on fixed incomes inflation can reach the top of the telephone pole. Some cats never learn until they tumble or get rescued by the fire laddies. But there are smart cats.

The Relentless War on Executives

AFTER standing alone for many years, this department at last has found an ally in The Hamilton Spectator. That distinguished newspaper has joined me in my losing war against executives. It should be hastily added that I have nothing against executives as persons, for as persons I have found them a kindly, patient and over-worked group of men. No, I am against the executive as a name. I am not against him personally but semantically. I am trying to rescue him from his title.

Hutchison

The editor of The Spectator, so far as I know, is the only other thinker in Canada who understands this great and critical issue.

As he says, the word "executive," like many others, has been traduced and debauched for sordid commercial purposes. Every humble worker in Canada is encouraged to make himself an executive not as an honorable ambition but as a sales gimmick.

WHILE the ordinary man is climbing this ladder of success, toward executive power, stomach ulcers, a high mortality rate and maximum succession duties, he is urged to buy the goods fit for the executive.

We now have "executive type" automobiles, houses, furniture and cigars. No doubt there is an executive-type bathroom and soon there will be an executive-type lawnmower, garbage can, shovel and septic tank. The free, democratic society of America is becoming riddled by a snobbishness worse than the snobbishness of a born aristocracy because its purpose is only profit.

NOW, if there is such a thing as an executive (and I have never found one after long search) clearly that splendid eminence is statistically far beyond the reach of most of us. There can never be more than a few bosses in business, politics or any department of life, any more than you can have an army of generals, a congregation of priests or two drivers in a car.

Most of us, therefore, are doomed forever to be non-executives without the executive's wages, ulcers, coronary condition and rich widows that are becoming the mark of success and genius in America.

Once upon a time, not long ago, America's candid ambition was to be rich, but wealth, too, has been put beyond the reach of the best type of man. The income tax has taken care of that.

WHEN the spur of wealth was removed, except for a few lucky persons who understand the art of untaxed capital gains, the social reformer might suppose that we were approaching the classless society where all men were equal.

It has not turned out that way under the free enterprise system and still less under the communist system.

In the name of Karl Marx (who hardly owned a decent suit of clothes and had never heard the word "executive") the Russians set up managers and functionaries of various sorts and pay them proportionately much more than the executives of this backward continent.

Here, having arranged to take the hard-working man's money away from him as soon as he reaches the point of security, we have to invent the new spur of snob-appeal.

WE tell the promising youth not to worry about the money so long as he can hope for the social distinction of an executive position, which only means that he must work harder than others, buy goods, on the installment plan, beyond his means, exert some little authority over his fellows and die with a big mortgage on his house.

In the name of equality we are building a tight new class structure whose seal and cachet is the income tax bracket, whose throne is the swivel chair, whose final reward is the ulcer.

A friend of mine, Bill White, of The New York Times, in Washington, wrote a magnificent book recently on the American Senate and digressed for a moment to consider, with one of the ablest minds of our time, the true state of American society.

HE described it as a series of conformities, based on income. The members of each group, he said, conformed to the mores of the group, bought the same kind of houses, cars, television sets and other bare necessities of life but always strove to rise into the group just above them.

Once arrived there, the new member immediately conformed to the habits of the group — not only in the physical aspects of life but in thought.

In such a neatly-stratified and well-ordered system a Gallup pollster need only question a handful of people in the various strata to know at once what the whole nation is thinking. Nearly everybody thinks with his economic group. This saddens a democrat and individualist like my friend, Mr. White. It would delight Karl Marx, who always held that economic interest determines everything.

School Days---And a Principle in Practice

THERE was one very best period in the school day and that was when teacher would read stories. I do not mean the strange and often apocryphal offerings from our early school readers. I mean real stories out of books. I forget now which teacher it was that read us the singularly moving story of "Black Beauty", but I think it was Miss Brown—that is Miss Ethel Luxton Brown of the Spring Ridge School. But I will never forget the terrific impact of the story on the whole class. We thrilled to the passages when Black Beauty was in the hands of loving and understanding owners; we suffered when the horse fell on evil days and our indignation almost choked us when cruel and harsh masters brutally used the aging animal.

Sivertz

No doubt the story is not read widely by, or to, children today as there is so much to compete with reading but it is a great pity. The influence of this wonderful tale was incalculable in fostering a love of animals in thousands of children.

Some time later we had progressed in our reluctant pursuit of knowledge to the old red brick monstrosity that stood at the top of Yates Street hill—the Boys' Central School. We were rather timorous in entering this austere building after spending the first four school years in the cottage atmosphere of the wooden Spring Ridge School.

New Friends

But in a short time and at the cost of one or two bloody noses, we became integrated in the life of the old school and found new friends in teachers and pupils. And best of all we were introduced to the writings of Ernest Thompson Seton, which was, of course the pen name of the famed English naturalist Seton Thompson. I remember that this rather troubled me for quite a while.

The teacher who introduced us to Seton's stories of wildlife was Mr. Henry F. Pullen, a fine, kindly man and a great lover of all the animal world and, for that matter all things out of doors, flora as well as fauna.

Easiest Way

It wasn't very long before our class discovered that Mr. Pullen was perhaps a little unorthodox in his teaching methods and wasn't irretrievably wedded to a hard and fast curriculum. And we soon learned that the easiest way to dodge a dull hour of arithmetic was to clamor for a story.

Mr. Pullen was always delighted to agree and once started he became so absorbed in his story that the passage of time meant nothing and he was always startled at the clangor of the closing bell.

Thus we entered the world of Lobo the Wolf, of coyotes, pumas, and all sorts of wild animals and we would sit in rapt silence as our sponge-like minds were filled with the domestic affairs of denizens of the woods.

When these stories were exhausted there was Fenimore Cooper's "The Deerslayer"—whose silent creeping through the woods we tried so hard to emulate but decided that no Indian or deerslayer could tread silently through our thick coastal forests choked as they are with crackling undergrowth.

World of Books

At any rate Mr. Pullen introduced us to a new and enthralling world, the world of books, and it may well be that many of us entered that enchanting world never to leave it.

There was a sequel to the Black Beauty story that directly affected three of us as we loped homeward down Camosun and skirted the crumbling edge of the huge sandpits on what is now the site of Victoria's high school. Our trio I believe consisted of Wallie Behnsen, Billie Malcolm and myself.

As we raced around the sandpit's rim we were horrified to see a fine team of horses vainly trying to pull a mired load of damp sand while the stupid driver lashed them with a raw-hide whip.

Rock Barrage

With the telepathy of small boys we knew at once what each was thinking and in a moment a well-aimed barrage of rocks poured down at the wicked man. He soon left off beating the horses and tried to catch us—which was absurd as he soon bogged down in the soggy bottom while we nimbly danced around him.

Whether the poor team succeeded in pulling the wagon clear of the sand I don't know, for we raced for home and safety filled with a glow of virtue at having frustrated (and hurt) a cruel man. But I fear it was not of much help to the horses.

Opinion On Wenner-Gren

Where the Money Comes From

I do not see how the people of B.C. can endorse the view that it is of no importance where the money comes from in the case involved.

There is a significance to Wenner-Gren's ready acceptance by a movement which can see no fault in his past actions and his present ambitions.

We should feel none too secure with W. Gren interests at large in our northland.

An easy deal here or there and a dark and terrible deed is born from which B.C., Canada, the U.S.A. and perhaps the wide world would not recover in a hundred years. If we do nothing else we would do well to make such a clamour and outcry as will deliver us from this evil thing, even at the cost of not getting at the hidden wealth for a score of years. The free press in this can do a service the magnitude of which will never be measured save by the yardstick of history.

To me Mr. Bennett has been cast in the role of Faust, so greedy is he to obtain all and he has deluded himself, as he would us, that the devil won't come knocking at his door demanding his price.

BENN ADAM.

Rhyme or Reason

Will you kindly allow me to congratulate Mrs. Noggins on the Monorail.

I note in the Times paper today,
We are trying to give part of B.C. away,
To Wenner-Gren interests, so they say,
With Gunderson's advice to make some dough;
For Social Credit to put on a show;
Says Bonner to Bennett, we had better go slow;
And see if the People will approve;
Of such a Social Credit financial move;
Says Bennett to Bonner, I'll have you know;
That I am the one who is running this show;
So, Bennett did not stop to think twice,
But proceeded at once with Gunderson's advice,
Decided to pull off a financial deal;
And sell part of the province to foreign control;
As it's too big for Social Credit to run as a whole.

DENNIS H. CHIVERS.

'Loaded'

The "Gallup Poll" has discovered over the years that the manner in which a question to the public is phrased very largely governs the answers received. The questions asked in your issue of Feb. 19 about the Axel Wenner-Gren interests and the public viewpoint, are loaded questions in every sense of the word. They remind me of the man who guaranteed to give a simple yes or no answer to any question he was asked. His interrogator then asked "have you stopped beating your wife?"

The North American continent was developed by private interests who raised their own capital, made their own decisions and have finally made it possible for 184 million people to enjoy the highest standard of living on earth. The growing trend of showering abuse on those who built our society and are still the authors of our present prosperity will, in due course, bring its own punishment.

British Columbia is in little danger from any of the companies which enter the province. Half the profits made by large scale business are taken in taxes at present. The civil power is in complete command of the situation.

Our real troubles will come when the keen, energetic, thrusting individuals who are the governing element in the field of economics are strangled by red tape and taxes as they now are in Britain.

CARL FALLAS.

'My Sentiments'

Your editorial in Tuesday's issue of the Times "This Is No Answer" surely hits the spot and just about expresses my own sentiments to a "T."

I consider Mr. Bennett's deal with this Wenner-Gren and his associates a great blunder that should be called off in the best interests of the people of this province. Surely there are many good and capable companies right here in Canada to open up the B.C. northland and develop its resources if given the opportunity to do so.

OLD BILL.

Wholly in Accord

I wish to commend you on the stand you have taken on the Wenner-Gren deal that is being promoted by our bombastic Premier, and I am wondering, when his tenure of office is completed, if those veterans and pioneers who returned him to power won't find a "smear" on their conscience for sending him back to sell out the province as he evidently intends to do.

Speaking as a veteran of two World wars, 1914-1919, 1939-1945, I fail to see why Mr. Bennett should try to sell a tenth of our Province to a company controlled by Wenner-Gren. When I say a tenth of our Province the potentialities of that part of B.C. should be infinitely greater than a tenth of our total provincial resources. This is a pretence, that Wenner-Gren investments will be only a drop in the bucket.

BILL HALSEY.
1727 King's Road.

Equal Area

Rapidly growing world population will increase the value of undeveloped areas in the Province of British Columbia, when same contain rich natural resources, the potential value will be doubly enhanced.

It is interesting to note, that the forty thousand square miles Mr. Bennett proposes to hand over to foreign interests and his "high priest" Mr. Gunderson is approximately equal in area to the following European countries, viz: Switzerland, Denmark and Belgium.

The people of British Columbia have an interest in this, worth preserving for Canadians, and should not hesitate to voice a vigorous protest.

BEFORE THE JUDGE

Noble and Masterly

THE modesty of this column, so admired of its many readers, has just been destroyed by one of those discerning persons. Mr. Atkins has sent it a photograph of a bust of itself which is (I can use no other adjective), justly described in the caption as "noble and masterly." How true, how true. And how gratifying to know that this column's light has penetrated the bushel under which it has so long been hid.

What price modesty now? Noble and masterly! Ha!

A wineskin of the best to Mr. Atkins, and a shot of Greek fire to all who disagree with him, if indeed any such miserable souls exist.

But modesty, or at any rate caution, must still play a part if this column is to carry out its assignment without fear of condign reprisal. Making comments about the goings on in the Courts is like walking a tightrope with a noose about one's neck; above looms the gibbet of libel and below seethes the caldron of contempt. Even the most noble and masterly must walk delicately, and wield the two-edged phrase with prudence and discretion.

* * *

Thus it is that in a spirit of caution, prudence, discretion and as well with the greatest possible respect (but also, so far as the context admits, in a noble and masterly manner), I venture to say a word or two about the august tribunal which broods Olympian over all our comings and goings, the Court of Appeal.

This court is the place where a long cool second look can be taken; and a divorce appeal in which it gave judgment last week illustrates its function very clearly. Freed from the intolerable difficulties under which a trial judge labors in these cases, it came to a different conclusion than that of the Court below, and the divorce went through.

Concerned only with the law, the Court of Appeal has its being in what a learned and somewhat cynical professor called "the heaven of juristic concepts." Their minds uncluttered with thoughts on the behavior of witnesses, their view unimpeded by the mechanics of proof, the judges move with calmness and deliberation in a rarified atmosphere of logic and reason; at least, so far as the law will permit them they do.

In divorce law, of course, there is little logic and no reason at all. But at least the Court is spared the ritual ballet which takes place before the weary eye of the trial judge. The proceedings are all there verbatim; and the only thing the Court of Appeal has to do is consider the Matrimonial Causes Act without bursting forth into yells of hysterical laughter.

This it is well equipped to do, for its judges are all highly experienced on the Bench and can keep a straight face under almost any circumstances.

* * *

It has been said that one is as likely to find a whistling bishop as a snickering judge. As the former appears to lose the power upon his consecration, so the latter assumes an impregnable gravity upon his elevation. It would be a dreadful misfortune were it otherwise; for while justice would still be done, nobody would think so, and the whole foundation of civilization would fall apart in a welter of doubt and confusion.

Judges, however, occasionally permit themselves a certain relaxing of the facial muscles when sitting. Hopeful counsel regard this gesture as a benign smile, while others incline to the view that it is a ghastly grin. The Court House Seagull (whose experience is very great) is of the opinion that both these views are unsound. He feels the phenomenon is no more than a change of position, or at most an indication to counsel that His Lordship is awake and listening.

But we are wandering into a promising field of inquiry more suitable to a monograph than the profane pages of the Press. Let us, therefore, tiptoe quietly out and leave the judges to their Homeric laughter in the soundproof privacy of their chambers.

Britain, France Learn Fast

NEW YORK—Britain and France, having done one of the world's worst jobs of international public relations in connection with their armed intervention in Egypt last November, have shown in the last two weeks what a good job they can do when they put their minds to it.

Lynch

In the Egyptian business they made virtually no effort to condition world public opinion for the action they planned to take. They did not even inform their best friends. The result was that when they acted the reaction among friend and foe alike was one of shock, so much so that opinion as expressed in the General Assembly was overwhelmingly against them.

That they learned a lesson in the value of public relations, or call it propaganda if you like, is clear from the way they have handled two questions that have come before the General Assembly in February—Algeria and Cyprus.

Long before these questions were due to come up for debate, opposition forces began a propaganda barrage—the Arabs against France on Algeria, and the Greeks and the Cypriot terrorists against Britain on Cyprus.

Both Britain and France took up the paper challenge and proceeded to set their own presses and mimeograph machines whirring. The result was that all sides of the issues had been well ventilated in print by the time the items came up on the General Assembly's agenda—in the battle of words the British and French case was put forcefully, without apology, and with a great deal of logic.

DELEGATES SWAYED

France sent her foreign minister, M. Christian Pineau, to the United Nations to voice her stand on Algeria. His definitive speech on the subject before the political committee was one of the most forceful ever made at the United Nations by a representative of a major nation. He dealt with Arab charges chapter and verse, and took the offensive by charging the Arab states with fomenting strife in Algeria, and thereby making any settlement more difficult.

A great many delegates were swayed by the French case, and by the vigor with which it was put forward. As a result of these bold tactics, as much as anything else, France saw the Algerian debate end with a resolution so moderate that even she herself voted for it, although she was opposed to any outside interference in Algeria.

Britain has been following similar tactics in the Cyprus debate, and it has been a revelation to see her delegation operate. Not content to stand unflinching in the face of the blows Greece was bringing to bear upon her, she launched a counter-offensive of her own, and documented it to the hilt. The basis of her charge was that Greece was aiding and abetting the terrorists in Cyprus, and by so doing was interfering in the affairs of another state, and making the task of settlement virtually impossible.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—An active Pacific storm approaching from the southwest brought extensive snow to the southern and central B.C. interior and rain or freezing rain to the south coast this morning. A strong outflow of cold air persists in north coastal areas. Precipitation will become showery tonight behind the disturbance as it moves inland. Temperatures will be a little higher Sunday but will remain somewhat below normal in most areas.

Bank Robber Won't Squeal On 'Third Man'

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A man serving 20 years for bank robbery refused repeatedly Friday to identify "the third man" in the $8,000 holdup.

Carl Fundytus, 26-year-old truck driver, was brought from penitentiary to testify at the trial of David Auld; 24, charged as being one of three men in the crime.

Wednesday, Harvey J. Lyons, 33, facing a similar charge, changed his plea to guilty and said Auld was not at the holdup scene.

Fundytus corroborated this evidence but refused to say who a third man was who drove a borrowed car away from Fundytus' house, after the car had been involved in the getaway.

Asked repeatedly by Crown prosecutor Lorne Jackson who the third man was, Fundytus burst out: "I have 20 years to serve in the penitentiary. I can't answer that question."

He added that answering would put him in an embarrassing position.

Fundytus took the stand after Mr. Justice T. W. Brown ruled that Auld's trial would proceed despite failure of authorities to locate $2,243 of the $8,230 marked as evidence. Mr. Justice Brown said he would accept secondary evidence that the money had been entered as evidence.

JAILED FOUR MONTHS

KAMLOOPS—Roland Swaine, 23, was sentenced to four months in jail Friday when found guilty of indecently assaulting a small girl.

WRONG MAN

VERNON—Ald. Arthur Jackson of Kelowna has been elected vice-president of the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association. The Canadian Press erroneously reported Thursday night Mayor J. T. Ladd of Kelowna as vice-president.

TV OPENING APRIL 1

KAMLOOPS—April 1 is the target date for the local television station to be "on air," Ian G. Clark, president of Twin Cities Television Ltd., said Friday.

Doctor Raps Martin On Hospital Freeze

NANAIMO—Policy of Health Minister Eric Martin in letting 1952 hospital cost figures apply today was criticized sharply Thursday night by Dr. G. R. Blott, former chief of the medical staff of Nanaimo General Hospital.

"We get no government help for any increase in staff we have at Nanaimo Hospital, over and above the staff employed in 1952," he said at a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting.

He said "the people in Victoria" had decided the city needed a 200-bed hospital by 1961.

"But we need that now," he said, "and by the time we get it built, we will need another 200 beds."

"Whose money is the minister doling out with such munificence and kindness?" he asked. "It's our money, from the sales tax we pay."

3RD WARNING TO SCHOOL BY FIRE CHIEF

DUNCAN — North Cowichan volunteer fire chief F. P. Clackson has sent his third notice to Cowichan District 65 School Board that fire protection at Cowichan High School is inadequate.

He suggests installation of additional water mains and fire hydrants, saying that at present it would be impossible to protect the east end of the school, containing the auditorium, in case of fire.

Police to Shoot Sheep-Killing Dogs

SOOKE — Slaughter of at least a dozen sheep in the East Sooke district has brought a warning from Const. Don Knight, RCMP, that any dogs found roaming at large in areas where sheep are pastured will be shot on sight.

H. E. Thornett found several sheep mangled after dogs were heard in the vicinity, and dog tracks were seen. It is believed two dogs are responsible.

$350 LOSS

A ram, ewes and lambs were killed in the first attack, and four days ago a ewe and two lambs were found dead, and two ewes were reported missing. Mr. Thornett estimated his loss in the two attacks at $350.

If the dogs are not found, it is understood the provincial government will pay the owner a percentage of his loss.

Const. Knight spent one night on watch at the Thornett farm, from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m., but did not see the predators.

Courtenay to Conduct Own Sale of Bonds

COURTENAY — City council will sell $144,000 in bonds for sidewalks, drainage, swimming pool, and recreation hall improvement by-laws "over the counter."

City decided to conduct its own bond sale when it learned prices offered by bond houses were "not encouraging."

Five-Fold Expansion Noted In Chemainus Credit Union

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus and District Credit Union membership has grown from 81 in 1948 to 446 in 1956, and its assets from $5,450 to $282,417, chairman George Beaubier said at the annual meeting.

The meeting endorsed the board's recommendation that a dividend of 3½ per cent be paid on share accounts at Dec. 31, 1956, totalling $5,380; that a 20 per cent patronage refund be paid on all interest paid by members, totalling $3,645; that 20 per cent of the surplus be placed in the reserve account; that any remaining funds be held as undivided surplus and be used for the educational fund.

The credit committee reported that during the year 278 loans totalling $115,565 and seven endowment loans totalling $6,600 had been made. In the nine years the credit union has been in operation there have been only $70 in bad debts.

Officers elected were: Supervisory committee, three-year term, A. Brown; credit committee, three-year term, O. M. Samuelson and Wes Paisley; directors, three-year terms, Mrs. F. A. Albee, E. Eggen, Miss M. Clayton; one-year term, H. G. Morris.

Bursting Seams

PARKSVILLE - QUALICUM BEACH PROGRESS — RCMP headquarters office in Parksville is literally bursting at the seams. It has simply outgrown its usefulness, and the need for larger quarters is steadily becoming more noticeable. With the population of the village and the surrounding area increasing steadily, the need for action on this matter should be apparent to all RCMP administrative officials.

Raise Fines? No

COURTENAY ARGUS—An interest on the part of the provincial government in seeing traffic fines increased is indicated in the address of Socred initiate, Mrs. Buda Brown, in seconding our local MLA's reply to the Speech from the Throne. We do not like the idea at all.

To those blessed with fat bank accounts or motivated by a devil-may-care attitude toward money, a fine may be only a petty annoyance. To others in lesser circumstances, even a moderate fine may economically stun a family for months.

As far as possible, economic circumstances should not be permitted to add to or detract from the principle of equality of status and punishment before the law.

Useful Services

COWICHAN LEADER — Communities would be much poorer without their service clubs. In the field of education, where the average taxpayer often feels sufficient is being spent, two local service clubs are attempting to lend their assistance.

Rotarians this week adopted a plan for a student-loan fund. By means of it deserving students in their two final years of university courses will receive financial help large enough to be of real assistance. The loans will be repayable by installments upon graduation.

The second educational advance prompted by a service club is the Kinsmen's class in speech therapy, for children with special speech problems. The public can thank the Kinsmen Club for stepping in to fill a need not generally recognized but nevertheless real.

(BB Plus) "THREE BRAVE MEN" (Odeon)—20th Century-Fox's well-acted "Three Brave Men" makes for capital entertainment. But as the Great Red Hunt and suspicions of possible Communists in our midst is not so great as in the U.S. the plot appears overdone and thereby fails to arouse the sympathy it might elsewhere.

Ernest ("Marty") Borgnine is starred as a man who has worked for the U.S. Navy Department for more than 20 years. The father of four children and an outspokenly loyal American, he is shocked when he is suspended "for security reasons."

Early in his working life Borgnine attended some meetings sponsored by Commie-run organizations thinking they were something else entirely. Also, quite unwittingly, he subscribed for a while to a Red-sponsored newspaper. Personal enemies branded him as a "radical" during his community housing project.

All small things to be sure, but when U.S. department investigators add them up they mean that Borgnine is a poor security risk and they suspend him and then, eventually, fire him.

★ ★ ★

AT FIRST the heart-broken man coaxes his wife Virginia Christine to pack up the family and run away with him to another city where they can start out all over again. But he is persuaded by pastor Andrew Duggan to remain and fight it out. He secures the services of sympathetic lawyer Ray Milland who takes the case before a navy board. Eventually they persuade the board of Borgnine's innocence but the findings are overruled by the assistant secretary to the navy. Now the fight has to start out all over again.

The moral of the whole is that it is unjust for man to cast suspicions upon his fellow man. Or, to an outsider, "Three Brave Men" has an air of apology to Americans who might have been inadvertently harmed by the nation's witch-hunt. Actually the play is based on a true incident.

All perform capably. Borgnine is especially believable as the man so hurt he finds it difficult to fight back. More than that, it is good to see last year's Academy Award winner continuing to perform so nobly in so many films. He must be considered to be the exception to the rule that Oscars can mean the end or easing off of a promising career.

Milland as the lawyer also performs creditably as does Nina Foch as a WAVE officer and lawyer, Frank Faylen as the hostile postman, Frank Lovejoy as head of the hearing board and the youngsters who play the accused's two oldest children, Warren Berlinger and Diane Jergens.

DANCING BASQUES IN A COLORFUL WHIRL

A day in the bustling life of a Basque fishing village, climaxed by the evening's festivities is portrayed in "Fishing Village," danced by the Basque Ballet of Biarritz. Famous Artists bring the troupe to Victoria Monday, March 4. The program is complete with songs and instrumental numbers.

DAUGHTER OF GREAT TRADITION

Shaw Praised Her Saint Joan; Inherited Role From Mother

Ann Casson, the English-Canadian actress who will star with the Canadian Players of Stratford on their current cross-country tour, has a great tradition behind her and has proved a worthy inheritor of it.

Her mother was the famed British actress, Dame Sybil Thorndyke.

Ann Casson's partnership with her husband, Douglas Campbell, started when they were both working under Tyrone Guthrie at the Old Vic.

The blue-eyed, golden-haired actress also inherited the role of Saint Joan from her mother for whom it was originally written by George Bernard Shaw. Ann's interpretation, during the two-year run of the play in Great Britain and the Continent, brought rave notices and a letter from Shaw himself, which said:

"You are in exactly the right humor for it; for Joan is a volcano of energy from beginning to end, and never the snivelling Cinderella, born to be burnt, that all the others — except the first — (Sybil Thorndye) made her. So go ahead with my blessing, and be sure not to wear yourself out before you begin. Not that you could, even if you tried; but still, keep a bit always in reserve."

ANN CASSON

When the Canadian Players come to Victoria for two nights at the Royal Theatre, March 12 and 13, Miss Casson will play the lead in Shaw's "Man and Superman."

Year's Work Abroad Ruined in Transit

TORONTO (CP) — With almost fatalistic moderation, William Koochin said:

"It was not a loss in the sense that the experience of building them was valuable. That was one satisfaction. As finished articles, there was a little bit of a loss."

Koochin, 29 - year - old sculptor from Brilliant, in the heart of the Doukhobor country in Eastern British Columbia, had just returned to Canada after 13 months study and work in Europe.

On arrival in New York he learned that a metal trunk containing seven terra cotta heads and figures he was bringing home had been smashed in transit.

Apart from a few figures he presented to friends before he sailed, they represented his year's work. From what he could see in the customs shed at New York, all but one or two were damaged beyond repair.

"Either the trunk was dropped or something was dropped on it," he said. "The whole side was crushed in."

Koochin gave up a job in the design department of the CBC television studio in Vancouver to go overseas in December, 1955. He studied and worked in Paris for four months, then travelled through Europe until last September when he returned to Paris.

In the French capital he worked for a time in the factory and studios of the centuries-old Manufacture de Sevres, a government-operated concern that produces fine porcelain, china, enamel ware and ceramics.

Koochin said he found his year overseas of tremendous value, not only because of his studies but because of art exhibits and museums he visited and the exchange of ideas with other artists. He was told that in Paris alone 40,000 artists are working and studying, among them many Canadians.

The young Westerner, once described by curator Jerry Morris of the Vancouver Art Gallery as a sculptor of "rare individual promise," found that Canadian art ranks favorably with what he saw overseas.

"Canadian artists," he said, "have learned and can learn much from Europeans, but the quality of Canadian painting and sculpture is quite comparable with what is being done in Paris."

Partnership

NEW YORK (UP)—Yul Brynner and producer-director Anatole Litvak have announced formation of a company in which they will be partners for the production of two motion pictures to be made in Europe in 1957 and 1958.

Brynner and Litvak initially worked together for 20th Century-Fox's most successful "Anastasia," current recipient of many awards.

Brynner and Litvak met early in January in Europe to scout locations for one of the projected properties they plan to make there this summer. A formal announcement of the properties and a distribution deal will be made soon.

Toscanini Throne For Otto Kemplerer?

By HUMPHRY DAVY.

If you can visualize a man over six feet tall, but looking more like eight, who resembles a giant "Thunderbird" when he bends towards his orchestra, then you have a picture of Otto Kemplerer, one of Europe's most brilliant conductors.

Davy

Perhaps unjustifiably, this German-born conductor of dark complexion with sensitive features, was overshadowed by Arturo Toscanini who died this month. It is only now he is coming to his own as one of the greatest interpreters of classical music.

Kemplerer's skill as a conductor dawned on this continent last year when he started to perform for Angel a series of Beethoven's symphonies. Everyone of his performances so far has been excellent. His recording of the Eroica Symphony was selected by leading U.S. newspapers as one of the best records of 1956.

★ ★ ★

The conductor's latest recording is Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 (Angel 35730), which lives up to expectation. We predict this is another winning record. The performance is superb and it certainly establishes him as a great interpreter of Beethoven.

Kemplerer, by the way, conducted the Los Angeles Philharmonic during the Second World War. In his 71st year, he now frequently conducts in England and other European capitals.

In his own country, he is known as the man who introduced rare and new works to the German people, prior to the political upheaval of the thirties.

On the record shelf this month, there is another excellent disc worth listening to — Beethoven's sonata No. 17 "Tempest," and No. 18, performed by Walter Gieseking, pianist, (Angels). The performances are fine examples of the French pianist's calm and exquisite playing.

Gieseking died suddenly while in London last year. It was his plan to record all of Beethoven's piano works. He had completed 23 before his death.

Music Festival Syllabus Notes

One month from today—March 23—is the closing date for entries in the Greater Victoria Music Festival. Late spring dates of this year's festival, May 8 to 10 and 13 to 15, will it is expected, result in a big entry.

Attention of potential piano candidates is drawn to three corrections in the festival syllabus.

In Class 100, Piano, 15 years and under, the complete two movements of Beethoven's Sonata Op. 49, No. 2, is to be performed instead of "first movement only."

Performers' Class 102, any Beethoven Sonata, exceptions to include Op. 27, No. 2, first movement.

Piano Duet class 114 is now to read "David and Goliath," Victor Babin—(any three).

Copies of the official syllabus and entry forms may be obtained from the recording secretary, Mrs. Doris Hopkins, Box 308, Victoria, or from local music stores.

AUSTRALIAN TV

Australia had six television stations operating early in 1957, including two national, non-commercial, stations.

St. David's Day Concert Is Planned

In commemoration of St. David's Day, March 1, the Victoria Cymrodorion Society will hold a banquet and concert, Friday night in the Tartan Room of McEwen's Restaurant.

Chairman of the program will be David Evans. A travelogue presented by Archie Gibbs, MLA, will be a highlight of the evening.

Assisting artists will be Miss Colleen Erb, contralto; Mrs. E. Paul, soprano; Frank Martin, W. M. Paterson, Walter Pym, vocal solos; Florence Phillimore, piano solo; Geoff Venables, violin.

Community singing will also be included in the program.

BOOK TALK By JAMES SCOTT

Delightful Canadian Twins Join Famed Juvenile Parade

A bit of good reading for all the family this week with some new titles and starting, of course, with the most important members of the family, the children.

When I was a boy I remember going through the long list of the "Twins" books as quickly as I could. Even then I wondered why there were no Canadian Twins. There were Dutch Twins and Japanese Twins and Scotch (sic) Twins and Filipino Twins and Turkish Twins, but no one apparently had ever heard of Canada in those days before Leduc, Kitimat, Chalk River and Goose Bay.

James Scott

But now, along with the world's recognition, comes a closing of the gap and a very brilliant Canadian journalist and writer, Miss Eva-Lis Wuorio, who has written a charming story about a Canadian boy and girl, twins, from a mill town in northern B.C.

All This and Canadian, Too!

As an old expert on this series, I can report with delight that Miss Wuorio has managed to combine the basic charm which characterized all earlier books with first-rate material which is distinctively Canadian. The device she uses is to arrange for the twins to spend a summer holiday with a French-speaking family in the province of Quebec.

This, of course, entails a trip — by train so they can see the country and have plenty of stopovers—across Canada.

They meet mounties, see Banff, the prairies, Winnipeg, northern Ontario, Toronto and Montreal and a side excursion through the Thousand Islands, and thence to Quebec City, taking in the nation's capital on the swing home.

Altogether, this is a perfectly charming jaunt and I came away from the reading of it thinking I must see that my own ten-year-old daughter takes the same tour. Meanwhile, she has just taken it to bed with her to read about it for herself. This constitutes my highest recommendation.

SEVERAL THEMES

For male readers in the household, I would suggest a very new novel called The Last Angry Man by Gerald Green. This is a big, solid book with several themes running parallel throughout its somewhat long course. It is about a man fighting for his existence in the high-pressure world of advertising hucksters (a pretty common plot for this decade but this one has a new twist).

It is also about another "man in white," but this time his coat is somewhat soiled by a lifetime in a sordid Brooklyn slum.

This is the angry man of the title, and he provides the material for one of the most versatile characterizations I have read in some time. And finally, this is about the slums and the delinquency and the squalor and the shame which seem to have become an inevitable by-product of the American way of life.

COST OF GREATNESS

As I read this powerful story — and it is both engrossing and tough — I found it confirming over and over again the pattern of U.S. development which has become so familiar to readers ever since the first shockers of Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser. The cost of U.S. greatness has been very high, and seems to have left in its wake some of the saddest blotches of human degradation to be found anywhere in the world.

Canada, today, is embarking on what more and more appears to be a cycle of expansion very like that of the country to the south. As I laid down The Last Angry Man I couldn't help shuddering lest our leap to prestige and prosperity should leave a similar train of broken men and shattered illusions in its wake. Enough to make any man stop for a moment to consider just where we are going in this country and how.

VICTORIAN SENTIMENT

Finally, I turned to The Birth of Rowland, an exchange of letters between Robert Lytton (son of the great novelist, Bulwer) and his wife, Edith, while she was away from him for four months during the last half of her first confinement. These are redolent of the charm and romance of the plushy Victorians and they affirm a sentiment and a tenderness which the Victorian debunkers have almost made us forget.

Sure, they are pretty frothy and maybe not entirely sincere, but they are a nice antidote to today's ulcers. All ladies should love them.

Humanity Served As Fighter-Parson

Reviewed by Donald G. Ingham
BATTLE HYMN, by Dean E. Hess, McGraw-Hill Company, Toronto; 246 pages; $4.75.

The United States Air Force must be exceedingly proud of having as an officer Col. Dean E. Hess, one of the most thoroughly brilliant and human persons ever to write an autobiography in recent years.

Born almost 40 years ago in Marietta, Ohio, to a family in the strict and fundamentalist Christian Church, he grew up with two interests — to be a clergyman and to fly.

He realized both, and in 1941 found himself in the happy position of flying a rented plane each Sunday to serve three widely-separated congregations, and supporting himself with a job as boiler foreman for Republic Steel in Cleveland.

Then came Pearl Harbor, and his realization that he could not ask his congregation to do battle, or send their sons out to fight and die, if he was not prepared to go himself, not as a chaplain but as a combatant.

TO KOREA

He joined a Thunderbolt fighter squadron, fought in France, was discharged, studied for his doctorate, came to know his wife and children, and in 1948 was recalled to duty. In 1950 he was sent to Korea.

There, to tell his story briefly, he set up the South Korean Air Force in the face of overwhelming difficulties; became the patron saint of Korean orphans, established himself as "Korea's biggest bootlegger" to raise money for his orphans, and displayed the qualities leading to his high rank and the love given him by South Koreans.

Just how Col. Hess reconciled himself to his duty as a fighter pilot, who flew 300 missions and was decorated many times over, was not easy.

"I had worked out to my satisfaction, lying awake nights and sweating it out, that I was doing the right thing.

"Many men came back feeling guilty from missions . . . To me it was a job that had to be done. Having made the adjustment, I stuck doggedly to it, which in time gave me a reputation for coldness."

He is still in the USAF, having decided that "opposing communism or any other kind of totalitarianism must be the full-time job of at least a few Americans, and . . . I have been well prepared for the task."

He never stopped being a minister at heart, although he was a full-fledged fighting man. He gave services, he gave counsel, and gave his time and energies to the full to anyone needing them.

Col. Hess is a grand person to meet through the medium of his book. Those who know him personally must consider themselves fortunate.

Ancient Byzantium, called Constantinople by the Roman and Istanbul by the moderns, sits astride two continents, a bridge between East and West. It was the centre of the Roman Empire of the East from A.D. 330 until 1453, when the Turks seized control.

THE STAMP CORNER

By REG NAIRNE

Speculation as to the layout of the sheets of the "Recreations" set to be issued March 7 has now been set at rest by a diagram furnished by Ottawa. It appears that the panes of fifty will be composed of five blocks of four different stamps at each side of the sheet (accounting for forty stamps) while the middle vertical row of ten will be made up of a strip of the four different designs, followed by two different and then again four different.

★ ★ ★

The upper left and lower left panes will be identical. The two right hand panes will also be similar except that the two middle stamps (Nos. 23 and 28 in the pane) will show the "Skiing" and "Hunting," whereas the same positions in the left hand panes will be taken by "Fishing" and "Swimming" stamps.

Thus the four panes making up the printers sheet of two hundred stamps will show equal numbers of each of the four designs. It's just a little complicated, owing to the fact that four into fifty "won't go." Two plates are to be used in printing this issue, by the way.

As to the stamps themselves, as shown in the advance illustrations furnished by the P.O. Department — perhaps it is better not to say too much. They are not up to the Eskimo, the Whooping Cranes or the I.C.A.O. stamps by a long way.

The skiier seems to be stuck in the mud rather than flying through space. The four subjects have been handled by other countries in a much more lively and artistic manner.

★ ★ ★

There was talk some time ago that postage due stamps might be discontinued, but a new denomination, a 6c, has been added to the current set instead.

The 20c green with the "G" overprint is now showing up on official mail, and the 1c in the 1954 design is also in use.

The 3c, 6c, 15c and 25c will not be overprinted, so the series is now complete.

TENSE DRAMA OF OLD SALEM AT COLLEGE

A tragedy of Puritan bigotry and superstition is the vehicle for Victoria College Players' Clubs spring production, an arena style presentation which will play five nights in the Ewing Building, Feb. 26 to March 2. In this scene from "The Crucible," John Proctor (John Ashworth) admonishes a neighbor girl, Mercy Lewis (Sharon Plows), while his wife, Elizabeth (Barbara Geddes), works primly at her spinning wheel.

King Solomon didn't have a cent to his name, although he was the wealthiest man of his time. During his reign, in the 10th century B.C., coined money had not appeared in Palestine, the National Geographic Society says.

A Tragedy Of Pioneers In Manitoba

Reviewed by Gerry Calhoun
PINE ROOTS, by Gladys Taylor. Ryerson Press, Toronto, 1956. 238 pp. $3.75.

This novel is the winner of the Ryerson Press All-Canada Fiction Award. The locality of the story is Swan River Valley, Man., where the author herself was born, and where she returned to teach in due course.

It is a story of pioneers who came into the valley at the turn of the century when settlers were few and life rough and hard.

The country where Harry and Mary settled was well-wooded with small, gnarled pines and willows. But Mary hated trees, and the phobia never left her. In her mind, all her troubles were brought by the trees. Tragedy did, indeed, come to the family, but eventually Mary, a grandmother, learned to live with what she hated, though nearly destroying herself in the process.

Minor characters as well as the principals are well drawn. Gladys Taylor has the happy knack of the right choice of words both in her characterizations and in geographical description.

An interesting and entertaining book.

INDIAN FILM ADVISER

Iron Eyes Cody is known in Hollywood as the dean of Indian technical advisers. He's a Cherokee and has been a film adviser since 1929. Cody's basement is called "Moosehead Museum" where he has one of the finest private collections of Indian artifacts in the nation. His latest work was for Walt Disney's "Westward Ho the Wagons!" However, his duties were somewhat different in this film. He was not only consultant on technical points but also put on costumes to play Many Stars, a Sioux medicine man.

Oak Bay High Plans A Variety Revue

Two plays, a comedy and a drama, a scene in French dialogue, folk dancing, choral singing, band music and gymnastic turns will make up a lively program to be produced Thursday and Friday, by staff and students of Oak Bay Senior High School at Oak Bay Junior High School.

One of the most unusual numbers will be a French market scene, directed by Miss K. Youdall. This will be complete with authentic Breton folk dances, performed under instruction of E. J. Costain.

The choir will sing French songs, there will be four separate dialogues in French and an appearance by Denis Cullimore and his chimpanzee.

A revival of the art of Indian club swinging and an exhibition of tumbling will also be seen. Plays will be a one-act comedy, "Great Expectations," directed by D. Oliver and an act from a Spanish play classic, "Cradle Song," with Miss Youdall directing.

Mr. Eames will direct the band in a short introductory concert. It will also play in the intermissions.

READY FOR ADOPTION:

A real, solid, good-type dog is Sport, a handsome, golden cocker with perfect manners.

Fury doesn't look a bit like his name. He's one year old, black and white, terrier cross. Very good with kids.

A friendly cocker-type is Oakie, black female, one year old.

Rare opportunity for Pekingese admirers: Chan is available. Two years, male, a grand little fellow.

Very handsome young, black and white border collie, male, one year old. Silk's the name. Nickie is a spayed female, two years, black with tiny white markings.

Mostly cocker is Blackie, who is fine with adults and other dogs, but as for kids . . . No. Black, male, cross cocker, 10 months old. Very playful, ask for Louis.

Only three months old, this black spaniel female is too young to have been named yet.

LETTER PERFECT

As an interesting arithmetical test for the stenographer, call her over to your desk and start dictating a memo as follows:

"Remind me next Tuesday to deposit twelve thousand, eleven hundred and ten dollars in the bank."

Then ask her to repeat the amount. Quickly, what's wrong?

Answer: The amount should more appropriately have been stated as fifteen thousand, one hundred and ten dollars.

SUM-FUN DIPPER PUZZLE SOLUTION AND COMMENT

Comment: Highest total, sixty-two; lowest forty. A puzzle of this type invented by William Baumgartner, requires considerable time and effort if only one solution is to be possible. When you realize that 280 different dippers are possible with only 81 numbers, many duplications must occur, and to manipulate the figures so that only one solution is possible requires painstaking work.

AMATEUR MAGIC

When the amateur magician is visiting a friend who has a cat, he announces that he possesses a marvelous power over animals and can make them do anything he orders.

"For instance, I will make the cat wash itself at my command," says the conjurer.

Then as he makes a few magic passes over the cat's head, he strokes the animal's fur. A moment later the audience will be surprised to see the cat start to wash itself.

The secret of this trick consists of rubbing a little butter on the palm of the hand. When the magician strokes the cat the butter is transferred to the animal's fur and the cat then proceeds to "wash" itself by licking off the butter thusly applied.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

By MILLARD HOPPER

If you don't think appearances are deceiving in checkers, examine the board above. As things now stand, Black doesn't appear to be in any danger. But White, moving up the board, moves first and wins in four turns.

Answer: White 3-8, Black 4-11, White 16-7, Black 2-11, White 20-16, Black 11-20-27, White 32-28-30-21-14.

PYRAMID BUILDING

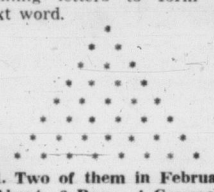
Construct a word pyramid by systematically replacing the stars in each horizontal line with a word defined below. Begin at the tip and work your way downward adding one letter and rearrange the remaining letters to form the next word.



1. Two of them in February. 2. About. 3. Rage. 4. Ceremony. 5. Belonging to them. 6. Hereward! 7. Thereward! 8. As yet.

After you've finished this one try making up a word pyramid by yourself.

Answers: 1. R, 2. Re, 3. Ire, 4. Rite, 5. Their, 6. Hither, 7. Thither, 8. Hitherto.

BROTHERS TO YOU

"How old is your brother?" a man was asked. "Two-thirds of his age is just five-twelfths of mine, and I am nine years older than he is," was the reply. Give their ages.

Answer: Twenty-four and fifteen.

You are asked to "Dip-up" nine numbers in succession in the maze above to form a dipper as shown by the shaded area. Can you find the dipper with the largest total first, then find the dipper with the lowest total?

Only one solution is possible in each case. You will have the correct solution if the difference between the two totals is twenty-two.

Dippers may be in any position, handle up or down, or right or left. For differences less than 22, more than one solution is possible, and the smaller the difference the easier the puzzle becomes. Aim to hit the top and find the two dippers with a difference of twenty-two.

Solution and word of comment are provided elsewhere in page.

ANSWER IN A MINUTE

How much time elapses in a decennial—2, 10, 200 years?

Answer: Ten years.

IT'S LETTTRING BY THE NUMBERS

My 1 2 9 are an historic symbol of Massachusetts.

My 5 6 2 7 5 are a game fish.

My 4 1 2 3 8 4 are a kind of Scotch cakes.

Translated I become a nine-letter word meaning translated. What am I?

Answers: The clue words are cod, trout, scope. The nine-letter word which is the solution is "construed."

RIDDLE ME THIS

What letter in the alphabet can travel the greatest distance?

Answer: The letter D because it goes to the end of the world.

'Regulars' Support Weekend

Basketball Delays Welk Show Till 9.30

George Gobel Hosts 'Rochester'; 'Unsinkable Mrs. Brown' Sunday

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

Other than a few reminders there is nothing outstanding in weekend TV offerings.

Lawrence Welk fans should note that their favorite musical son does not take the Channel 5 stage tonight until 9.30. Reason? The Seattle channel will carry the basketball game between Washington Huskies and California Bears, starting at 8.

The all-Canadian historical adventure series, "Radisson," offers episode three tonight at 7 on Channels 2 and 6. At the request of the governor of Three Rivers the great 17th century figure guides a missionary through Iroquois territory in "The Feast of the Gluttons."

For those who have not taken a chance on it yet—the new hour-long musical format of the Jackie Gleason show. Tonight finds the Kramdens and the Nortons continuing with their world cruise. This time they are in Italy.

Hockey fans should note that Channel 13 will carry the play between Seattle Americans and Calgary Stampeders. Opening whistle is at 8.

TONIGHT

7.00: Channels 2, 6: The third episode of "Radisson," sees Pierre guiding a missionary through Iroquois country. When they arrive it is to discover that all the Huron converts have been slain.

Channel 5: I Search for Adventure cameras take viewers to the "Himalaya."

7.30: Channel 4: Art Linkletter allows a contestant to try to cash a $1,000 cheque—at a time when the banks are closed.

8.00: Channels 2, 6: Perry Como guests Myrna Loy and Lord Flea; Jackie Cooper and Cleo the Basset Hound.

Channel 4: In his latest offering Perry hosts the Andrews Sisters; comic Ernie Kovacs and singer Tony Bennett.

Channel 5: Basketball: University of Washington versus the California Bears.

Channels 11, 12: Jackie Gleason, Art Carney, Audrey Meadows, Joyce Randolph leap around with the June Taylor Dancers in an hour-long visit to Italy.

Channel 13: Hockey: Seattle plays Calgary.

9.00: Channel 4: Sid Caesar and all the gang whoop it up in another Commuters Skit.

9.30: Channel 5: Lawrence Welk and his merry group pay tribute to the U.S. Heart Fund campaign.

Channel 11: In the Hey, Jeannie comedy Jeannie takes a job with a cab company that employs Al as a driver. Jeannie thereupon becomes involved with a gangster.

10.00: Channel 2: Ernie Prentice and Betty Phillips in Lolly Too Dum.

Channel 4: George Gobel is greeted by Eddie Rochester Anderson.

Channels 11, 12: In the Gunsmoke drama a young woman journeys to Dodge City to marry a man only to discover that he refuses to see her and that he is destitute.

SUNDAY

11.30: Channels 11, 12: Bennett ("Try and Stope Me") Cerf, Ogden Nash and Virginia Peterson are panelists on the Last Word panel.

1.00: Channels 11, 12: Odyssey tells of "The Book of the Dead," showing how ancient Egyptians went to the underworld.

2.00: Channels 11, 12: In the Mama drama, an argument arises between Mama and her sister.

2.30: Channels 11, 12: Gerald McBoing-Boing presents the cartoons, "The Twirliger Twins Sing ABCs," and "Merry-Go-Round in the Jungle."

3.30: Channel 4: Zoo Parade shows "The Struggle for Survival."

4.00: Channel 4: Ann Sothern visits Ray Bolger in Washington Square.

4.30: Channels 2, 6: In the Lassie drama Jeff and Porky build a raft.

Channel 5: Medical Horizons deals with "Heart Conditions."

5.00: Channel 6: The locally-produced quarter-hour Biblical series, "Small Rain."

5.15: Channel 6: John Dunbar and guest are heard in "Music to Remember."

5.30: Channel 11: Telephone Time tells of "The Unsinkable Mrs. Brown." This is the fabulous story of a woman who rose from a scullery maid to become a member of Denver society. When the Titanic sank she was credited with taking charge of one of the lifeboats and bringing it and the passengers to safety.

6.00: Channel 11: The Air Power documentary tells of events leading up to the battle of Saipan in the Pacific.

7.00: Channels 11, 12: Jack Benny hosts Bob Hope which should make for a lot of laughs.

7.30: Channel 4: Joey the Clown decides he should get married so Corky can have a mother's care.

Channel 11: Jeannie Carson joins the What's My Line panel.

Channel 4: Steve Allen shows up with Arlene Dahl, Robert Ryan and Aldo Ray, also violinist Yehudi Menuhin. Little Brenda Lee will do "Walking My Baby Back Home" with Steve.

Channels 11, 12: In his latest show Ed will entertain singer Lena Horne; Doretta Morrow, Abbe Lane, Xavier Cugat and his band, and Eddie Mayehoff.

9.00: Channels 2, 6: Hugh O'Brian stars in All-Star Theatre's "Ringside Seat." The champ loses his crown to a younger fighter.

Channel 4: TV Playhouse stars Celeste Holm in "The Princess Back Home," by John Van Druten. Novelist and divorcee Maggie Travis discovers life is a mess and she hopes to be able to advise a teen-ager to be different.

Channel 5: Omnibus shows three features: The Pantomime of Jean-Louis Barrault; a live pickup from the New York Yacht Club; and high living among the wealthy in the 1900s.

IN WEDNESDAY "FESTIVAL"—Toronto concert pianist Glen Gould will be guest on Wednesday night's Chrysler Festival scheduled for Channels 2, 6 at 10. Others on the Canada-produced show include dancers Mata and Hari, comedienne Kaye Ballard and the George Shearing Quintet.

Channel 11: Donna Reed stars in GE Theatre's "Flight From Tormendero." A captain, after picking up survivors of a torpedoed ship, married a girl to a sinister looking gent. After the war he visits them to find the girl is being held captive.

9.30: Channel 11: Alfred Hitchcock stars Gladys Cooper and Steve Forrest in "The End of Indian Summer." Did the kind old widow dispose of her two husbands for their insurance money? Ummmm!

10.00: Channels 2, 6: TV Theatre offers "Dateline Budapest." A Hungarian freedom-fighter and a Canadian journalist fall in love.

Channel 4: Loretta Young stars in "Wedding Day." A young widow is about to remarry but somewhere along the way she discovers her plans have gone awry.

10.30: Channel 4: I Came to Beersheba shows the care, resettlement and education of refugees in Israel.

More Specs, Longer Shows Next Season

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—NBC-TV will showcase spectaculars on a weekly basis next season, but won't restrict them to a steady time slot. The network is reserving the right to pre-empt any regularly scheduled show twice during the coming semester.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft, ticketed for a future "Person to Person," were yanked off the show by their lawyer. Relations between CBS-TV and the Lufts are not exactly cordial, because of Miss Garland's pull-out from a spectacular a few weeks back.

ABC-TV is hot for a new Randolph Scott western series . . . Dinah Shore will wheel and deal 19 times for "The Chevy Show" next season—all of them on Sunday.

Newest term inside TV gulch for a flop special show: "A Specdracula."

General Foods has eyes for "Here Comes the Showboat," a Rory Calhoun property filmed by Screen Gems . . . Thus far, figures an NBC man, Charles Van Doren has earned $23,833 per hour on "Twenty-One."

Danny Thomas hopes to shoot his first six shows for the fall in Europe . . . The next "Project 20" that NBC-TV will beam your way is a study of the first 20 years of this century, "Age of Innocence."

Ted Mack, whose "Original Amateur Hour" on ABC-TV has featured all Israeli and all Irish shows, is planning an entire program around Guatemala.

Robert Montgomery, who is losing his own drama show on NBC next season, will produce some special shows for the network during the fall . . . Over the past seven weeks, NBC-TV's "The Price Is Right" has drawn 4,250,000 pieces of mail, a record pull.

April 1 looks like the burial date for "Good Morning," with Will Rogers, Jr., a CBS-TV early morning show. A hillbilly show will fill its pajamas.

Nan Fabray has been asked to play a lady baseball player in an upcoming "Kaiser" show, "A Man's Game." Nan already is signed for "The Original Miss Chase" on Alcoa, March 17.

"Romeo and Juliet" will be sanforized for NBC-TV. The shrink treatment will see one character, Friar Laurence, cut out of the script and used as narrator.

Claire Bloom has a busy schedule ahead of her — "Romeo and Juliet," on March 4, Alcoa's "First Love," on March 24, and a Montgomery show on April 8.

CHEK-TV Revamps Programs for Movies And Other Features

Studio One Offers 2-Hour Drama Monday; Chrysler Show Wednesday

Starting Monday, CHEK-TV will discontinue sharing Almanac with the CBC, commence broadcasting at 2.15 instead of 3.30 p.m. daily, and offer a matinee movie at 2.20 p.m. each week day.

Details of the new schedules will be found in detail on the accompanying pages.

Actually the week comings up has few highlights.

On Monday Studio One will offer something new in "The Defender." Starring Ralph Bellamy this will be a two-hour show presented in two one-hour acts, commencing at 7 on Channel 11.

A Monday night motion picture should prove interesting for veteran movie fans. At 10.45 Channel 5 will revive "Born to Dance," the 20-odd-year-old movie starring Eleanor Powell who was one of the best dancers of her day and any day.

On Wednesday at 8, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healey will take over for Arthur Godfrey on Channel 11 and 12: Godfrey is expected to be away five weeks. The redhead is bound for big game and films in French Equatorial Africa.

And the same night, on Channels 2 and 6 at 10, Elaine Grande will introduce another Chrysler Festival. Stars will include pianists Glen Gould, Maureen Forrester, dancers Mata and Hari, comedienne Kaye Ballard and the George Shearing Quintet. Music will be courtesy of Lucio Agostini.

TONIGHT AT 8—The famed Andrews Sisters will be seen on the Perry Como show tonight at 8, Channel 4. From left to right, Maxene, Patty and La Verne.

MONDAY

7.00: Channel 11: Part One of 'The Defender," starring Ralph Bellamy. Defence attorney Walter Pearson defends young Joseph Gordon, accused of murder, in spite of the fact that it looks like a closed case. Second half of the play will be carried on the following Monday.

7.30: Channel 5: Bold Journey's documentary covers a round-the-world trip in a small schooner.

8.00: Channel 5: Danny Thomas tries to win the title role in a TV play that portrays the life of a song writer.

8.30: Channel 5: Thomas L. Thomas is guest star on the Voice of Firestone concert program.

Channel 11: Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts. The show is a tape-recorded affair.

9.00: Channel 4: Charles Van Doren and the Twenty-One quiz.

Channels 11, 12: I Love Lucy sees Lucy playing the role of match-maker.

9.30: Channel 4: Robert Montgomery presents Jim Backus and Scott McKay in "Reclining Figure." A U.S. art collector does his best to buy a valuable Renoir painting.

Channel 5: Lawrence Welk and his Top Tunes and New Faces.

10.00: Channel 2: George Peppard stars in Studio One's "A Walk in the Forest." A brilliant young science student believes he is throwing his life away. Interesting. But what does the whole play prove?

10.45: Channel 5: Eleanor Powell dances again in the 1936 movie "Born to Dance." Although this wasn't one of her best pictures it is enough to show how good she was. The tunes were also nicely tuney.

TUESDAY

7.00: Channels 11, 12: The $64,000 Question.

7.30: Channel 5: Cheyenne is in trouble as he is drawn into a town after a crook tries to seize control of a small-town newspaper.

Channels 11, 12: Pat O'Brien and wife can be seen on Edgar Bergen's Do You Trust Your Wife?

8.00: Channels 11, 12: Master Sgt. Bilko feels quite fatherly when a young recruit claims to be an orphan and unhappy in the army.

8.30: Channel 5: Wyatt Earp tries to stop a shooting war between gun-slingers hired by rival railroads.

Channel 11: In the Brothers Harvey meets an old army buddy who is anything but a pal. It takes all Gilmore can do to keep the peace between them.

9.00: Channel 4: Jeannie Carson stars in "A Dangerous Thing." The librarian is worried about the gentleman loafer. He looks most unscholarly.

Channel 5: In the Broken Arrow adventure the jury sets free two men who have been accused of murder.

9.30: Channels 2, 6: The Canadian talent hunt—Pick the Stars.

Channel 4: Aluminum Hour stars Macdonald Carey, Kim Hunter and Jan Sterling in "Whereabouts Unknown." Two proper young persons become engaged but during the party the girl disappears which isn't proper at all.

Channel 11: Red Skelton entertains Charlie Ruggles and Marie Windsor in "San Fernando's Showboat."

10.00: Channels 2, 6: Hannibal's crossing of the Alps will be reconstructed.

WEDNESDAY

Channels 11, 12: Shirley Jones, Lee Marvin and Jack Cassidy will be seen in Steel Hour's 60-minute drama, "Shadow of Evil." The sheriff kills a young man and the dead one's sister tries to bring the man to justice.

8.00: Channels 11, 12: Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy take over for vacationing Arthur Godfrey. The show will feature top-line entertainers such as the Step Brothers, musical-comedy star Jack Whiting, Genevieve and dancer Dorothy Jarnac.

Channel 13: Hockey: Seattle versus Vancouver.

9.00: Channels 2, 6: Kraft offers "Give Me the Courage." This is on alcoholism. It's too much for a successful career woman when she gives up her busy life for a successful playwright.

Channel 4: Orson Bean stars in Kraft's "A Traveller From Brussels." An American returning from an unsuccessful business trip is offered a large sum to smuggle some jewels in to the U.S.A.

9.30: Channel 5: Ozzie and Harriet have fun as Ozzie tries to convince his buddies that the prize fish was caught by none other than he himself, by himself.

Channels 11, 12: I've Got a Secreteers have Herbert Marshall as guest.

10.00: Channels 2, 6: Elaine Grand presents Chrysler Festival, starring Toronto pianist Glen Gould, contralto Maureen Forrester, dancers Mata and Hari, comedienne Kaye Ballard and the George Shearing Quintet.

THURSDAY

8.00: Channel 4: Groucho Marx and his You Bet Your Life quiz.

8.30: Channel 2: Climax presents "The Stalker," wherein a small-town businessman learns that the man he helped send to jail is free and has already committed murder. James Whitmore and Marilyn Erskine star.

Channels 11, 12: Climax's latest effort, "Don't Ever Come Back," stars Richard Boone, Everett Sloane and Gene Lockhart. A newspaperman wonders if a town will accept again a man who has been cleared of a murder charge for which he went to prison.

9.00: Channel 4: Death Valley Days offer "Mercer Girls." Five hundred girls make a journey to the Northwest to find husbands.

Channel 5: Mercedes McCambridge stars in "Profile of Ellen Gale." An old-time movie queen goes to report Kate Wells for help.

9.30: Channel 11: Joanne Dru, Dan O'Herlihy and Charles Korvin are seen in "The Blackwell Story." Playhouse 90's hour-and-a-half drama tells of Elizabeth Blackwell who became America's first woman doctor in spite of the difficult road she had to break first.

FRIDAY

7.00: Channel 4: Fight: To be announced.

7.30: Channel 11: Edward R. Murrow visits Glenn Ford and his wife Eleanor Powell, also Abbe Lane and hubby Xavier Cugat.

9.00: Channels 2, 6: Winter Conference talks about "Buying and Voting — Who Makes Up Your Mind?" Speakers include J. B. Priestly, Dr. George Gallup.

10.45: Channel 5: Movie: Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman star in the thriller, 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

A Frenchman and Rock 'n' Roll: Michel Auclair, visiting French star, takes a dim view of the country's latest dance fad. "If this is the way young people woo one another today, no wonder there are so many divorces," he said. "This way of dancing is as romantic as a midget car race. The whole dance is physical. There is no time to be romantic."

Auclair, brought here by Paramount for "Funny Face," believes dances like the rhumba, samba, foxtrot and tango can be romantic—but never rock 'n' roll.

U.S. Price Increases Under Study

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — Price increases came under official scrutiny this week as most business indicators pointed higher.

Senate investigators turned the spotlight on prices of crude oil, fuel oil and gasoline. The federal trade commission opened a new inquiry into coffee prices.

The government reported a record high in living costs with no immediate halt foreseen.

Some businessmen were talking about consumer resistance.

Merchants reported, however, that shoppers were spending freely on spring clothes, furniture, paint, garden tools and hardware. Dun and Bradstreet said total retail trade for the week was four to eight per cent higher than a year ago.

Mixed trends were evident in the new car market. Ford and Plymouth were still producing to the hilt, while Chevrolet slashed its output 22 per cent. Total industry production touched a 1957 low.

Here's the latest on the cost-of-living: The government's consumer price index for January set a record for the fifth month in a row. This yardstick of what it costs to live touched a high at 118.2 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

ADVANCE HOME CREDIT

Incomes have gone up too. Factory workers' earnings have risen four per cent.

It was the rise in gasoline and oil prices that touched off the biggest ruckus.

However, industry defender M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), said the 35-per-cent increase in crude oil prices was "long overdue."

Rathbone said the average well drilled in the United States involves an expenditure of $71,000, compared to a $49,000 average cost seven years ago.

Congress took steps to make more credit available to builders and buyers of houses. The House of Representatives (and later the senate banking committee) voted to give the federal government $500,000,000 more for the purchase of home mortgages.

Briefly over the business scene:

Major producers reduced prices of vacuum - packed and instant coffee. . . General Electric Co. reported sales passed the $4,000,000,000 mark for the first time last year. Sales were up 18 per cent and profits two per cent . . . J. Sinclair Armstrong, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, says SEC is following up more stock fraud cases now than at any time in its history . . . Trading stamp companies sold $350,000,000 worth of stamps to merchants last year, an increase of 75 per cent over 1955.

Mining Delegates From 75 Nations To Tour Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — Mining delegates from 75 countries will study Canada's mineral resources in a big cross-country plane-and-train tour next fall.

About 500 persons are expected to make the tour during the sixth Commonwealth Mining and Metallurgical Congress which opens at Vancouver Sept. 8 and ends 32 days later at Halifax.

Travelling by three or four special 18-car trains, they will inspect more than 50 mines, smelters, steel mills, chemical plants, petroleum and natural gas installations and other mineral industries. Special plane charters will take delegates on a 3,700-mile tour of mines and plants in northern B.C.

Major meetings are scheduled for Vancouver Sept. 8-9-10, Edmonton Sept. 16-17, Winnipeg Sept. 19-20, Toronto Sept. 27-28, Ottawa Sept. 30, Montreal Oct. 1-2, Quebec Oct. 3-4 and Halifax Oct. 8-9.

World's Largest Commercial Plane In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The world's largest and fastest commercial airliner arrived here late Thursday for a four-day stop before leaving for Honolulu.

The plane, a Bristol Britannia turbo-prop airliner, left Winnipeg Thursday after completing three weeks of cold weather tests. It started without outside heat after being left for 48 hours in weather up to 30 degrees below zero.

Canadian Pacific Airlines has ordered five of the $3,500,000 aircraft and has an option on an additional five.

Listless Trading Hits Market; Few Signs of Encouragement Seen

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock market prices wandered aimlessly through five sessions of listless trading this week.

Traders were extremely cautious and many were waiting for definite signs of encouragement.

A few selected issues drew some support. Companies which reported improved earnings for 1956 or announced increased dividends were generally active.

Speculative mining stocks were active. Drilling reports in the Chibougamau area stirred some interest among coppers.

The Canadian markets lacked leadership from American counterparts Friday when the United States' houses were closed for Washington's birthday. The Toronto Stock Exchange, however, which usually follows the trend set by Wall Street, recorded its best showing of the week.

The markets showed little change Monday and Tuesday. Mining stocks, were active Wednesday. The pace again slackened.

NO INCREASES SEEN

Observers said at week's end there was no sign of encouragement.

They said the talk of easier money in the United States might stir some interest in Canada, but until something concrete is announced, trading would continue at its slow pace.

Goodyear Tire climbed $10 to $167 for the best industrial gain. Canada Life Assurance was up $6 to $170. Chrysler, Ford A, Algoma Steel, Trans Mountain Pipe Line, Union Gas and United Fuel B each gained between $3 and $4.75. Aluminium lost $3.50 at $111.50.

Hudson Bay lost $2.50 at $76 among senior base metals.

Great Plains advanced $1.87½ to $39.87½ among Western oils.

Index changes at Toronto: Industrials off .26 to 448.73; golds up .74 to 76.88; base metals off 4.17 to 203.38; western oils off 1.56 to 154.14.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks off 0.93 to 51.10; utilities off 0.8 to 139.3; industrials off 4.5 to 275.1; combined off 3.3 to 229.8; papers up 2.52 to 1322.64; golds up 0.49 to 73.34.

Week's volumes: 233,757 industrials and 3,104,881 mines against 364,543 industrials and 3,009,875 mines.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 40 cents at $172.10.

Times Square Rocks, Rolls, Quivers

NEW YORK (AP) — Times Square, which rocked 'n' rolled Friday, quivered again today from an outpouring of thousands of ecstatic teen-agers bent on seeing their favorite kind of show.

Focal point of the bedlam is the Paramount Theatre at 43rd Street and Broadway.

It is featuring a week's run of the movie "Don't Knock the Rock" and a rock 'n' roll stage show starring Alan Freed, a local disc jockey who claims to have invented the term.

Today's turnout as the second day opened was much smaller and far more orderly than Friday's. And police were more experienced at their task of restraining the exuberant youngsters.

From 4 a.m. Friday until midnight there were 20 hours of near pandemonium in and around the movie house.

STORM THEATRE

The youngsters, clad in dungarees and other attire favored by much of today's youth, stormed the area, pushing and shoving to get inside.

They stamped, screamed and climbed atop seats, beating out ear-splitting time to the rhythms. Gangs of boys roamed the aisles.

Police rushed reinforcements until there were 175 engaged in trying to preserve order.

Two girls were in hospital with leg injuries. Scores suffered barked shins, sore feet and bruises. They littered the area with remnants of lunches they had brought along — and sometimes tossed them at policemen.

The rhythmic pounding of feet of 1,600 youngsters in the second balcony prompted a call for inspectors from the city building department. It was feared the balcony might crash down.

Three-fourths of the balcony was cleared while the inspectors checked the structure. Finally they permitted it to be refilled.

By Friday's 8 a.m. opening time, some 5,000 girls and boys, out of school for Washington's birthday, thronged the area around the theatre.

The theatre's 3,650 seats couldn't begin to handle the demand. The opening day receipts of $29,000 set a record for the 31-year-old theatre which has billed practically all the greats of show business.

Officials believed the week's run would outdo records set earlier by such luminaries as Frank Sinatra, Nat King Cole and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Said the 35-year-old Freed, himself overwhelmed by his gigantic success:

"They are not bad kids, they are just enthusiastic. If the kids let off steam here, they won't be doing it somewhere else."

THE END OF A SHORT, SAD (FOR JOHNNY) STORY

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

For idle weekend musing, we would suggest the subject of money.

What with the Legislature talking billions in the House and millions in the coffee shop, one cannot help but be titillated by the seductive curves of the dollar signs, particularly when the milk-man and cleaner are both clamoring at the back door.

But putting domestic problems aside for the nonce, our particular topic is money as it concerns the Victoria Cougars.

The Cougars are much like any lunch bucket-carrying Joe in that they have bills, their kids need shoes and Marcel Pelletier has to keep up his wardrobe.

So they have more than a mere fleeting interest in the money that can be squeezed out of the Western Hockey League playoffs. Their season wages buy the bread but the playoffs supply the jam.

Now Just Imagine This . . .

With hope thumping eternal beneath the shirt, let's for a moment imagine that the Cougars finish first in the Western Division.

For doing this, they would pick up a cool $4,500 and get a bye in the semifinal playoffs.

Imagine further than the Cougars win the Coast Division playoff. For this, they would pick up an additional $7,000.

Now, we move on to the Prairies where the Cougars would meet the Prairie champion in the inter-sectional playoff. They win this league final in a blaze of glory and greenbacks and tuck another $7,000 into their poke.

Now comes the big money.

Being WHL champions, the Cougars would travel to Eastern Canada to meet the Quebec Hockey League champions in the annual Edinburgh Trophy playoff.

This playoff carries an $11,000 bundle for the winner and $5,000 for the loser.

So, toting it all up, the team that can win its division, go through the section and league playoff and then knock over the Edinburgh Trophy can cart away $29,500 in playoff money.

That total would be divided among the 15 players a club can carry. It will work out to close to $2,000 for each player and as Barney Google would say, that is a bodacious heap of money.

You Have to Score to Collect

But, on the other hand, you have to finish above fourth place to even get a sniff of the green stuff and if you don't get past the sectional semifinal, you have to divide a paltry $1,500 between your 15 players.

Which brings us up to the point of the lack of goals the Cougars have been scoring recently.

Friday night's game marked the sixth time in their last seven games that the Cougars have scored only two goals. In fact, over their last nine games, the Cats have scored only 14 goals.

They have won three of those games and tied two but, as Cougar Bill Davidson was saying Friday night, "These two-goal games are going to kill me. Every time I pass the puck I get a twitch in my stomach, just hoping I don't do anything wrong."

Yes, they pay off in goals, a possible $29,500 worth of payoff. The Cougars might do well to start punching the cash register a little harder.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carmen Basilio, a savage, grim-faced warrior, made short work of Johnny Saxton Friday night, bombing the ex-champ with a chilling left hook to retain his world welterweight title on a knockout at 2.42 of the second round.

Basilio, determined to let his own two hands do the officiating in this brief battle, chased bewildered Johnny from corner to corner with wicked punches.

Near the end of the second round Basilio caught Saxton near midring with a numbing left that dropped the New Yorker on the ring deck. He rolled over once and started to get up, but referee Tony LaBranche ruled his gloves still were on the floor when he counted the fatal "ten".

SUPERIORITY OBVIOUS

Thunderous cheers echoed off the walls of the Cleveland Arena as the 29-year-old onion farmer from Canastota, N.Y., clearly demonstrated his superiority in the third bout of this controversial "series". Never from the opening bell was there any doubt about the eventual outcome.

If Saxton expected to box and run as he did at Chicago last March when he won the title on a highly disputed decision, he never got a chance to put his plan into operation. Basilio stormed out from the first bell, poured leather at him with both hands, with thudding wallops that had Saxton trying desperately to grab and hold.

So over-anxious was Basilio to finish the Saxton series for keeps that he almost fell on his face from the force of a missed left hook in the first round.

The craggy-faced ex-marine dropped to both knees for a few seconds in silent prayer after the shockingly quick ending, while his corner crew whooped it up in a wild celebration for the 3-to-1 favorite.

DRIVEN ON ROPES

Strong and determined at 147 pounds, the same weight as the ex-champion, Basilio lashed Saxton's body with left hooks, switched to the head with equal effect and drove him foggy-eyed along the ropes in both rounds.

It was apparent that Saxton, desperately trying to survive this blazing attack, couldn't hold out for long. Punch after punch thudded off his body as he made a feeble attempt to fight back.

When Carmen switched from head to body late in the second, he bulled Saxton into Basilio's own corner and slammed away at will. Johnny's return punches were missing fire, but he escaped for a few more seconds.

Then came the hook, the best punch in the artillery of Basilio who is a converted southpaw. Saxton tried to get up, but he couldn't quite make it. If he had succeeded it would have made little difference for he was a badly beaten man.

Johnny was helped to his corner by his handlers while the Basilio crew staged their own private demonstration.

SIGNS WITH STAMPS

CALGARY (CP)—Don Caraway, 210-pound fullback from the University of Houston, has signed with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, it was announced Friday night.

NEW YORK—Clinton F. Russell of Duluth was named winner of the Ben Hogan Award for 1956. He has for many years been an inspiration to blind golfers.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CROWN CARMEN'S NEXT TARGET

CLEVELAND (UP)—Carmen Basilio, the snarling tiger man who flattened Johnny Saxton last night, challenged today for the middleweight crown.

"I want a shot at the winner of the Gene Fullmer-Ray Robinson fight," announced the fiery slugger who staggered Saxton a dozen times and smashed him to the canvas with a booming left hook for a knockout at 2.42 of the second round in their title "rubber match."

About $48,000 richer for less than six minutes of work, the champion from Chittenango, N.Y., sought "a real big-money fight" outdoors in May with middleweight ruler Fullmer or Sugar Ray, who are slated for a title bout at Chicago Stadium April 24.

HEAVY HOOP ACTION

Casaba Chorus Rings Tonight

Basketballs will be beating a merry tune tonight as four Up-Island teams visit two city gymnasiums.

Although final results are almost a foregone conclusion, most of the hoop attention will centre on Victoria High School, where a pair of two-game series for Vancouver Island titles will be concluded.

Dickinson & Dunn, well on the way to a second straight senior "B" men's crown, tackles Alberni Athletic Bs in the feature tussle at Vic High at 8.30. The Tiremen will start with a comfortable, 19-point cushion earned in their 76-57 victory in the series opener at Alberni.

BIG LEAD

Victoria College Vikings only have to avoid losing by more than 38 points in order to wrap up the Island junior men's crown. They start the finale of the junior series against Alberni at 7.30 with an 84-45 bulge gained in the opening game at Alberni.

Winners will advance to the provincial playoffs against Mainland teams and the Tiremen and Vikings are given excellent chances of giving Victoria its first junior and senior "B" B.C. crowns in many seasons.

Two First United hoop teams will risk undefeated records against strong Alberni rivals at the First United gymnasium, Balmoral Street, tonight.

First United's pre-midget boys, winners of the provincial title last year, open proceedings against Alberni pre-midgets at 7.30.

At 8.30, Alberni midgets, B.C. champions last season, tackle the Victoria midget squad, unbeaten this year, in an exhibition tussle.

Don't Say 'Crucial' —But It Will Be

Cougars Edge Stamps; Face Canucks Monday

Victoria 2, Calgary 1

By DENNY BOYD

In spite of the guy who threatens to crack some heads if one more mention is made of "crucial" hockey games, the Victoria Cougars will meet the Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena Monday night in a game that is critical, urgent, momentous, essential, trenchant and pregnant with playoff possibilities.

Call it what you may but this will be an extremely large hockey game.

The Cougars and Canucks, in their own ways, set the stage dressing for this joust of consequence in a pair of preliminary games Friday night.

The Cougars, as is their habit, knocked off the Calgary Stampeders, 2-1, at Memorial Arena, while the Canucks were in the aching process of dropping an overtime decision to the Brandon Regals, who play no favorites but simply knock off everyone in sight.

As a result of the two games, the Cougars again are back snapping at the Canucks' ankle, just one point out of the third and final playoff berth that has been kicked around by the two clubs like the family cat during the last three weeks.

Next week positively shrieks with opportunity for the Cougars.

They meet the Canucks here Monday night and play a return go in Vancouver Tuesday night. After that, it is Seattle here Friday night and a return bout in Seattle Saturday night.

Split Will Be Good Enough

There is a possible eight points there but Cougar coach Colin Kilburn indicated after Friday night's win that he would be satisfied with a split for the week—two victories.

Friday's game was a story of muffed scoring chances. On the scoring opportunities presented, the score could have been a 4-1 Cougar lead at the end of the first period, rather than the 1-0 lead they carried into the second period.

Bruce Carmichael got the only goal of the first period on an alert bit of opportunism.

Gordie Haworth made the big play on the goal, sifting breezily between two defencemen for a shot that Stamp goalie Hank Bassen stopped with his pads. However, Carmichael, following the play closely, whacked the rebound home before Bassen could clear.

Nelson Bulloch, Don Chiupka and Doug Macauley all had big scoring chances before the period ended while Lee Fogolin and Doc Couture came close for Calgary but it was still 1-0 entering the second period.

Calgary snapped out of the doldrums in the second period and continual pressure finally produced the first goal they have scored on Victoria ice this season.

Old Pro Enio Ended Drought

Vic Dzurko shot one from the side, Marcel Pelletier blocked it but old pro Enio Sclisizzi pushed in the rebound from short range. It ended a scoring drought that had seen the Stamps go 152 minutes and 58 seconds without a goal in Victoria.

There were more near things in the second period, Carmichael missing on two more good shots and Lionel Heinrich getting through on Bassen but losing control of the puck at the last second.

Rookie Larry Leach, whose goals have been few and far between, made his fourth of the season a mighty big one as he got the winner at 11.50 of the last period.

Leach cranked in a hard 25-footer that Bassen appeared to have covered but the puck glanced in off his skate as he sprawled in the crease.

Kilburn's line changes, involving all three units, appeared to give the Cats a shot in the arm with the Leach-Haworth-Carmichael line a constant threat. Dobbyn played a fine two-way game on defence while Don Chiupka caused the Stampeders continual grief with his fore-checking.

England Beats France

LONDON (Reuters)—England beat France 9-5 in a Rugby Union international championship game at Twickenham today. England led 6-0 at half-time.

Ireland beat Scotland 5-3 in another championship game at Edinburgh. They led 5-0 at half-time.

Royal Roads Third In Service Tourney

KINGSTON (CP) — College Militaire Royal of Saint Jean, Que., took a four-point lead in the annual tri-service sports tournament which started a two-day run Friday at Royal Military College here.

Sweeping to two victories in volleyball, a single victory in basketball and five victories in the boxing CMR racked up 21 points in the unofficial standings. RMC is in second place with 17 and Royal Roads third with 14.

In the afternoon events, CMR blanked Royal Roads 3-0 in volleyball and went on to whip RMC by the same count. In basketball the leaders edged RMC 54-51. In other court contest RMC turned back Royal Roads 49-44.

A major upset occurred in the boxing competition when RMC's W. A. Urie, a middleweight, scored a unanimous decision over the favored J. L. Eggens of Royal Roads.

A rough heavyweight bout between RMC's G. K. Welch and RR's W. H. Nordick drew applause from the large crowd. The fighters stood toe to toe for the entire three rounds but Welch held a slight edge and gained the decision. In a light heavyweight match Bruce Norris of Royal Military College dropped a decision to J. W. Baragar of Royal Roads.

In a heavyweight match, Ken Stefason of CMR decisioned RR's M. W. Cavanaugh.

Claude Leduc of CMR knocked out RR's C. S. Anstis in a light heavyweight bout and A. Copeland of CMR scored a TKO over F. C. Swain of Royal Roads.

L. A. Ashley of RMC lost on a TKO to H. B. Weatherhead of Royal Roads in a lightweight bout.

Royal Roads' I. C. Fletcher won by a TKO over John Carrie of CMR in a welterweight contest.

Three Rinks Undefeated

Only three rinks still boasted unbeaten records as play in the fifth annual Alberni Valley Curling Club bonspiel swung into its fourth day this morning.

Jules Wenezenki of Port Alberni and Victoria's Tony Gutoski each scored two victories Friday to top the 40-rink entry with five successive wins. Bob Cummings of the host club, skipping the only other undefeated quartet, posted his third and fourth triumphs Friday.

Wenezenki, Gutoski, Bob Fuller of Nanaimo and Ed Price, Frank Hunt, Ed Myers and Cec Hooper, all of Port Alberni, reached the eights of the MacKenzie Trophy primary.

Quarter finals were also reached in the Colonist primary with Gutoski, Wenezenki, Cummings, Annis Stukus, Vancouver; Warren Paul, Port Alberni; Jack Coates, Parksville; and Ron Harper and Ollie Panzer of Duncan still in the running.

Chinook Club to Lobby for Increased Fishing Grounds

Members of the Chinook Club will attempt to have a greater area reserved for sports fishermen in the vicinity of Saanich Inlet and Cowichan Bay.

During the club's annual meeting Friday night, the Chinookers drew up plans to work with a committee from the parent Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association on a campaign to have commercial fishing banned in Sansum Narrows and Satellite Channel.

Named to head the Chinook Club, which is open to any member of the VSIAA who catches a salmon of 20 pounds or over in the inlet, was Andy Anderson.

John Rose was elected vice-president and Bill Rowe was named secretary-treasurer.

Voted in as directors were George Heathfield, Dan Thomas, Cliff Heglin, Bill Robinson, Art Midlane, Sparky Romano, Martin Nickels, Jack Clyde and Vince Reid.

ANDY ANDERSON
. . . Chinook boss

Trophies won by members during the past season were presented during the meeting, with Sid Upton, who landed a 43-pound, two-ounce salmon, taking the trophy for the biggest salmon by a Chinook Club member.

Other trophy winners follow:

Art Midlane, the Currie trophy for three button fishing weighing a total of 84 pounds, 14 ounces.

E. Jaundrew, the Sylvester trophy for a 20 pounder, the largest caught in the annual Chinook Club derby.

Mrs. George Heathfield, the Chinook Ladies Cup for a 21 pound, 12 ouncer, largest caught by a woman member.

Jim Haslam, Dr. Clarke's Dominion Day cup for a 15 pound 8 ouncer, the biggest cought in Dominion Day derby.

Mart Nickels, the Peets trophy for a 33 pound, 14 ouncer, largest salmon caught by a new member.

Bill Robinson the Liar trophy for the biggest fish stery told at the annual banquet.

Brandon Helps Us; Flyers Fly

Regals Nip Canucks; Warriors Walloped

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Flyers pasted Winnipeg Warriors 9-2 in a Western Hockey League game Friday night but a bare 3-2 overtime win by Brandon kept the Regals seven points ahead of Edmonton in the Prairie division.

Veteran Don Poile of the Flyers scored three goals, boosting his season's total to 27.

Brandon's win was at the expense of Vancouver Canucks and left the latter only one point ahead of Victoria Cougars in the Coast Division.

In Edmonton Poile's first goal came unassisted after eight minutes of the second period. He got another before the period ended and completed his hat trick in the third.

Bill McCreary got two for the Flyers.

SOLO PERFORMANCE

The prettiest goal of the game was scored for Winnipeg by Bill Mosienko after Tom McCarthy put Edmonton in front, 1-0. Mosienko broke away alone, shifted the Edmonton defence wide, went in close and flipped the puck past Dennis Riggin.

Edmonton's other goals were scored by Jerry Melnyk, Chuck Holmes and Murray Costello. Earl Ingarfield scored the other for Winnipeg.

In Vancouver, Ray Manson scored the winner for Brandon after 5½ minutes of overtime in what was probably the fastest contest in the coast city this season.

The Regals almost had the game sewed up in the final second of the third period when a rebound from Les Lilley's shot was batted in by Don Raleigh. Referee Scotty Morrison ruled, however, that a glove, rather than a stick, was responsible for the score.

Earlier, Raleigh had sent Brandon into the lead but Motto McLean tied it for Vancouver.

Vic Lynn scored the first goal for Brandon and Bud Syverson the first for Vancouver.

Nanaimo Rinks Clash Today To Gain Final

Mrs. H. Tegert of Salmon Arm will meet a Nanaimo rink in the final round of the provincial women's curling playdowns at Nanaimo.

Mrs. Tegert, representing the North Okanagan, reached the final Friday with a 13-7 triumph over Mrs. G. McKilligan of Summerland to top the five rinks entered in "B" section of the 'spiel.

Three rinks finished in a tie for the top spot in "A" section and Mrs. Min Holm of Nanaimo ousted Mrs. A. Fuller of Vancouver in a playoff Friday night.

Mrs. Holm met Mrs. Marg Fuller of Nanaimo, the other rink that shared the section lead, in a playoff this morning to decide which rink would advance to the final against Mrs. Tegert.

Viking Views

By ROBIN FARQUHAR

Who says Alberni is the greatest basketball city in Western Canada?

If that's what you think, then there is a surprise or two in store for you. And watch it, because here comes a plug for Victoria.

Last weekend two local basketball teams, both lower-Island champions in their respective divisions, motored up-Island to play the corresponding Alberni teams, upper-Island champs.

Each of the games was to be the first of a home-and-home series, and both Victoria teams were figuring on good, tight basketball. And did they get it?

Judge from the scores. Dickinson and Dunn, Victoria's Senior B entry finished on the upper end of a 76-57 score, and Victoria College, our Junior Men's contribution, waltzed to a 39-point victory, 84-45.

Granted, in the Junior Men's game, the Vikings were hitting a good percentage, but surely a city with the basketball reputation which Alberni enjoys can turn out a team capable of giving a Victoria squad a run for their money.

Vikings took a healthy lead in the first five minutes of the game, and after that, they never looked back.

Throughout the game, they maintained a score which doubled Alberni's, and at the end, individual honors went to Art Chiko and Bob Tomlinson, who hooped 20 and 19 points respectively.

It is difficult to guess what Alberni's trouble was. They suffered from no disadvantage in either height or experience, and they had the advantage of the home gym and a friendly crowd.

Perhaps it was the team spirit of the College which beat them—the will to win; that added Wheaties spark.

Whatever the reason, you can be sure that the up-Islanders will try to correct it for tonight when they play the final game of the series.

Vikings will go into the game with a 39-point margin, and it's a certainty that Alberni will be attempting to hack away that deficit as soon as the starting whistle blows, which will be at 8 in the Victoria High School gym.

Should the College hoopsters come out on top, they will meet the Vancouver champions next Friday and Saturday at Vic High for the B.C. championship.

★ ★ ★

On March 8, Victoria College will invade HMCS Naden—sportswise, that is.

The students will face the sailors in a minor swimming gala, a water-polo match, a volleyball game and a basketball game in which the Norsemen will be sporting the College blue and gold.

★ ★ ★

In rugby action, the Vikings have taken a sudden interest in silverware, and are consequently fighting it out with Victoria High School for the coveted Kiwanis Cup.

In the first game of a two-game, total-point series last Thursday, College used their superior experience and scrum weight to down the Vics, 14-6, thus taking an eight-point lead in the series.

Pete Bousfield and Doug Stewart each scored a try, and Stew Smith guided two penalty kicks and a conversion between the uprights to give College their win.

The final game will be played next Thursday at Carnarvon Park at 4.

College women also came under the sports spotlight last week.

Maureen Bray, College physical education instructor, announced that she has been asked to play in the Canadian badminton championships next week and she has accepted. Our best wishes ride with her.

Today, both the women's basketball and volleyball teams are in Vancouver playing against the corresponding UBC team.

And finally, Brian Sulsbury has announced that he wishes to start a track team at the College which will challenge Victoria High School in the spring.

BIG SELLING JOB AHEAD

Ernie Gordon (left) and Max Zabel will be talking of other things besides curling when they lead a Victoria Curling Club delegation to Kingston next week. The group, seeking the 1958 Dominion curling finals for Victoria, will try to convince officials of the advantages of visiting Victoria in March, usual date for the Macdonald's Brier playdowns. (Times Photo.)

Shock Troops Primed For Operation Brier

BY DOUG PEDEN

Zero hour for the big push in "Operation Brier" finally arrives next week.

Shock troops from Victoria Curling Club will launch the last phase of a long campaign to bring the world series of the roaring game, the Macdonald's Brier Canadian curling playdowns, to Victoria when they leave next Wednesday for Kingston, Ont.

Four years of planning are behind the campaign to have the Canadian championships played at Memorial Arena in 1958—British Columbia's Centennial year.

Victoria's application to host next year's Brier playdowns was officially submitted a year ago this month and it is believed that chances of acceptance by the Dominion Curling Association are good. "Our main objective," says Ernie Gordon, first vice-president of the Victoria club and chairman of its Brier committee, "is to convince them we really want the Brier."

Adding a lot of fire power to the Victorians' assault on Kingston will be Max Zabel, past president of the Victoria club who is the British Columbia representative on the Dominion Curling Association. Completing the club delegation will be Frank Burden, former VCC director and B.C. delegate to the Dominion association, and club director Jim Tang.

CITY REPRESENTED

Included in the party will be Alderman Austin Curtis, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce who will be the official representative of Mayor Percy Scurrah at most of he Brier functions; Laurie Wallace, co-ordinator of the Centennial celebrations for B.C., and one other member of the Centennial committee.

It is also hoped that Joe Dukowski, manager of Memorial Arena, will be able to travel with the delegation to answer any questions regarding facilities available at the arena and, if the bid is successful, learn full details of staging the curling finals.

With the exception of Gordon, the party will leave by train from Vancouver Wednesday, arriving in Toronto Saturday on the "Curlers' Special." Gordon, travelling by air, will join the group at Toronto for the final lap to Kingston.

This year's Brier playdowns begin Monday and the site of the 1958 Brier will be decided Wednesday when the Dominion association meets with the Macdonald's Brier tankard committee.

Usually alternated between east and west on successive years, the routine was broken when the Brier was held two straight years in the west to allow Saskatoon to be the host city during its jubilee celebrations in 1954. It was held at Moncton in 1955 and the east will regain its lost year at Kingston.

The Brier will return west in 1958 and British Columbia, celebrating its centennial year, is the logical host province and Victoria is the only B.C. city to submit a bid.

The Victoria delegates will attempt to strengthen their bid by publicizing non-curling activities made possible by Victoria's usual March weather and Zabel, as past president of the local tourist group, should be operating in a familiar role.

"We expect to show the meeting at Kingston we can put on the greatest Brier in history," says Gordon.

British Columbia may host two of Canada's three top sports spectacles in its centennial year.

The biggest of them all, the Grey Cup football classic, is expected to be played at Vancouver's Empire Stadium and the Brier, which rates with Stanley Cup hockey playoffs, could be at Memorial Arena.

If Victoria gets the curling classic, the VCC plans to stage an Centennial Bonspiel at its own rink the week previous to the big show. The week-long event would be expected to attract an entry of 100 rinks, including many of the Brier finalists.

They are getting a bit jittery at Victoria Curling Club now that zero hour is near. However, the campaign has been well planned, the objective should be vulnerable and their talented attacking force should have no difficulty convincing the country's curling brass that Victoria really wants the Brier.

All-Star Puck Squads On Championship Trail

Two Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association all-star clubs start on the trail of Vancouver Island titles at Nanaimo tonight.

Victoria peewees open a two-game total-goal series against Nanaimo for the Island crown at Nanaimo Civic Arena at 7. Victoria and Nanaimo midgets play the first game of a similar series at 8.30.

In the first game of the Victoria midget league semifinal playoffs at Memorial Arena Thursday, Vic Bley and Dave Fiddler each rapped in two goals to pace Cougars to a 5-3 triumph over Americans.

Barry Saunders fired the other Cougar tally while Bob Jones, with two goals, and Jim Finlayson accounted for the Americans' scoring.

Frank Chambers of Cougars finished on top in the midget league scoring race with a total of 37 points on 17 goals and 20 assists.

Two points back was Les Brice, who had nine goals and the league high of 26 assists. Vic Bley, the loop's top goal scorer, had 21 goals and 12 assists for third place while Jim Cathroe of Royals was fourth with 29 points on 20 goals and nine assists. Toby Wilson, who collected 19 goals, rounded out the top five with 26 points for the regular season.

Illness May Force Beliveau Out of Line-Up for Season

Case Said 'Serious'; Career Could Suffer

MONTREAL (CP)—Centre star Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens said today he may have to drop out for the rest of the National Hockey League season for health reasons. He expected to get a final specialist's report today.

"I consulted a specialist after the game Wednesday against Detroit," Beliveau told reporters. "If his fears are confirmed, I will have to make an important decision. The specialist told me that if I continue to play, my hockey career might end in three or four years and my health might suffer."

Beliveau, season-long scoring leader until a recent slump dropped him to third place, said he has not yet informed the club. General Manager Frank Selke, asked to comment, said he knows nothing about it.

Beliveau said that after his first 10 games this season he didn't "feel well. I was weak and nervous."

"Before games, my hands were damp and I was more shaky than I had been when I had my three-game trial with Canadiens. Sometimes I felt giddy when I was resting.

"I consulted the club doctor and he told me not to worry, that I had an infection. After playing three games without scoring; I decided to consult a doctor I've known for some time. He examined me and called in a specialist."

"CASE SERIOUS"

"The specialist after his check said my case is serious," Beliveau said. "He suggested a long rest. He said he didn't see how I had been able to continue to play in my condition. I told him it had taken three times more effort than it usually did.

"If he announces good news today, I'll play against New York tonight. If he doesn't, I'll ask Mr. Selke to give me a rest until the playoffs begin."

Beliveau said he has lost five pounds.

"I won't abandon my team mates at a critical time without good reasons. The case of Terry Sawchuk has raised a number of comments. If I take a rest, it will be because I have no alternative."

Landy Packs Up Storied Career

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—John Landy, 26-year-old world mile-record holder, today announced his retirement from major track and field competition.

He came off the track here after running second in an interclub half-mile race and said: "I've had it. I won't run again in major competition. In fact, I won't run seriously any more but will have just an occasional outing in interclub racing."

The man who achieved fame in 1954, by running the mile in three minutes, 58 seconds, said "it is too much strain to compete in major racing if you are not fit enough to set the pace."

Landy, a teacher of agricultural science here, long has hinted at retirement. Toward the end of last year he was troubled with a leg injury which restricted his training for the Olympics.

The lanky Australian broke the four-minute-mile barrier six times.

One of Landy's greatest races was a losing one. It was when he opposed Roger Bannister, the world's first four-minute miler, in the British Empire Games mile in Vancouver in August, 1954. Both men beat four minutes, with Bannister the winner.

Landy's time for the half-mile today was one minute, 54.6 seconds. He finished two yards behind Geoff Fleming, who was clocked in 1:54.4.

Two Wins Off Target

ARCADIA, Calif. (CP) — Johnny Longden won his 4,998th race Friday as he rode the English-bred St. Vincent to an easy win in the $29,300 Washington's Handicap at Santa Anita.

Longden, already turfdom's winningest jockey, hopes to better the 5,000 mark at this meet.

Racial Sport Bill Shelved in Georgia

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia house Friday shelved a bill to ban interracial sports and social activities, handing the segregation-minded administration of Gov. Marvin Griffin a sharp setback.

Foes of the measure, aimed primarily at the South Atlantic Baseball League, prevented a vote by a series of parliamentary moves in the closing hours of the 1957 session.

ON THE ALLEYS

By DOUG PEDEN

Business as Usual at Bowladrome

It was business as usual again at Gibson's Bowladrome Friday night. At least it was inside the alleys.

While things may have been somewhat snarled in the white stuff outside, routine at Gibson's settled back to normal for the first time since fire knocked out the lower deck of lanes Jan. 28. A few details still have to be completed but all leagues at Gibson's were able to return to their regular schedules Friday night and 'drome manager Rod Hendry was able to get back on his normal sleeping schedule.

Estimates on the length of time needed to get the lanes replaced ran up to three months the day after the fire, but six lanes were back in operation a week later and 24-hour work shifts Wednesday and Thursday enabled Hendry to open the remaining 14 on the lower floor after 25 days. But for a week's delay in obtaining some materials, a fast job would have been completed in a bigger hurry.

With Gibson's back in full swing, final arrangements for the zone and provincial tenpin playoffs, both on Victoria boards, have been made.

Competition in the zone playoff starts next Saturday at Gibson's and moves over to Strathcona Bowling Alleys the following day. Third and fourth rounds will be at Gibson's March 9 and Strathcona March 10. Each six-game block starts at 6.30.

Two top bowlers from the zone roll-off will compete in the provincial final against all zone champions in a 24-game series at Gibson's and Strathcona with the winner to meet the top kegler from the Winnipeg tourney at Vancouver for the Western Canada crown.

Gibson's senior tenpin loop had one of its better nights of the season with three bowlers hitting over 600.

Ken Munn set the pace with a 622 triple on games of 236, 189, 197, and Bud Marty, with singles of 214 and 204, spilled the maples for 616. Ches Sapala posted a 605 triple with a 222 single.

Bill Odgers also had a 222 single and was three short of the 600 mark at 597, Herb Chandler had 586 (212), A. Hawkins 579 (202), L. Marks 562, Roy Begg 559, Gordie Bamford 546, Howie Hazzard 543, Bob Bystedt 542 and George Brown 540.

Other notable tenpin scores at Gibson's this week were 594 and 584 triples by Wilbur Webb, Dave Barr 574 (246), Frank Doheny 564, E. Busst 562, H. Hazzard 561, and D. Lenton 560.

Tom Nute and Rod Williams were a bit inconsistent as they each posted a 542 triple at Strathcona this week. Williams had a 121 effort sandwiched between games of 220 and 201 while Nute followed his 245 opening game with a plunge to 116.

Also at Strathcona, George Motion rolled 564 (211); Ed Stefanek 562, John Roper 557, Ron Wilson 553, Ted Bowcott 537 and Carmen Pasco 535 (223).

Best effort for the ladies was a 552 by Dot Bennett at Strathcona, while Iris Murrant set the pace at Gibson's with a triple. Erma Stables rolled the season's top triple at Strathcona last week, a 580 effort.

★ ★ ★

In fivepin action at Capital City Bowladrome, Keith Todd racked up a 852 triple and Ken Nex came in with an 841. Neil Craig had 764, Stan Bell 702 and Bruce Atkinson hit for 732.

Alex Kirker was high fivepinner at Esquimalt with 841 (333). Next was John Middlemass with 837 (303), followed by Reg Waggoner 781, Frank Morgan 776, John Oliver 765, Tony Bishop 766 and J. Frampton 745.

★ ★ ★

At Gibson's, S. Jenkins rolled 766 for top honors followed by R. Morberry 762, Buzz Long 753, Bill McKinnon 749, Harry Cool 731, K. Smith 730, H. Hunt 717, D. Peasland 714, J. Lawrence 708, C. Waters 704, and B. Haime 703.

SURE SYSTEM TO BEAT RACES

BOWIE, Md. (UP)—A race track goer tried out a new system at Bowie race track yesterday and took home $4,300.

He slipped by several guards and entered a mutuel booth. Then he pressed a hard object against a teller's back and as he pocketed a package of bills he whispered:

"Don't holler. I'm taking this."

THOMAS A. EDISON, the inventor of the electric light, has said "The doctor of the future will give no medicine . . . but will interest his patients in the care of the human frame, in diet and in the cause and prevention of disease." This statement has been proven at the Clinic of Natural Therapy over a period of twenty-five years, where natural treatments for many illnesses have shown consistently good results. Phone 3-4034 or visit the Clinic at 401 Jones Building, for an appointment.

Soccer Goalies, Too Feel Heebie-Jeebies

LONDON (CP) — It could have been Terry Sawchuk talking:

"I had a shocking game and let in two stupid goals. The first went under my leg, the second straight through my hands. Ever since, I've been scared of it happening again . . . at the thought of making more silly blunders . . . I had lost my touch and my confidence.

"I kept telling myself things would get better. But they've got worse."

The speaker, Ed Ditchburn, is the regular goaltender for Tottenham Hotspurs, second-place team in the English Soccer League's First Division.

A frequent international performer for England, his professional standing is as high as Sawchuk's in National Hockey League—possibly higher.

Like the former Boston Bruin netminder, he was in trouble.

The game he was describing, in which the Spurs were beaten 3-0 by Wolverhampton six weeks ago, was the start of a slump that culminated in Tottenham's elimination by Third-Division Bournemouth last Saturday in Football Association Cup competition and the midweek upset at the hands of lowly Chelsea in league play.

Following the Chelsea defeat, manager Jimmy Anderson told Ditchburn he would be dropped for today's meeting with Burnley. The goalie expressed relief.

"I just had to have a rest," Ditchburn said when he learned Ron Reynolds was taking his place. "I couldn't have carried on as things were."

Reynolds was sympathetic.

"These things happen to all of us," he said. "I've had the same thing happen to me twice. It's part of the game."

Ditchburn, who let in only a total of three goals in matches against Wales, Yugoslavia and Denmark this winter, expressed certainty that his lapse is temporary.

"I'm going to have a rest and forget about football for a while," he said. "But believe me, I'll be back."

CAMPY'S INJURED MITT SURVIVES FIRST TEST

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Roy Campanella, Brooklyn Dodger catcher, gave his questionable right hand its first test Friday and announced: "It's all right. Feels good."

Swinging a bat for the first time since the operation on the hand in December, the veteran slugger hit the ball with authority.

"He didn't favor his hand one bit," said manager Walter Alston. "If I had to judge him on this one day's performance I would say he's all right."

Maureen Ranks Sixth; Enters Dominion Open

Maureen Bray, recently named the sixth ranking women's singles player in Canada, will compete in the Canadian open badminton championships at Kitchener, Ont., next week.

Miss Bray, who dropped a close decision to Lois Reid, former Canadian champion, from Vancouver, in the final round of the recent British Columbia tourney here, will leave by air Tuesday evening. The Canadian meet opens Thursday.

Also traveling to Kitchener will be five junior players from the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club — Jane Lee, Harvey Hurd, Roger Lindal, Warren Bell and Mel Chapman, who will compete in the Canadian junior tourney.

Mrs. Jean Miller, of Montreal, was given the top rating among women players in rankings released recently by the Canadian Badminton Association.

Kay Grant, Montreal, and Marjorie Shedd, of Toronto, followed in order behind Mrs. Miller.

In the men's ratings, Dave McTaggart, of Vancouver, was placed first, followed by Peter Ferguson and Bev Westcott, of Toronto.

Other men's rankings in the first 10; John Bouck, Vancouver; Bert Fergus, Vancouver; Jim Carnwath, Toronto; Colin Irvin, Montreal; Alf Ingall, Edmonton; Harold Moody, Montreal, and Martin Semple, Toronto.

The women's: Mrs. Jean Waring Follinsbee, Calgary; Lois Reid, Vancouver; Mrs. Claire Lovett, Vancouver; Aveleigh Hepworth, Woodstock, Ont.; Maureen Bray, Victoria; Mrs. Valerie Brown, Winnipeg, and Doris Tinline, Toronto.

Unknown Leader In Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gene Bone, 25-year-old Louisville, Ky., professional who has won only $33.34 on the winter circuit, fired a five-under-par 67 Friday to take a second-round lead in the $36,000 Houston open golf tournament.

Bone had a 69 Thursday for a 36-hole score of 136.

Leading a six-man Canadian contingent was Al Balding of Toronto, with 73-69—142. Stan Leonard of Lachute, Que., was hot on his heels with 73-70—143.

The other Canadian scores were Jack Kay, Montreal, 73-71—144; Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener, Ont., 77-72—149; Bill Mawhinney, Vancouver, 75-76—151; and George Knudson, Winnipeg, 77-77—154.

REAL ACHIEVEMENT FOR HUNGARIAN REFUGEE

Here's One Tenant Happy Proud to Pay His Rent

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A stocky, dark-haired Hungarian today dug into his pocket, pulled out a wad of dollars, and proudly paid his landlady $60.

Joseph Panos, 22, an electrician by trade, had reason to be proud.

A refugee, who fled his Communist-controlled country, he had earned his first pay cheque since his arrival in Canada in December.

The cheque represented a phenomenal achievement for the young man. Two months ago he arrived in Canada destitute, owning only the clothes he wore. His knowledge of the English language only amounted to a few words.

Today Joseph Panos can converse in English and has fully adapted himself to the environment of his new country.

Panos worked hard to establish himself in his new community.

"I learned at least 40 English words a day," he said. "I studied every night until one in the morning."

Since December, 263 refugees have come here—all are working hard to learn English so they can take their rightful place in the community.

The total number of refugees living here include 152 single men over 18 years of age. The remainder are women and children. Twenty are single women.

SIX DOCTORS

Among the group are 30 professionals and they include six doctors, one dentist, six school teachers and several engineers.

All but 50 single men have been placed in private homes. The single men are living at the Immigration Building.

R. S. Reid, immigration officer in charge of the refugees, said about 30 Hungarians have found jobs so far.

"Once these people learn English they won't have any trouble in finding work," he said. "The majority are skilled tradesmen and are anxious to work."

He disclosed that not one person who has taken a Hungarian into his home has yet complained of misbehaviour.

"Of course, we expect to run across a few who will not adapt themselves to this country," he said. "That is to be expected. On the whole they are hard-working, honest people, anxious to make good."

MONTE ROBERTS

I feel the constituents are letting me down.

A couple of days ago, I suggested, as Victoria's centennial project, a spoonerized pun with a local flavor, to serve as a permanent memorial to B.C.'s 100th birthday.

You will see why I feel the constituents are letting me down when you read the result to date:

Dear Mr. Roberts:

Re your spoonerized puns for the B.C. Centennial:

A stranger driving down the Island Highway paused to watch a native Indian, sauntering along with a knife in his hand, hewing out the inside of a fibrous tropical fruit.

"What in heavens' name are you doing?" asked the tourist.

"Carving," said the Indian.

"Do you sell those things?"

"Ugh!"

"And is your business expanding?"

"Yes," said the Indian, a crafty gleam in his eye. "I intend to hollow the gourds to Victoria."

You don't like that one, Mr. Roberts? Well . . .

There was once a reception given in honor of a beautiful girl named Victoria, who had just announced her engagement.

As the hour for the toast drew nigh, the girl's sponsor approached a long table on which were placed 12 glasses of champagne, and carefully selected the third glass, then the sixth, ninth and twelfth.

"What are you going to do?" asked the bride's mother.

"Obvious," said the toastmaster, with a low bow. "I'm going to swallow the thirds to Victoria."

—CONSTITUENT.

I guess I will have to give "Constituent" an A for effort.

But much as it pains me to do so, I must point out neither of the above contributions are

(a) Spoonerized

or (b) puns.

I can just see William Archer Spooner (1844-1930) winning spildly in gris hayve at alleged spoonerized puns which fail to transpose the ACTUAL initial letters of the key words. Or should I say, wee curds?

The good Dr. Spooner, who started all this with the immortal "Kingering kongs their titles take" was, above all things, a purist in the spooneristic field.

What is worse, the contributions from "Constituent" are not puns. They are plays on words, an entirely different matter.

Come, come constituents. Rally 'round. We need a true spoonerized pun to commemorate the centennial year.

Time is a-wasting. Rush your contribution to the Times right away.

(But don't, of course, exspeed the seed limit.)

Irwin to Seek Federal Seat; To Quit as MLA

Tom Irwin, Speaker of the B.C. legislature, will resign his post as member for Delta constituency in order to represent the Social Credit party as candidate for Burnaby-Richmond in the federal election.

"But I won't do it until the last minute," he said here today. "I still have a responsibility to the people of Delta, and must discharge that obligation first."

"I don't have to file federal papers until about three weeks before the election, and that might not be until the fall," he said.

Mr. Irwin was nominated for the Burnaby-Richmond candidacy Friday night, but was not present. He sent his acceptance after a snowstorm delayed his arrival from Victoria.

He said that when he files his federal papers he must be free of other obligations, such as his present post.

Tax Rebate Deducted As Credit

Premier W. A. C. Bennett's promised $28 property tax relief to homeowners will be deducted as a credit from 1957 tax statements. The municipalities will be reimbursed with cash during the collection period.

Greater Victoria municipal leaders say they do not intend to use the gift as an excuse to raise taxes.

The new scheme will cost the province an estimated $7,500,000 this year.

Those who will receive the grant are owners of single housekeeping unit homes, owners of duplexes provided the owner lives in one unit, combined single family dwellings and business premises where the living quarters occupy 50 per cent or over of the floor space.

ONLY ONE

Each owner will receive a grant for only one residence.

If taxes are less than $28.99, the owner will still be required to pay $1. Throughout the province 267,000 homeowners will benefit.

Owners will receive their tax credits by filling in a certificate on the reverse side of taxation notices. The collector will decide eligibility. False application would bring a $50 fine.

The legislature gave first reading to the enabling act, to be known as the Provincial Homeowner Grant Act, at its session Friday.

Acting mayor of Victoria Ald. Arthur Dowell said the grant would be a great help to taxpayers here if council could not hold the mill rate for 1957 at the 1956 level.

"But I am optimistic there won't be an increase in the mill rate."

"We'll do everything possible to keep the mill rate down," said Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash.

"We certainly won't consider the tax refund when we are setting the mill rate," said Reeve F. E. Norris of Oak Bay.

400 Travel Agents Here in September

Plans for reception of 400 top travel agents from western United States, Hawaii, Mexico and the Pacific were formulated at a meeting in Empress Hotel today.

Here from Seattle to discuss the Sept. 15-18 convention with local vice-chairman C. E. Blaney Jr. are Charles B. West, conference chairman; George E. Hatch, general allied chairman, and George V. Wachtin, president of the Pacific Northwest chapter of the American Society of Travel Agents, which has a world-wide membership of 4,000.

"These are the people who plan tours and send visitors to us," Mr. Blaney told the Times. "The importance of this convention to Victoria and the Island is obvious."

BEAT HAWAII

Victoria, the first Canadian and Pacific Northwest site to be selected as an ASTA convention site, won out after a spirited bid from Hawaii and Mexico.

Both these countries will send special "convention parties" to entertain the visitors.

John Fisher will come from Toronto to be keynote speaker at opening sessions Monday, Sept. 15, in Empress Hotel.

A busy round of sales clinics, fishing, golf, and visits to Butchart's Gardens are scheduled. The Canadian Scottish will be invited to pipe guests off the Seattle boat Sept. 15, and a sunset ceremony is planned for the following day.

It is hoped that Gordon Wood, vice-president of TCA and president of the Canadian Travel Association, will be guest speaker at the wind-up banquet and dance Sept. 18. The Mexican party will entertain at this function.

Assisting local vice-chairman Blaney in making arrangements are Tom Sturgess, department of trade and industry; Wallace Courtney, Cy Porter, Harry Newton, Conway Parrott, Cyril Chapman and Charles Moore.

City Architect Named Judge In Big Contest

John H. Wade, senior partner of the Victoria architectural firm of Wade, Stockdill and Armour, has been appointed one of the judges in the forthcoming competition for the design of the Aluminum Company of Canada's multi-storied suburban sales office building to be built in the Greater Toronto area.

Total prize list offered to architects amounts to $12,000, with first prize of $6,000 going to the architect given the award by the six judges representative of the whole of Canada.

The other judges are Pierre Amos, Montreal; A. F. Duffus, Halifax; William R. Souter, Hamilton, Ont.; H. G. Moody, Winnipeg.

Decision of the judges will be given at Ottawa next June.

Hold-Up Suspect Shuns Jury Trial

Hearing Set For March 5

Trial by a judge of the County Court was elected by Victoria man, Colin W. L. Chalmers, 25, no fixed address, when he appeared in city police court today charged with armed robbery of $3,000 from Canadian Bank of Commerce James Bay branch Feb. 11.

Preliminary hearing on the charge will be heard in city court March 5.

Chalmers was arrested in Vancouver early Thursday and brought to Victoria late Friday after investigation by city detectives William Andrews and Norman Bath. They booked him at 1.30 a.m. today.

An earlier suspect, Barry Irwin Keele, 26, arrested and charged three days after the hold-up, was released from custody Friday after the armed robbery charge against him was dropped.

NO JURY

Chalmers, thin-faced and dark, was asked by the court how he elected to be tried—by a magistrate without a jury, by a judge without a jury or by a judge and jury.

"I don't want a jury, so I guess a judge . . ." he said.

FREED AFTER EIGHT DAYS IN JAIL as a bank robbery suspect, Barry Irwin Keele, 26, enjoys Times headline. His experience was laid to mistaken identity and another man has today been charged.

'DIDN'T TRY TO PROVE OR DISPROVE MY STORY'

Man Freed in Hold-Up Case May Sue for False Arrest

By PETE LOUDON

A young Saanich man who spent eight days in Victoria jail on an armed bank robbery charge, then was released for lack of evidence, may take legal action for false arrest.

Unemployed and ineligible for unemployment insurance, 26-year-old Barry Keele told the Times today:

"The fact I was accused won't help me get a job."

He added: "I will ask Mr. Grant if legal action can be taken in view of the apparent false arrest." (City lawyer Ronald Grant, out of town today, represented Keele in court.)

Barry Irwin Keele was arrested three days after the February 11 armed hold-up of the James Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. (Prior to his release, Colin W. L. Chalmers, 25, was arrested in Vancouver Thursday in connection with the same $3,000 robbery. He elected trial by a judge of the County Court when he appeared in city police court today.)

DARK FUTURE

Keele looks on the future darkly.

"Frankly, I have a police record dating back a few years. But I thought that when that was over I would have the same rights as any other citizen.

"I'll stay in Victoria if I can get a job, otherwise I'll get out."

He doesn't know where he'll go or what he'll work at. He lives now with his grandparents at 916 Tolmie but says they are not in position to help him much.

When he has a job, Keele works as a truck or "cat" driver. Recently, with a $25 loan he has been able to buy an old car and made a small profit wrecking it for sale of parts.

He knows why he was arrested—his record and the fact he left Victoria with a friend Bob Dovey, the day of the robbery. They went to Vancouver where Keele looked for work.

"We were on the 1.05 p.m. Mill Bay ferry and in Nanaimo by 2.30 (when the robbery occurred)."

"We stayed in Vancouver until Wednesday and arrived back in Victoria at 1 a.m. Thursday the 14th.

"Bob stopped where I live to let me out. He called me back for something. The first thing I knew policemen were around us with their hands under their coats. They frisked us. There were two Saanich constables and a Saanich detective."

He said the police had acted on private information.

"As far as I know they didn't make any attempt to prove or disprove our story."

He said they were delivered to Victoria police station and at 2.15 a.m. a line-up was held in the charge office.

"There was Bob and myself and six others. I don't know where they got them. We were rumpled and needed shaves.

"They brought in the bank manager, he walked straight up to me, shook his finger at me and said 'That's the man'. I pretty near dropped dead on the spot."

Keele said he had read of the robbery Wednesday in Vancouver and was stunned by the accusation.

"They put Dovey and me in separate cells. I was upstairs."

He recalled the cell contained an interlaced steel-band cot with no mattress and a toilet with no seat.

"I had four blankets. I put two under me and two on top, but I was still cold.

"All I could see was 20 years.

"I was trying to figure how it happened to me.

"I never slept that night at all."

"They brought breakfast but I couldn't eat it.

"There was no chance to wash up or shave before another line-up at nine o'clock and I guess I looked desperate.

"Five or six bank witnesses were led past us.

"One identified me for sure, one gave tentative identification and the others were blank."

Keele was led into court at 10 a.m. He was charged but reserved plea until he could get a lawyer. He was remanded until the next day. After Ronald Grant took the defence a plea of not guilty was entered and two more remands given. He was released Friday for lack of evidence.

"I heard someone else was picked up," he said.

The Times learned Keele's arrest was due to a case of mistaken identity.

Echoes of a Summer Love

Letter from Gus Ryder:

"Hope everyone weathering the old-fashioned type of winter—we've got it, too.

"Come March 1, Phyllis and I are heading for Florida in a new Olds 98, so should get there OK.

"Saturday night (tonight) a big night for all of us — Marilyn, Cliff and myself. We are getting a banquet at the Old Mill, given by a fellow named J. S. Vanderploeg, head of Anaconda Brass.

Keate

"Admiration trophy selected our Victoria swims as 'the outstanding performances of '56.' George Demaresq, president of the company, makes the presentations.

"Wish all you folks could be here for the party—Capt. Cavin, Jack Todd, the Elworthy's father and son; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morrow of the Charming Inn—that would really be a big award in itself—to see and talk with everyone again.

"That of course includes Mr. and Mrs. Cece Wyatt and the Victoria council for all their grand gifts.

"The painting and the plaque are the admiration of all.

"Cliff and Joan have a lovely baby girl. All three doing great.

"Our crippled and blind swimming work going along fine. Just last Saturday, passed a 100 per cent blind swimmer for his quarter-mile test, and on his own. Amazing progress.

"Marilyn is at McGill, likes it and is doing fine. She might take the summertime polio job—depends on her swimming commitments and the old training grind.

"We think a great deal of beautiful Victoria and have 'sold the West' to people who think of going overseas.

"We think it is beautiful and have many fond memories of the straits (cold water?), the city, mountains, homes, etc. — who knows, we may drive back that way from Florida.

"We're going to the heart of the baseball camps, so hope to see some games.

"Notice that your Victoria Cougars are doing real good which is a grand start for Colin Kilburn. Best of luck to him.

"Football here all snarled up, trying to oust the CRFU. My philosophy is: the more sport, the better. Keep it going. Once you erase a league, it's hard to bring it back.

"Many times a team will get beaten—but don't throw them out. The Yankee ball club has had a stranglehold for years but there is still a world series. My idea is mass sport, keep everyone playing. It makes a better and healthier nation.

"The very best to all—Les Fox and Mrs. Les, Frank and Ethel Mack, the Denny Boyds, my little sweetheart Kathy and my pal Richard.

"We will always remember your faith in us."

He will remain here to give the chief address at the dedication of the new church Sunday, March 3, at 5.15 p.m.

Colwood, Langford Ceremony Friday

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton will institute the Rev. John F. Page as vicar of Colwood and Langford and licence Rev. R. E. H. Howell as assistant priest at Christ Church Cathedral at Evensong Friday at 7.30 p.m.

Mr. Page was formerly assistant at St. Stephen's Church, Calgary. His parishes here will be St. John's, Colwood, and St. Matthew's, Langford.

The service will be held in the cathedral.

Victoria Delegates At Baha'i Meeting

Roland McGee and Mrs. A. L. Greenwood were Victoria delegates to a recent Baha'i provincial conference at Vancouver.

General theme of the conference was "The World Crisis and You." Mr. McGee was one of three speakers who presented the historical background of the present world situation.

COMPARATIVE RELIGIONS

No Moslem Dieties, Each a Missionary

Rev. Frank Hoffman, DD, has never forgotten one lesson he learned when he was in an army camp with Moslem forces during the First World War.

The Moslems, who pray five times daily, emphasize "very brief sermons," he said, "and it was a very wise thing."

Later Dr. Hoffman emigrated from Hungary to Canada and became a United Church minister. He practiced what the Moslems preached, limiting sermons to 10 or 15 minutes.

"When I found some good ladies sleeping, I would give the benediction," the retired minister told a "Comparative Religions" night class at Victoria College.

"Long sermons defeat themselves," he said. "If a sermon continues for half an hour, 50 per cent of the congregation will begin thinking about something else."

Islam, title of the Moslem religion, literally means "submission," Dr. Hoffman explained.

It is an unorganized religion, but "each single Moslem is a missionary of the faith."

The religion is based on the belief in predestination, where followers "do their best and the rest is up to God," he said.

"That is why the Moslems have always been such excellent soldiers. They believe that if thousands of bullets are swirling around them, they won't be hit unless it has been destined by God."

The daily prayers of Islam begin with the words, "In the name of the Merciful Father of All Mercies," but there are no images or deification in the faith.

Mohammed, the prophet of the Moslems, did not allow deification, Dr. Hoffman said. "He repeatedly told his people, 'I came from the dust and I will return to the dust'."

Mohammed lived "an ordinary commercial life" until his forties. Then he retired to meditate and fast and, since he was an epileptic he "often fell into trances."

During these trances he heard things which he spoke freely, Dr. Hoffman said. "The scribes listened, and wrote or memorized his words and later Omar compiled his teachings into the Koran."

Bible of the Moslems, the Koran was first translated into other languages in the 17th century.

Dr. Hoffman will continue his talk on Islam next week.

YOU SAID TO ME-

By ETHEL TULL

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "I sense from your writing that you are surrounded and enfolded in a most wonderful Love. Will you help me find it too?"

I shall try to give you my own personal experience which has led me to feel the enfolding love of God. From childhood, I had known that the way to God was through the Cross of Christ—repentance, and belief in His power to forgive sin and to keep me from sinning—yet I found myself committing the same sins over and over again. Then I met some people known at that time as the Oxford Group, and now as the Moral Rearmament movement, (MRA).

These people showed me that sin was anything that came between God and me, and between me and my fellow man, so the way to come nearer to God was to learn to recognize sin in myself, and in His power to conquer it.

I learned to go to God each morning and ask Him to show me where my life did not agree with the Absolutes of Christ—Absolute Honesty, Purity, Unselfishness, and Love—and day by day, as I listened in silence, I wrote down the thoughts that came to me. What a change God demanded of me! Pride had to go, and resentments, self-consciousness, selfishness, crookedness, lack of love. Apologies had to be made, and everything that I knew to be crooked, straightened out.

I am very slow to learn, but He has taught me through the years, and still teaches me in my quiet times. I know His love is all around me, and I will go on with my hand in His to ever new adventures on the good road where He rules and guides.

Married Women On Campus

Not all Victoria College students are "just-out-of-high-school" stock, for in the ranks of aspiring teachers, engineers, artists, musicians . . . are young married women. New interests, desires for new and more exciting ways of life have led many to go "back to the books" in order to achieve their new goals. In general, with the married group at the college, there is a different outlook towards studies and overall class work, many teachers have found. Some of the married women on campus are presented today . . . at their studies . . . at their work.

Mrs. Jacqueline Severn in first-year teacher training, became the bride of James Severn, RCN, last Thanksgiving. Homemaker and student, Jackie hopes to be teaching in Victoria next year, for her husband is stationed at Royal Roads. Jackie's college interests also include the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship.

Wedged in between her duties as assistant director of nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, Mrs. Ardena Simpson, RN, is taking chemistry towards her Bachelor of Science at Victoria College. Her dreams include a large university in Victoria so that people such as herself will be able to complete their degrees without having to take courses in small doses. A graduate of St. Boniface Hospital, Manitoba, she is at present the one most sought-after in St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Home, for she passes on to the girls their working and holiday schedules. Listening, with hopes of good news, is Miss Dorothy Doore.

Many hours in the library, searching for reference books and periodicals is the fate of all college students, and Mrs. Eila Rasi, a first-year teacher-training student, is no different. Thoughts are turning to exams which start in about eight weeks, so midnight oil will be burned by all. Eila, mother of nine-year-old Allan, attending Oaklands School, hasn't quite decided whether or not she will be teaching in Victoria or in her home town, Port Arthur, Ont. Her husband, Ernest Rasi, is, as she describes it, "quite good" about her spending the school year away from home, but comes June, and a happy family gathering will take place. Once this year is finished, it won't mean the end of studying, though, for Eila would like to get her degree.

Thoughts on studies or thoughts on the children? Mrs. Shirley Reagh, mother of five girls, pauses over her books and teacher-training work just long enough to chat briefly. Shirley, taking a teacher-training course, is finding psychology, one of her studies, quite a change from housework . . . and it's a change she loves. Her hope is for a one-room school somewhere so that she can teach her children until they're ready for high school. Her five girls are already familiar with their mother's methods of school teaching, for she likes to try out out dances and lessons on her children before presenting them in class. Eventually, this aspiring teacher would like to major in English and teach in high school.

Y-TEEN GROUPS TAKE OVER AT YWCA

Special Nuts and Bolts For Your Licence Plates

By PENNY SAVER

This is the time of year when the men-folk of the house come looking for bandages to "repair" fingers cut and scraped in the process of putting on new licence plates. Metal edges, sharp pieces of nuts and bolts and slipping screwdrivers knick fingers and fray nerves . . . at least, they did. Now the men can put on those licence plates with special fasteners, made by the blind. They have no rough edges and are easy to use. Rust-resistant, they come on cards for four for 35 cents.

Those of you who love unusual foods, that are fun to prepare as well as fun to eat, will be glad to see that a local store is carrying man-sized shish kebab skewers. Not small, narrow skewers like those used to skewer a chicken together, these popular ones are about 15 inches long, and have a round hook at one end so it's easy to hold, or to hang up. Made of stainless steel, the shafts are twisted to ensure that the food stays on. On the accompanying card are 12 recipes for various shish kebab dinners, and hints on cooking methods. If you haven't tried them before, you've really missed something.

A card of four costs $2.95. This is a good buy, for if you use smaller skewers, you need quite a few more, and if you use wooden ones, well, you have to throw them away and start all over again every time you make the kebabs. Wooden ones, for those of you who prefer them, may be bought at your meat market for about 15 cents dozen.

Such tiny pink pigs . . . they even have little flowers behind their ears! How feminine! You may think this a little strange, but you, too, will come under the charm of these little piglet salt and pepper shakers when you see them.

There are two sets of piglets, both a little different. Both sets are $1.25 each. Interesting and smile-getters, they'd make good bridge gifts or shower presents.

How to Treat Your Guests To Delightful Herbal Teas

By PATRICIA RAE

A short time ago I was given such a lovely cup of herb-tea; it immediately brought back memories of the delightful "tisanes" we used to make simply by picking a few leaves of this and that aromatic herb—infusing them in a specially reserved tiny "Brown Betty" teapot (metal must not be used for herb teas); leaving the pot in a warm place for ten minutes or so and then pouring them into the teacups through a strainer, the only addition being a little honey—if necessary—for sweetening. (Sometimes a thin slice of lemon is added, and the tea poured slowly over it to bring out the flavor; or, perhaps, a whole clove.) Cream and milk are taboo in herbal teas and, anyway, would curdle hideously in the first drop!

Perhaps you'd like to know a little about our favorite herb-teas:

1. LEMON-BALM TEA—Wash a handful of young lemon-balm leaves — pour one pint boiling water on about 1 oz. green herb. (One teaspoon dried lemon-balm leaves could be used in a small teapot in the same way, since the flavor of dried herbs is stronger than fresh herbs.) Wild-strawberry leaves are sometimes blended with balm.

The following herbs are well known as refreshing herb-teas and often mixed with balm in the greatest proportion: Bonset, camomile, sage, catnip, pennyroyal, hyssop, wormwood, yarrow, horehound.

2. MINT TEA is delicious—especially after a particularly rich, heavy meal! We used to pull a large head of Everlasting or Winter-mint for this. Peppermint, sage, lemon-thyme (a small handful of each, fresh), with a piece of fresh orange or lemon-rind make a good home-made cold cure or soothing nightcap.

3. HYSSOP-TEA — If we had no Chinese green tea in the pantry, we'd go to the front gate where there was always (evergreen) a border of pink hyssop. A few leaves of this herb, infused in boiling water, made a tasty tea, though much stronger-flavored than many of the other herbal teas.

4. ROSEMARY-TEA—This has a tangy, almondy flavor, but must be taken very weak and not allowed to stand too long. Some drink rosemary-tea for headaches or extreme fatigue. If you have any over, rinse your hair in the rosemary-tea and see how it is improved! I used to do up little packets of dried rosemary-flowers on the farm, specially for hair-rinses.

5. CAMOMILE-TEA is taken at night by the French, as a sleep-inducer. Though I grew a path of camomile in the garden, I have never tasted it as a "tea"; though many visitors to the farm told us their mothers or grandmothers used camomile-tea as a spring tonic! Strong mixtures of this amber liquid are often used as a rinse, to bring out the lights in the hair. (Sage-tea is used as a hair-dye as well.)

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When figure problems are due to fatty deposits or to poor muscle development, the situation can be improved with diet and exercise, but when bone structure is the cause it is a different story.

There are so many factors which enter into how much a woman should weigh and what her measurements should be. First there is inheritance. If you come from a family with a string-bean build, you are apt to be the same way. If your ancestors have a stocky, heavy frame, the chances are that you will have one, too.

Many women attempt to reach measurements impossible for them. You may not have an ounce of overweight on you, but if your build is stocky and heavy you fill not have a waistline perfect for your figure.

Speaking of inheritance many women say that overweight runs in their family. More often eating habits are inherited rather than overweight. And children usually carry the eating habits of their childhood through life with them. It is possible but not likely that the inherited glandular setup causes the overweight in your family, but more likely overweight is due to habits in eating.

Sometimes poor muscle development causes figure faults. For instance, a woman who is not bowlegged at all may appear so if she is thin and if the muscles of the upper inner leg are not well developed.

The degree of development of the chest muscles can make the bust measurement larger or smaller. Very large muscles in the thighs will make them look out of proportion, and so forth.

If you simply have too many pounds of fat, of course you will have to diet and count calories in order to lose them.

Most charts give average weights, not ideal weights. Most women gain as they grow older and this should be taken into consideration. Therefore, if you are looking at an average weight chart you will have to subtract from five to 10 pounds.

The best charts to use are those which list ideal weight and weights and heights for small, medium and large frames.

If you would like to have my calorie chart send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 36 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Annual Spring Frolic Planned

Fourth annual spring frolic of St. Margaret's Old Girls' Association will take place at Victoria Golf Club, Oak Bay, March 8, with Len Acres' Orchestra in attendance. ## Designers Are Concentrating on Lingerie; It's Soft and Feminine

Frills . . . flounces . . . froth . . . and fluff . . . lingerie by tradition has always given each and every woman the opportunity to indulge her desire for delicate and pretty possessions. In a year when designers have concentrated on the soft and feminine look in all ready-to-wear lingerie has been able to run the gamut.

With the advent of nylon the chore of ironing row upon row of lace has been eliminated. The thought of difficulty with laundering is no longer a factor . . . deep flounces of fine pleating return to place as if by magic after each sudsing. There is only one excuse for not choosing a frill or two and that is that you do not want to be feminine . . . about one gal in a thousand would truthfully make that statement.

Nona

Lingerie this season also allows your secret longing for gay shades to run riot. In the shops and offices many women are restricted to wearing dresses or suits of dark or relatively conservative shades. A real moral booster with that black or navy dress would be a "New Red" pettislip with lily of the valley lace at the hemline.

A gorgeous slip with all-over lace trim at the bodice and on the trumpet flared skirt is shown in "Blue Jade" which would be a perfect shade to wear with all tones of grey.

"Capri Coral" which has a delicate apricot tinge is Harvey Woods newest fall color and is the answer as a companion to the rich browns and beiges.

"Seafoam," a delightfully subtle green is of a tone that seems to enhance any other shade.

For a sheer black silk or an extremely fine dark wool dress there are black nylon slips and panties in many styles. White, always the most popular choice is available in all styles of the spring and summer collection.

A most popular feature of the Harvey Woods line is the co-ordination of lingerie pieces to form sets with such intriguing names as Magic Flute . . . Lily of the Valley . . . Pixie . . . Baby Flute . . . Sculptured Scallop . . . Romantic Lace . . . Rose Ruffle and Floral Contour.

A beautiful peignoir and gown ensemble designed by Harvey Woods is shown in bridal white nylon. The directoire design of the peignoir isan interesting new style feature of the "Baby Flute" set.

"Romantic Lace" is a high style set which is very lovely . . . the slip and petticoat have a ten-inch flounce of nylon lace edged with net.

In this group the gown has a wide waist and shirred bust section . . . the mandarin style negligee is all-nylon lace.

The peignoir and matching gown are coming out of the luxury class . . . from being a high priced, chiffon or satin luxury, difficult to launder and seldom worn, use of easily tubbed nylons has brought such glamour garments within the range of many more women.

"Lily of the Valley" derives its name from the lace trim, which has a dainty lily of the valley motif. In this set the slip is available in both average and tall lengths. The gown has a lace waist section, lace trim on the bodice and at the hem flounce.

The pyjama set have not been forgotten . . . there are classic tailored pyjamas, baby doll pyjamas and a high style set with a mandarin type top with slits at the side of the jacket and a high cut collar and matching toreador trousers.

If your Valentine box did not contain pretty lingerie how about putting in a word with the Easter Bunny.

New and necessary this season is the straight and narrow sheath slip. A member of the "Baby Flute" set this slip has lace edged slits in the hemline for easy motion.

"Baby Doll" is an abbreviated pyjama which is also part of the "Baby Flute" set and may be co-ordinated with the directoire peignoir.

FOR PARENTS ONLY

Being Parents Can Make Home Life So Exciting!

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Children are so different!" a mother complained.

"I never know what to expect."

"That's what makes home life exciting!" her friend answered.

* * *

If parents would accept at the time of a baby's birth the fact that all children differ, how much happier life would be! How much unnecessary sorrow arises from parents, especially mothers, wanting their child to be taller, or heavier, or brighter, or more friendly to others, than he is naturally? There is no one pattern for all children.

Nancy

In every home with several children, parents often notice how different they are. It is important to remember that youngsters have "feelings" which can be hurt. They are sensitive when they hear disparaging remarks about themselves, such as, "Tom is not nearly so clever at school as John," or "Jean is such a careless, untidy child—quite different from Mary who is neat as a pin about her clothes and play things," or "Billy is just naturally at home with strangers. He'll make up with anyone. But Helen is painfully shy. She runs and hides when I have visitors."

Put yourself in Tom's or Jean's or Helen's place—How would you like to know your mother held such a poor opinion of you?

Another mistake busy parents sometimes make is in failing to look for some one thing each child does well. He needs sufficient encouragement and praise so that he feels he is a success. Every person craves, not only the good opinion of others, but he also needs to think well of himself. "I'm not much good at anything," a teen-age girl remarked to a friend. That girl's mother should have helped her to find out what she was good at, so that she wouldn't have had such a poor estimation of her own ability.

In some homes a child may be good at something and be praised for his skill, and because praise is pleasant he wants that job always to be reserved for him. But unless there is a system of taking turns in work as well as in other things, the other children in the family get no practice at this particular thing. Dorothy may be a marvel at making pie but her younger sister Linda needs to try her hand at this too!

Boys and girls are made on a different plan. Serious harm to a child's normal sex development in later years may often be traced to a mother's disappointment in the arrival of a son when she wanted a daughter (or vice versa) resulting in her treating her boy like a litfle girl, overdressing him, keeping his hair long and "protecting" him from "those rough little boys in the neighborhood." A girl who is over-encouraged to be a "tom-boy" may also discover it hard in adolescence to find her place easily with oth. girls in the collegiate "gang."

The differences in children of about the same age can easily be observed at a birthday party. Of a dozen children eight years old some will be tall, others short; some fair, others dark. But the contrast in their social aptitude is also noticeable. Some children will be friendly and enter the group eagerly, with the expectation of having a good time. Others will be shy, retiring, uncertain whether or not this is going to be "fun."

When active or mental games are played the varying proficiency is again apparent. One child is quick of mind, with excellent muscle co-ordination; another is rather slow at a guessing game and a bit awkward in a motion demanding skill. In the physical, emotional and mental growth, the children will var in their development.

Parents must think not only of the immediate present but of the future when they accept their children as they are and show them that they love them and are proud of the ways in which they excel.

STOOPED . . . DROOPED AND POOPED

BY MAURICE HUMBER

"H-E-L-P," I shouted, "just don't stand there,"
("She" was running her hands through her hair),
While I straightened my back, from being all bent,
Swamped in an avalanche of onrushing ce-ment.
"You should have had things better planned,
And someone here to give you a hand."
"I KNOW . . . I KNOW . . . but it's too late now,
This stuff will set, and we'll need a plough."

So I waded back in this Ready-Mix slosh,
She ran in the house, screaming "Oh-My-Gosh"
And the man on the truck was sorta spell-bound,
His big round barrel went round and round.
So, a miniature shovel he grabbed from his truck,
And he too . . . charged into the muck.

"Your driveway," he said, "must be 45 feet,"
"To me," I gasped,
"it looks more like a street."
He helped all he could, then drove away,
From the biggest d——fool in the whole of Oak Bay.
The G.F. rushed out, blue jeans and gumboots,
There wasn't even time to light up cheroots.
'Cause out of a shingle I'd made a trowel,
She sank in the mix, and let out a howl.

While I collapsed, my spine had the weeps,
She was swirling the stuff in great big sweeps.
Delicately balanced on a 2 by 3,
When a neighbor passed by, and indignantly to me,
"Get up of that grass, up . . . up on your feet,
Just imagine letting your wife . . . LAY THAT CONCRETE."

Distinguished Patrons for Recital

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia Frank Mackenzie Ross and Mrs. Ross; Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, premier of British Columbia, and Mrs. Bennett and His Worship Mayor Percy B. Scurrah, mayor of Victoria, and Mrs. Scurah have consented to act as patrons when Mr. Boris Roubakine, leading member of the piano faculty of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, is heard in a private recital at the Art Gallery, Moss Street, Wednesday evening. The recital is sponsored by Victoria chapter of the Royal Conservatory of Music Alumni Association.

Invitations have been extended to representatives of the various music organizations in the city, the schools and music-teaching profession, as well as to a limited number of the music-supporting public.

Guests will be received by the president of Victoria chapter, Mr. C. H. Denike, and committee members, Mrs. John Gough, Mrs. E. R. Whittington and Misses Noel A. M. Smith and Helen Gibson.

An informal reception will be held at the gallery following the recital, when Mrs. Denike will be assisted by Mrs. G. F. Champion, Mrs. M. Chandler, Mrs. G. Warrack, Mrs. D. L. Gilbert, Mrs. C. Radcliffe and Miss Ruth Youngblood.

Parties for Patricia Champion

Miss Patricia Champion, whose marriage to Mr. Martin Salmon takes place the morning of March 2 in St. Andrew's Cathedral, was guest of honor recently when Mr. Salmon's sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Salmon, entertained at her home on Beckwith Avenue. Ten guests attended the recipe tea.

Miss Champion was also feted at a miscellaneous shower held by Miss Gail Scharbach at her home, 821 Ralph Street, where a pink and white decorated basket held many gifts for the popular bride-to-be. A corsage of red roses was presented to Miss Champion. Other guests were Mrs. William Champion, Mrs. E. Scharbach, Misses Dorothy Doore, Lorraine Edwards, Maxine Herbert, June Andrews, Pat Sweeney, Frances Magee, Joan Zanichelli, Dolores Stuart, Dorothy Tubman, Theresa Duncan, and Kathleen Caldwell.

Mrs. T. W. James was hostess at a kitchen shower at her home on May Street when Miss Champion was again honored by her friends. A corsage of pink rosebuds was presented to the honor guest, while her mother, Mrs. W. Champion and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. D. Salmon, received pink and white carnation corsages. A pink and white motif was used in the decorations of the rooms. Among the guests were Mrs. D. Yard, Mrs. D. Munro, Mrs. H. Champion, Mrs. B. Maynard, Mrs. R. Monaghan, Mrs. S. Howard, Mrs. P. Woolridge, Mrs. J. J. Hickey, Mrs. P. Salmon, Mrs. P. Boyce, Mrs. W. Dennis and Miss Phyllis Monaghan.

COLORFUL EVENT

Admiral and Mrs. Pullen Crowned to Reign At Junior League's Gay Mardi Gras Ball

Balloons showered on masked guests in true Mardi Gras tradition, Friday evening in the Empress Hotel Crystal Ballroom, when the Solarium Junior League presented its first Mardis Gras Benefit Ball, an evening sparkling with gaiety and fun.

Climax of the evening was crowning of the Mardis Gras king and queen, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, RCN, and Mrs. Pullen, by Hon. Eric Martin, minister of health and welfare. Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Pullen were selected to reign for the year by a panel of four judges, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Mrs. Dorothy Wrotnowski, Courtney Haddock and Stickney Harris.

Mrs. Bob Carrier presented the monarchs with gifts and the queen with a colonial bouquet. The gracious king and queen then led a procession down the red-carpeted ballroom to the dining room, where a midnight supper was served. They were flanked by a guard of honor in Mardi Gras costumes with comical papier mache heads.

The dance was officially opened at 10 p.m. with a grand march to the skirl of two pipers playing "Scotland the Brave." Music for dancing was provided by Bert Zala's Orchestra and master of ceremonies was Hugh Curtis.

Colorful paper flowers and balloons decorated the ballroom, the adjoining palm room and the Georgian lounge, where cocktails were served.

Guests were delighted with entertainment which included a daring fire-eater, Chinese dragon dance, and exhibition of ballroom dancing by the Barclay Studio.

Mrs. Peggy Walton Packard drew admiring spectators as she did quick sketches of many of the guests. There were comical paintings of clown figures and dancing girls behind which guests had their pictures taken.

Women United in Day of Prayer

On Friday, March 8, the women of 142 countries of the world will unite in a fellowship of prayer. The service to be used was prepared by Serena Vassay, formerly of Hungary, with the thought in mind of the women behind the Iron Curtain. The theme is entitled "Who shall separate us?" (Romans 8:35), and the service has been adapted for use in Canada by a committee of the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada. Services in Victoria will be held as follows: at St. John's Anglican Church, at 2 o'clock, led by Mrs. B. P. Harding, assisted by others, with Rev. Laura E. Butler, as speaker. Also at the same time a service will be held at the Aged Women's Home, McClure St., with Mrs. C. Millard leading the service and Mrs. Louise Miller as speaker. Another afternoon service will be held at 2 p.m. at the Esquimalt United Church, Admirals Road, with Mrs. H. John presiding, assisted by Mrs. R. M. Robertson, Mrs. Senior Capt. Frayn, Mrs. E. J. Bent, Mrs. J. A. Roberts, Mrs. C. Filewod and Mrs. J. C. McClernahan.

In the evening a special service will be held for women of evening auxiliaries and mission circles, at St. John's Church at 8 o'clock. Mrs. H. Pells will lead the services assisted by others, and the speaker will be Mrs. C. B. Smith. Co-operating churches include Anglican, Baptist, Lutheran, Foursquare, Reformed Episcopal, Church of the Nazarene, Free Methodist, Missionary Alliance, Pentecostal, Presbyterian, Salvation Army, United Church. All women are invited to attend any of the services as listed. Further information may be obtained from the local secretary, Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, 3-5248.

Junior IODE Chapter's First Annual Meeting

Holding its first annual meeting, the newly-formed Junior Oak Leaf Chapter, IODE, re-elected Mrs. W. R. Freethy as regent, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. R. T. Mair, 622 Barton Street.

Other officers elected are Miss Anne Downard, first vice-regent; Miss Brenda Rogers, second; Miss Glenda Gordon, secretary; Miss Joy Elliott, treasurer; Miss Diane Williston, services at home and abroad; Miss Helen Marmo, education; Miss Jean MacKay, "Echoes" secretary; Miss Sharon MacKay, standard bearer, and Miss Diane Freethy, assistant secretary.

Reporting on the year's activities, Miss Diane Freethy, secretary, recalled a garden party, a picnic, apron sale and Christmas party. Members served at Municipal Chapter bursary tea and helped with the fish pond at the Protestant Orphanage holly bazaar. Dr. Clifford Carl of the Provincial Museum entertained the chapter with an evening of films.

Treasurer, Miss Sharon MacKay, announced that receipts for the year totalled $146.60 and disbursements, $56.60.

Educational secretary, Miss Helen Marmo, said that games and candy had been sent to the chapter's adopted school at Gillis Bay, Texada Island. Services at home and abroad convener, Miss Nadine Watson, reported that the chapter assisted the Veterans' Hospital chapel fund, sent nursery bags, clothing and socks to Korean children and staged puppet shows for the aged.

Other reports were given by Miss Sue Morgan, standard bearer; Miss Jean MacKay, Echoes secretary; Miss Nan Dufour, empire and world affairs; Miss Elizabeth Barker, films; Miss Joy Elliott, publicity, and Miss Anne Downard, membership.

Guests at the meeting, which followed a sit-down turkey dinner, were Mrs. T. Lumsden, honorary regent of the chapter; Mrs. A. Warren Smith, regent of Municipal Chapter; Mrs. J. L. Gates, Miss Christine MacNab, Mrs. R. Hadfield, Mrs. R. Rogers, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Mrs. H. N. Parrott, Mrs. V. A. Downard, Mrs. D. W. Barker and Mrs. L. D. Hall.

The chapter was presented with a "birthday box" which had belonged to Thunderbird Chapter.

St. Mark's WA and Guild meeting, Tuesday at 2 p.m., in Parish Hall.

WOMAN MLA FORECASTS WORLD OF 1972

REGINA (CP)—One of the two female members in the Saskatchewan legislature forecast Friday how women are going to seize control of the House.

"In the last election we increased our representation by 100 per cent," said Mrs. Marporie Cooper (CCF-Regina), "and if we can keep up this record by 1972 we will be in the majority."

Then, the first legislation to be passed would give two weeks annual vacation, eight statutory holidays and an eight-hour day with pay to all housewives.

"And then our seats will be secure," she smiled.

Opposition Should Support, Criticize and Also Suggest

Victoria Liberal MLA George Gregory said yesterday that the time to put forward a strong Liberal platform will be in the months before the next election.

Speaking to members of the Lady Laurier Club of Oak Bay at its annual luncheon meeting in Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Mr. Gregory said that for the present the work of Opposition members in the House is "to support the government in those measures that are for the good of the province; to criticize when the government is not acting in the best interests of the province and to follow up this criticism with constructive suggestions."

At a meeting following the luncheon, Mrs. Thomas Lumsden was named president for the coming year. Other officers are Mrs. H. Menzies, first vice-president; Mrs. A. B. McNeill, second; Mrs. E. G. Clayards, secretary; Mrs. H. H. Hollins, treasurer, and Mrs. R. H. Craig and Mrs. B. A. Smith, directors. Also on the executive are two other directors, Mrs. C. C. Annett and Mrs. R. Morrison.

Honorary president is Mrs. Archie Gibbs and honorary vice-presidents Mrs. George Gregory and Mrs. F. T. Fairey.

Mrs. J. L. Gates, past president of the Liberal Association of British Columbia and vice-president of the Liberal Association of Victoria, installed the officers.

Mrs. H. Johnston, retiring president, presided at the luncheon and the meeting. In her treasurer's report Mrs. Hollins showed receipts as $337.43, disbursements $467.07, and balance $85.67. Disbursements included a scholarship of $100 presented to an Oak Bay high school student.

Eight new members were received during the year, said membership chairman Mrs. H. Beckwith, bringing total membership to 68. Other reports were given by Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Lumsden, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Menzies and Mrs. Annett.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

If soil has been workable during past week, planting may go ahead with trees, shrubs and roses as they become available from the nurseries.

Sweet peas may be sown outdoors in well prepared place.

Seed of hardy annual flowers may be sown indoors for setting out early: larkspur, calendula (pot marigold), stock, godetia and clarkia.

Plants of Helleborus niger (Christmas-rose) which have finished blooming may be lifted and divided if necessary. Use bonemeal and rotted compost in replanting.

Sow seed indoors of perennials to flower late this summer: gaillardia, delphinium, penstemon.

Pot some of the early flowering dwarf gladioli. They can be transferred later to the garden to flower during June.

Cultivate around gooseberry bushes, and work in some bonemeal.

Remove from berry fruits the canes which bore last year.

Sow parsnips and salsify outdoors if soil is light and in a sheltered position.

Seed of lettuce and radishes may be sown in a shallow cold frame facing south. Keep glass on except for airing on quiet days.

A quart of milk costs about 10 cents for the milk and 12¼ cents for pasteurizing, homogenizing, bottling, cooling and delivery.

Liquid-type insecticides shoul be stored where the temperature stays above freezing.

Prefinished Plywood Panels

Hardwood plywood wall paneling is available pre-finished in three favored panel styles. One is a standard 4x8-foot panel grooved vertically at intervals for a random-plank effect. Another is a 16-inch by 8-foot panel which provides a more formal regularly-spaced plank effect. The third uses random width plywood panels, ranging from four to 16 inches, and a special "clip" installation system. The factory finishes on all three styles are easy to maintain. Naturally, the pre-finished panels are priced higher than unfinished panels, but many home-owners prefer them in order to avoid the finishing stage.

BEASTALL ADVISES

That Early Spring Garden Fever Has Scope in Soil Preparation

By JACK BEASTALL

Did you get that spring gardening urge last weekend? So did I. In fact, it happens in the mild spell of every February. One cannot resist the call of the soil although we know it will be another two months before gardening starts in earnest.

The exceptions are those fortunate in having a sandy or gravelly soil, which is essentially a spring soil. Drainage in these soils is rapid, and the rock particles of which they are composed collect and hold the sun's increasing warmth.

Jack Beastall

While difficult to handle during the heat of summer, a sandy soil is ideal for early crops of peas, carrots, beets, spinach, potatoes, lettuce and radish. These may be sown as soon as the latest frost date for the district has passed, or earlier if cloches or some form of protection is used.

It is a different story when the garden is clay or clay loam. The clays retain water and are cold and wet in the spring, but will support plant growth throughout the summer.

HASTEN DRYING

Such soils are not conducive to early cropping unless a small area has been prepared by raising above the general level or by the provision of adequate drainage.

However, we who have heavy soil can do a little work during the favorable weather that will hasten the drying out process.

We know that when moisture leaves the soil, the space it occupied is filled by air, and the reason clay soils are slow to dry is because air cannot penetrate the closely packed grains. Anything we can do to loosen such a soil will be of benefit.

Since walking on a wet clay makes conditions worse, the first requisite is some lengths of shiplap. Planks are not recommended because their weight alone has a compressing action. Shiplap is easier to handle and extra boards can be laid without setting foot on the soil.

LET AIR IN

Next we need a cultivator, and I know of nothing better than the manure drag. It has round tines like a manure fork but they are bent at right angles to the handle. With this tool all vacant ground can be worked over to permit the entrance of air.

This is the work I started last weekend, and have continued through the week; it is really surprising how quickly the roughened surface dries out and the lower soil improves.

Lacking a manure drag, a long-handled digging fork may be used. Keep the handle low to the soil and push the tines just under the surface, then raise the handle to free the tines and break the surface. Don't attempt straight digging until there is less moisture in the soil.

There are several benefits from doing this work now. There is the mental satisfaction of getting something started in the garden, and the physical benefits of working in the open air and sunshine; the work is not too strenuous for winter lazy muscles; it prevents that baking and cracking of the soil later in the season, reduces the number of weeds, and hastens plant growth.

Many Sources Evolved New Lamp Designs

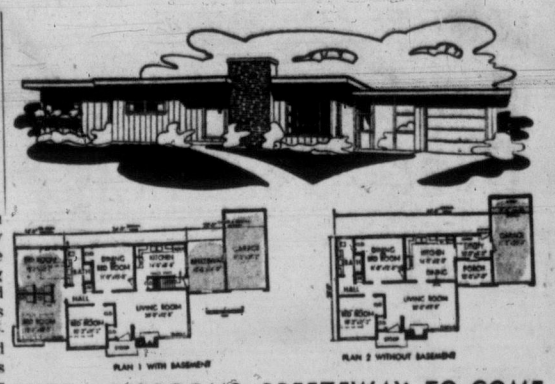
In an era of rising design levels, lamps have taken on new life and a fresh outlook, note the fashion editors of Retailing Daily. No longer preoccupied with periods, per se, designers have dipped into a vast storehouse of source materials and have flavored their collections with freely adapted style motifs from other lands.

The results are designs notable for their esthetically pleasing qualities and distinguished for their color and richness and for their lavish use of many materials.

This elegant materials story, plus an increasing array of pedestal bases, French provincial and 18th century styled legs and claw feet, reflects an industry that is both more design-conscious and more closely in tune with trends set by furniture producers.

And to complete the picture, complementing these richly detailed and more handcrafted bases, are the non-drum shaped decorator styled shades that have a hand-sewn look and are alive with elaborate trim and textured interest.

All in all, the general trend lies in the direction of taller, more impressive-looking lamps, veritable objets d'art, designed to dramatize their vital role in the home.



EXTRA BEDROOMS, BREEZEWAY TO COME

This smart flat-top home in its original design contains large living room, kitchen and two bedrooms or one bedroom and dining room. The extensions of two bedrooms, breezeway and garage are shown in the shaded portions of the plan. The large chimney and picture window add to the pleasing effect of the extensions. Another opportunity to build as you go. Write The Loder Co., Edmonton, for plans.

Annual Maintenance Safeguards Fences

When spring rains have subsided and dry weather prevails that's the time to look to your garden or boundary fences for signs of winter damage, and to repair them.

Wind, rain and frost punish fences so severely that annual maintenance is a must. Neglect invites deterioration in the form of rust, rot and decay, which can only lead to eventual wholesale replacement of a fence line.

Protective coatings have to be renewed at regular intervals—paint, generally every third year; stain, as often as every other year.

Fence posts need to be aligned and straightened yearly. Frost action, wind pressure and unstable soil work in combination to loosen posts, causing them to lean or topple.

USE JACK

Often an automobile bumper jack can be employed to straighten a fence post which cannot be pulled erect by hand. Brace the jack base against a 2x4 stake driven into the ground near the post and place a piece of scrap wood between the jack's lifting flange and post. Then rackrack out the jack and use a spirit level to tell when the post is plumb. Tamp crushed stone and soil around its base.

IN CONCRETE

Where unstable soil contributes to fence toppling it's a good idea to pour a concrete collar around the post at ground level. Dig around the post to a depth of about 12 inches, making the hole larger at the bottom than at grade level. Coat the exposed lower portion of the post with roofing asphalt to a height about two inches above ground, then pour the concrete collar.

If wind pressure seems to be the chief offender, it may be necessary to brace the fence with boards or guy wires. One attractive way of bracing a wind-blown fence is to erect smaller fences at right angles, but attached to the main fence.

OPEN JOINTS

Nails holding rails or pickets are likely to work loose when fence posts wander out of position. Result: wood joints open up and water trapped in them brings on rot. The open joints should be saturated with a wood preservative—pentachlorophenol or zinc naphthenate. Then the nails should be redriven or, if rusted, replaced with non-rusting aluminum or galvanized nails.

Rot is, of course the greatest threat to a wooden fence. Dig away soil at the ground line around posts and look for decay there. If minor, the decay can be halted temporarily at least—by clearing away the bad wood and soaking the affected part with a wood preservative.

On the other hand, if decay is severe you can either attempt to repair the post or get a new one. For a sound repair, cut off the post just above the ground level and splice on a new base.

You can butt the parts together, end to end, and join them by bolting steel "splints" to opposite sides of the joint. the splints should be eight to 10-inch plates of ¼-inch steel. Or, you can lap cut the ends of both pieces and fasten them together with bolts through the half-lap joint.

Treat the new end of the post with wood preservative before resetting it. This is accomplished by letting the post stand 24 hours or longer in a bucket filled with preservative solution. The solution should completely cover the spliced joint.

What to Do With Potted Azaleas After Flowering

By JACK BEASTALL

Q. A potted azalea which I received during January is losing some leaves now, although it is still flowering. What is the cause, and should I plant it outdoors when warmer weather comes? Mrs. E.A., Cadboro Bay.

A. Although the potted azaleas are termed evergreen (usually they are varieties of Azalea indica, or, more correctly, Rhododendron indicum, since azaleas are all rhododendrons), they drop their leaves gradually during and after flowering, at the same time as new growth is taking place. Do not allow the plant to dry out.

When flowering is over repot into one size larger pot, using mixed peat moss and compost. New shoots will grow which will produce flowers next winter. Keep in partial shade during summer and do not plant out into garden. Use only an acid mix fertilizer.

Q. Do you think most wallflowers have been damaged during the winter frosts? J.K., Saanichton.

A. Wallflowers which were not completely covered by snow during the week-long low temperatures in many of our outlying districts look in rather poor shape now for blooming. Others in higher temperature areas appear quite unharmed.

Q—What varieties of grapes can be grown outdoors on southern Vancouver Island?

A—In districts where winter protection is not necessary the following varieties are recommended:

Black fruited: Concord, Campbell Early, Patricia, Freedonia.

Red: Agawam, Delaware, Brighton.

White: Niagara, Portland, Seneca, Ontario.

Around Victoria there are many Campbell Early and Niagara vines producing good crops.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—Every flashlight I've ever had eventually gives a dim or flickering light, despite installation of new batteries. Why? —T.P.

A—Corrosion. Like all metal, flashlight parts are subject to corrosion; doubly so because there is an electronic as well as an atmospheric factor involved. Clean all points of contact in the flashlight, by light scouring with emery paper, including base of lamp, ends and caps of batteries and spring in bottom of case. Also, stretch this spring a bit. Chances are, your oldest flashlight will work like new.

Glue Is Best Friend For Wobbling Chairs

Don't junk that wobbly chair. A little glue will go a long way toward putting it back on its own feet, minus the characteristic drunken sway.

Loose legs and rungs top the list of common chair ills, and the repair is just as routine.

First, remove the offending rung and clean off the old, dried glue from both the peg end of the rung and the peg hole in the leg. You can manage this by scraping with an old knife blade followed by a deft touch with fine sandpaper.

Test fit the rung in its hole. If the fit is sloppy, there are two methods of tightening it.

One is to apply glue to the peg end of the rung and the hole, then cut a small square of old nylon stocking and hold it over the end while forcing the rung back into its niche. The fabric will take up any slack in the joint.

USE WEDGE

The other way is to saw a slit in the end of the rung and put in a thin, wedge-shaped piece of wood. When rung and leg are reassembled, the wedge will expand the peg end of the rung and glue will seal the joint.

The glue to use for chair repairs is the kind that makes a strong bond even if there are cracks and gaps in the joint. Good gap-filling cements are resorcinol resin, powdered casein and liquid animal glues.

Glue joints will be stronger if kept firmly clamped while glue dries. A tourniquet-type of clamp is easy to improvise with a piece of rope looped around chair legs and tied. The tourniquet is tightened by twisting it with a stick.

Sometimes chair rungs break near their peg ends, and this ailment's cure calls for different treatment.

CAREFUL DRILL

If the peg end remains firmly stuck in the hole, put glue on the broken ends and clamp them together. The next step, after the glue has dried, is to bore a hole from the outside of the leg and into the rung, going beyond the break.

Drilling must be delicately done. Unless aimed perfectly, the drill is liable to come sailing through the side of the rung at an angle. Have someone stand off to one side to make sure the drill is held in line with the rung.

Use an eyedropper to apply glue in the bored hole, and then drive a dowell of equal diameter into the hole. Cut off the protruding end of the dowel when glue has hardened and sand it down flush with the surface of the leg.

Wooden chairs with upholstered seats sometimes loosen up at the corners of seat framework. If the corners have triangular-shaped blocks on the inside for reinforcement, they may have to be reglued.

Wooden seats of some chairs consist of several boards edge-glued together. If the boards come apart, scrape the joints clean of old glue or dirt, apply new glue and clamp. To get at the joints better, you can use small wooden wedges to spread them.

Fish Expert Heads Resources Parley

Dr. J. C. Stevenson, assistant director at the Pacific Biological Station at Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, was elected here Friday as president of the next B.C. Natural Resources Conference.

The election took place during the closing session of the 10th annual conference, held at the Empress Hotel.

Other officers are L. K. Turner, Westcoast Transmission Co., Vancouver, vice-president; R. J. Nation, Ismay Boiston Dunn & Co., Victoria, treasurer, and Dr. D. B. Turner, director of conservation, B.C. Lands Service, Victoria, secretary.

Executive members and their committees are Prof. P. Clarke, UBC, soil; A. F. Paget, B.C. water comptroller, Victoria, water; W. R. Foster, B.C. plant pathologist, Victoria, agriculture; E. L. Harrison, vice-president, B.C. Packers, Ltd., Vancouver, fisheries; Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy forest minister, Victoria, forestry; Prof. L. G. R. Crouch, UBC, mining; H. H. Griffin, B.C. Power Commission, Victoria, power and energy; Arnold Webster, Vancouver parks board, recreation; Ed Meade, Vancouver Province fish and game editor, wild life; J. K. Friesen, director, UBC extension department, people; G. D. Bishop, B.C. trade and industry department, Victoria, economics; Norman Hansen, CBC farm and fisheries department, Vancouver, publicity.

Embraces All Aspects of Economy

Papers on regional development were given by Charles L. Hamman, assistant director of economic research, and Patrick M. Dowling, Pacific Northwest office manager, both of Stanford Research Institute in California.

Mr. Hamman said the concept of regional development embraces all aspects of economy within an area, and fits all development planning into a framework where interaction can be seen and evaluated.

Inhibiting factors are specialized interests of business, diverging views of various professions, disparity between economic and political boundaries, and "growing pains at the community level."

"Boards of trade, chambers of commerce, and planning commissions usually are local in support and activity," he said. "Local pride and a desire to promote the city or town is often incompatible with the regional development concept."

Regional development can, however, speed natural development by eliminating economic road blocks, seek the right kind of industry and locate it in the right places, help communities develop properly, and anticipate development needs in advance.

Mr. Dowling said research into regional development covers such subjects as why regions grow, regional development activities, plant location, development of depressed local areas, and attitudes and social needs of a region's people.

Past, Present, Future of Mining

The mining section of the conference drew three sepakers who reviewed the past, present, and future of the industry with Stuart Keate, Victoria Times publisher, acting as moderator for the discussion period.

Prof. L. G. R. Crouch, professor of mining at UBC, said the B.C. mining industry is attracting its share of new capital, "with consequences that disturb some people."

Representatives of American, English, French, German, Belgian and other companies are looking for mineral deposits to invest in, he said, and are being successful in finding them.

"Large amounts of capital are required to bring mines into production — anywhere from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000 for a fairly big mine with treatment facilities, and most of them find it necessary to go outside the country for a good part of this capital," he said.

In 1955, he said, minerals valued at $174,700,000 were produced in B.C., thus bringing the total mineral wealth produced in the province from its beginning to $3.5 billion.

The industry regularly employs from 10,000 to 14,000 persons, he said.

IRON, STEEL UP

W. M. Armstrong, UBC professor of metallurgy, told delegates the consumption of iron and steel in B.C. has increased by about 50 per cent since 1946, but shows no regular or predictable growth pattern.

The market has never exceeded 230,000 tons in one year, he said, and steel foundaries have generally remained small and are dependent largely on non-repetitive jobbing work. Most important B.C. consumers of rolled iron and steel products are manufacturers of machinery, bridge and structural fabricators, wire and wire products, sheet metal fabricators and foundaries.

"In 1956 there were over 350 firms of this type in B.C.," he said.

Construction of a primary aluminum smelter in B.C. has stimulated use of the metal in the province, he said. Present investigations indicate that aluminum may replace tin plate for many container applications, and aluminum cans have been used successfully for beer and for oily products. This latter development may lead to a rolling mill for aluminum sheet and strip in B.C., Prof. Armstrong said.

NATURAL GAS

Utilization of natural gas and natural gas liquids as raw materials for the growing petrochemical industry was discussed in a paper prepared by C. L. Hetherington, Westcoast Transmission Co., Calgary, and delivered by Kenneth Milne of Pacific Petroleums.

Natural gas, he said, is used in the manufacture of methanol, ammonia and carbon black, the latter being used almost exclusively by the rubber industry, where it is mixed with crude rubber to give it wear resistance.

Liquid petroleum gases, or propane and butane, are used in the manufacture of ethylene, propylene, butylene and butadiene.

Some of the end products of processes using these materials, he said, are anti-freeze, dacron, "plexiglass," synthetic rubber, rayon, anti-knock additives for gasoline, paints, detergents and nylon.

Natural gasoline is a source for synthetic rubber, plastics, dyes and explosives, he said.

$58 MILLION DUE FROM RESOURCES TAX

Taxes, royalties and licences connected with natural resources will amount to about $58,600,000 during the coming fiscal year, government estimates tabled in the legislature showed Friday.

The estimated total is nearly $10,000,000 higher than last year.

More than $32,000,000 of the estimated total will come from the logging industry alone.

Pioneer City Architect, Col. Ridgway-Wilson, Dies

Prominent city architect in the early part of the century, Col. William Ridgeway-Wilson died at the age of 94 in Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday night.

Resident here for 70 years, Col. Ridgeway-Wilson was architect of the present St. John's Anglican Church, the original Lampson Street School, South Park and Victoria West schools, Wilkinson Road Mental Home and the Bay Street Armory. He maintained his own firm until the early 1940s.

He was born in China and left for England with his family as a young man. Col Ridgeway-Wilson earned his rank as an internment officer for B.C. during the First World War.

Surviving are three sons, Basil and Dan in Victoria, and Percy in West Vancouver; one daughter, Mrs. E. G. Mellander, Victoria, and six grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his wife Flora Alexandra in 1939.

Funeral cortege will leave Hayward's Funeral Home Monday at 1.15 p.m., for a service in St. John's Church, where Canon George Biddle will officiate. Interment will be in the family plot at Colwood Burial Park.

Parkdale Church Goes Independent; Storey to Stay

Constructed in 1940 as a Sunday School Parkdale Church, at the corner of Harriet Road and Bute Street, has been organized as an independent evangelical church.

Rev. J. E. Storey, who has been conducting Sunday morning church services at Parkdale for the past two years, was appointed pastor at the recent annual meeting.

Members of the church council are Sunday School superintendent James Stewart, Alfred Dash, Douglas Craig, Thomas Sawyer and honorary member, Herbert Bracken.

Pension Boost Predicted By Bennett

Old-age pensioners will soon get an increase in the $40 pension now paid by the federal government, Premier Bennett predicted Friday after his budget speech.

The premier said he had "no doubt" Ottawa would soon increase the basic pension, although British Columbia will not increase the $20 pension bonus it pays now.

"We cannot go any higher," the premier told reporters. "We are already paying the highest pension bonus of any province in Canada.

Both CCF and Social Credit members in the legislature have urged that the provincial bonus be increased from $20 to $30, making a total pension of $70 monthly.

New Look, Greater Livability Through Plywood Craftsmanship

With the breath of spring in the air, home modernizing in many parts of the nation now becomes an "inside" story. Gardening, house painting and fence fixing must be done for the year, but home owners are also turning their sights inward.

A major project is finish-fall and winter months is finishing an incomplete attic or basement to expand the livability and dollar value of the home.

Hardwood plywood is a good choice for a material in finishing off either area for a number of reasons. First, of course, is the incomparable beauty of hardwood and its availability in strong plywood form at reasonable cost.

EASY ON WORK

There is a work-saving bonus for the homemaker, too. Usually adding to the living area of a home means more housework, but hardwood plywood needs only an occasional wiping with a wax cloth to maintain its sparkling beauty.

A typical way to finish an attic is to partition off two bedrooms, a bathroom and a hall area. Hardwood plywood wall paneling, ¼-inch thick, can be used perhaps a different species in each room.

The niches and odd areas created by attic dormers and knee walls provide good opportunities for imaginative built-ins —bookshelves, desk, bureau, vanity, window seat, train table. These are usually made of ¾-inch thick plywood.

CADETS PARADE

Ship's company of RCSCC Rainbow will parade to St. Aidan's Church, Cedar Hill Cross Road, Sunday at 11 a.m.

Minister of St. Aidan's is Rainbow padre Rev. I. Avery.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

Since this seems to be the week for getting South into trouble let's finish with a lallapaloosa.

Take a look at all four hands. If you can see how South managed to go down at three no-trump you are an expert.

Opening lead—♠6

Now for the sad story. West didn't think much of his heart suit because South had bid it and the four clubs to the jack looked most unattractive. Accordingly he decided to try to hit his partner's suit and opened the six of spades.

While South was taking time out to study the dummy East went through some rapid mental gymnastics and decided that his partner had opened the top of a short suit. He also noted that declarer could not know this and therefore East played the 10 of spades.

Now it was South's time for real study. The lead could have been top of a doubleton but it looked much more like the fourth best from a suit headed by ace-jack. In that case it would be necessary for South to duck that particular trick to guard against East getting in with the king of diamonds and leading through South's remaining spade honor.

South ducked whereupon East laid down the ace of spades, dropping South's queen, and cleared the suit with a third lear. When South lost the diamond finesse East was waiting with two good spades to set the contract.

31A POULTRY, HATCHING EGGS, ETC.

Kimberchiks Have a Record for Outstanding Performance
During the five years ending with 1955, Kimberchiks entered in the California Official Random Sample Laying Test averaged:
250 eggs per bird, based on the number of pullets at one week of age.
91.9% livability to about 18 months.
$5.58 income over feed costs.
Although this five-year record indicates very fine breeding, the real worth of Kimberchiks is how they perform on commercial poultry farms.
Because of their large early egg size, high production and good livability, Kimberchiks may well be the answer to more profitable operation for you. That's why we suggest you start some K-137 Kimberchiks and compare them under your own farm conditions with the birds you have previously raised. For available dates and further information, write to

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

MONDAY, FEB. 25, 1957

"The Stars impell . . . They do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to you."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Doing your job in a manner that brings you greater security is today's main influence for you. Seek important co-workers who have good judgment and get their ideas about specific suggestions re work at office, home, with budget, etc.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—You are all steamed up to put your creative ideas into effect and to have a jolly good time as well. Both are yours today. Just schedule your time intelligently so you waste not a moment and you can get the results you want. Be happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—All the little details that you have to do alone, in laboratory, den, or your own special niche, are quickly disposed of just by pitching in and doing them. Tonight excellent for relaxing, entertaining, otherwise enjoying yourself at home.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you can get out early, see those business or personal contacts, and get all those errands completed. You can acquire the data you need as well as find accessories, make sales or purchases and arrive at right deals with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Forget the outside world and concentrate your attention upon finances and getting an abundance, and to spare, for all your needs. A right system does it. Good for whatever has to do with the throat, sound, or recordings as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—This is your day to get all dolled up in your best apparel and go see newcomers, places or interests that can be your outlet for the future. Fine for whatever has to do with showing others you value their good will and appreciate devotion.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Influential friends of good judgment, background or ideas will release to you now the suggestions that will help you get your affairs in better shape at home, as well as remove anxiety that has upset you. Adopt new, worthwhile attitude now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Friends and partners will unite to help you get what you want at this time. However, you have to be more specific, less devious if you are to get an accurate picture of your desires. Tell them directly, and enthusiastic help is yours.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Your financial, material security can be greatly enhanced by applying practical methods right now. Stop all that chatter and really put into motion the sensible systems that will help you get material goals. Fine for throat treatments.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Now you have it in your power to get out of your own little self-imposed rut and into the world of larger action. Be sure you contact those who have information you need. Study also your newspaper, trade journals, watch radio, TV, etc.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Whatever has to do with joint dealings of a financial or emotional nature can be solved in a very, sensible manner by going off alone, or with understanding experts and intimates, and deciding future course of action. Pay bills, collect debts.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Early think out what friends, acquaintances have the greatest amount of influence. Then go directly to them and state what is in your mind about ways to get ahead more swiftly in harmonious association with them. You really get co-operation now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY . . .

Saturday's child is one of those youngsters who will have unusually fine and accurate judgment from earliest days. You would be wise to always have your offspring meet persons of quality, high standing and meticulous conduct, for these are the attributes in others that will appeal to your conscientious and earnest child. Good for any work requiring an understanding of proven principles and precepts, combined with the specific work necessary to prove their value. Any such vocation is a natural for your progeny.

57 HOUSES FOR SALE

If you read this, it might just change your approach to that new home you're looking to have in the future:

There are three uses for a good basement suite, that follow a cycle, that could benefit you on all three points:

1. You are starting to buy a little better home, and you rent the suite to help out.

2. As your kiddies become teenagers, they need an entertainment area of their own to bring friends in, where they do not interfere with the rest of the family and the family TV (our plan allows for the removal of a non-bearing wall in the basement suite between living room and bedroom, serviced by both kitchen and bathroom at the same level).

3. When "Pop" passes on, and Mom needs a place near you to stay, you can bring her under the same roof, without actually interfering with the intimacy of your own private life, by converting the suite back for the purpose of re-installing the non-bearing wall.

LET THIS LEGAL BASEMENT SUITE HELP

PAY YOUR WAY INTO A NEW HOME

Owner participation and the equity in your present home will probably handle it!

YOUR ACCOMMODATION INCLUDES:
- 3 BEDROOMS
- OIL HEAT
- DINING ROOM
- LIVING ROOM
- KITCHEN WITH DINING BAR
- OAK FLOORS
- GARAGE (overhead steel door)
- CONCRETE DRIVE and WALKS
- WIRED FOR ELECTRIC RANGE
- A REALLY ATTRACTIVE EXTERIOR
- ALL DRAFTING, LEGAL and MORTGAGE EXPENSES INCLUDED EXCEPT Insurance and Transfer of Title. Nothing else to pay.

SUITE FOR RENTING HAS:
- KITCHEN WITH DINING AREA
- OIL HEAT
- LIVING ROOM
- BEDROOM
- 3-PIECE PEMBROKE BATH
- SEPARATE ENTRANCE

WE WILL PLACE ALL THIS, WITH FIRST CLASS WORKMANSHIP ON A CHOICE ESQUIMALT OR GLANFORD LOT, at TERMS ADJUSTED TO YOUR PERSONAL BUDGET. FULL PRICE, $13,950. ## PROGRESS COUNT PUBLIC OPINION BALLOT

| | YES | NO |
|---|---|---|
| Do you think it is wise to tie up an area of this size for the benefit of one group of interests? | 76 | 1,428 |
| Do you think B.C. should enter into any deal with the Wenner-Gren interests? | 124 | 1,370 |
| Do you think it morally right that Einar Gunderson, executive vice-president of the publicly-owned PGE Railway, and a member of the B.C. Toll Bridge Authority should be a director of the Wenner-Gren Development firm? | 81 | 1,418 |

Strong Opposition Shown By Wenner-Gren Voting

First count in the public opinion ballot conducted by The Times this week indicates that the people of southern Vancouver Island are overwhelmingly against the development scheme for northern B.C. proposed by the Axel Wenner-Gren interests as now presented.

The poll demonstrated that the issue is one of the most controversial public questions raised in many years.

More than 2,000 people sent in marked ballots.

Up to this morning approximately 1,500 had been tabulated, but today's mail brought hundreds more, so that it is not possible to publish the final totals today, as originally planned.

SHARP CONFLICT

The poll results so far indicate that Greater Victorians' votes on the issue are in sharp conflict with the result of a survey announced by Premier Bennett in a press interview Monday.

The Premier said that the people of British Columbia were 20-1 in favor of the project. He based this estimate on "weekend press comment . . . letters reaching this office and from special information from all corners of the province."

The progress count so far showed

Bennett Budget Protested By Loggers, UBC Students

A torchlight protest parade by UBC students and the promise of a legal fight by logging interests were the main reactions to Premier Bennett's "cautious" $295.9 million budget delivered to the legislature Friday.

Vancouver police and firemen slithered through snowy streets following reports that "a big fight and a fire" had broken out at Georgia and Howe.

It turned out to be a torch-lit parade of University of B.C. students demonstrating to protest the fact Premier Bennett didn't boost a grant of $1,000,000 annually to the $2,000,000 figure they had been seeking.

L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said the association will contest legally the constitutional basis of a logging tax in B.C.

Mr. Andrews said the decision to contest the tax was made before the budget came down, but that the new formula announced by Premier Bennett in his budget aggravated the grievance.

The new plan will bring $1,500,000 into B.C. coffers.

It provides for a progressive tax scale on profits of integrated logging and processing firms.

Mr. Andrews said the tax would be contested on the grounds it was actually being levied on lumber processing. With companies involved not only in logging but in processing, it is hard to identify the logging profit, he said.

The manufacturers' association produces about 90 per cent of the lumber cut in the coastal area, Mr. Andrews said.

Legislation setting up the revised tax plan received first reading in the House Friday.

WIRE BRIEFS

Balcer Quits PC Post

OTTAWA (BUP)—Conservative leader John Diefenbaker today confirmed tha t Leon Balcer has resigned as the party's organizer for the province of Quebec.

Franco Fires Cabinet

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco dismissed his cabinet ministers Friday night and told them "a new period" of Spanish political history was beginning, a reliable government source reported today.

Eden Ailing Again

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuters)—Sir Anthony Eden had a slight recurrence of fever and some abdominal pain Friday night but doctors said he "seems satisfactory."

Beliveau OK—Doctor

MONTREAL (CP)—Centre star Jean Beliveau has been given a clean bill of health, and will play tonight, coach Toe Blake of Montreal Canadiens said today after a talk with the big player's personal physician. (See sport pages.)

U.K. Soccer Schedule Hit By Weather

LONDON (Reuters)—Heavy snow blizzards in the north, the Midlands and the west of England and driving rain the rest of the country played havoc with the British soccer schedule today.

Some games were called off after the referees had a look at snowbound or waterlogged grounds. Others were abandoned before full time ran out.

Stoke City's right-winger, Neville Coleman, triumphed over mud, water and the whole Lincoln City team to bang in seven of the eight goals by which his team shut out Lincoln.

WEEKEND SALUTES BOY SCOUTS

Israelis Blowing-Up Gaza Bases?

CAIRO (Reuters) — Reports reaching Cairo from El 'Arish said explosions could be heard from frontier outposts in the Gaza Strip indicating the Israelis were destroying military installations.

Similar explosions were heard from El 'Arish prior to the Israeli withdrawal there.

CRISIS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles today invited congressional leaders of both parties to a Sunday meeting with him on the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower has received another message from Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel, but the White House declined to disclose its contents.

Ben-Gurion, in a speech to the Israeli Parliament Wednesday night, refused to accept U.S. proposals for withdrawal of Israeli forces from areas captured from Egypt.

PEARSON TO FORE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — After weeks of postponements, proposals and counter-proposals, the UN Friday took up the Israeli dispute again—and an assembly battle over the question of sanctions against Israel was the immediate prospect. However, indications are that nothing will be done until the U.S. makes its final declaration.

The Arab delegations late Friday put formally before the assembly their long-threatened sanctions resolution, which would ask all UN members to cut off economic, military or financial aid to Israel if she does not withdraw at once.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson has been a leader of the anti-sanctions faction. He considers that passage of such a resolution would be a complete admission of UN failure. During the weekend he is expected to try lining up support for a compromise plan —and if the U.S. falls in with this as a result of the Washington talks the sanctions proposal would be doomed to failure.

Hawks Edge Wings

CHICAGO — Chicago Black Hawks scored their second victory of the season over the league leading Detroit Red Wings today in a nationally televised National Hockey League game, 4-3. It was sixth-place Chicago's second successive Saturday TV triumph.

LOOK OUT FOR 'WAVES'

Snow and rain joined forces to produce pool of slush at Johnson Street underpass today. Truck at right was in water up to axles, but low-slung cars at left wisely kept to high ground on outside of curve. (Halkett Photo.)

Snow Treacherous Streets Blamed in Several Accidents

More than a dozen traffic accidents between early afternoon Friday and this morning, many of them blamed on snowy streets, sent eight persons to hospitals with varying injuries.

In satisfactory condition at Jubilee Hospital after an operation for internal injury is Robert Wicks, 6½, 1051 Admirals, who was in collision with a car in a school crosswalk Friday about 1 p.m. near Craigflower School.

Police said the boy was driven to school by his father, left the car and proceeded to cross Admirals past a school patrol flag into the path of a car driven by William B. Nikkels, Happy Valley.

Saanich police took the boy to hospital where he was treated in emergency for facial abrasions and head injuries, then admitted.

OVERTURNED

Mrs. Yvette Smethurst, 57, and her daughters, Jeanette and Sylvia, of Brentwood, were treated at Jubilee for injuries received when the car Mrs. Smethurst was driving overturned about 7.40 p.m. on Patricia Bay Highway after going out of control.

The car apparently skidded on the slippery highway near Beaver Lake, went into the ditch and turned over.

Admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. Mae Lee, 24, with facial injuries, and her daughter, Deanna, two, with head injury, who were occupants of a car involved in an accident on the Malahat about 7.40 p.m.

In the city, Arvid Beck, 66, 33 Simcoe, was treated for minor injuries received about 7 p.m. when he was in collision with a car in the 500 block of Yates.

Seven-year-old Glenn Campbell, son of Mrs. Hazel Campbell, 800 Reed, was treated for a cut head at St. Joseph's at 8.10 p.m. He fell at his home.

AMBULANCE CRASH

Police call to take him for treatment was answered by a naval shore patrol wagon, which was in a minor collision with a parked car as it proceeded to hospital.

Slippery streets were blamed for the vehicle striking the parked car at Quadra and North Park after it swerved to avoid a car attempting to cross Quadra in its path.

Other minor accidents occurred through the evening and overnight as slushy driving conditions reduced automobile control.

Bad Weather Blocks Up-Coast Jet Search

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bad flying weather held up an air search today for a T-33 jet trainer, missing 50 miles upcoast on a flight here from Portage La Prairie, Man.

Aboard the "Shooting Star" jet was FO Gilbert Russell, 26, of Portage La Prairie and Port Arthur.

RCAF officials said the same bad weather which is believed to have been a factor in the plane's disappearance would hold searching aircraft on the ground until mid-afternoon.

A marine search involving three tugs, several fishboats and three government vessels was organized to search the Malaspina Strait area between Pender Harbour and Texada Island.

Residents of the area reported hearing an aircraft about the time the T-33 went missing.

The jet was one of two T-33's which set out from Portage La Prairie at 2.30 p.m. PST Friday on a long-distance training flight bound for Sea Island air force base. They refuelled at Lethbridge, Alta.

One plane landed at Sea Island at 7.08 p.m., at which time last contact was made with the second, which was flying 10 minutes behind.

Victoria Gets Sun Sunday

A wet, sticky blanket of snow, that buried Vancouver Island to depths of over two feet overnight, broke up today under the impact of warm weather, auto traffic, and a blitz by highways department crews.

By midmorning authorities in the up-Island area feared disastrous floods might be caused by the warm rain that fell for a few hours, but weatherman William Mackie said here in Victoria that rain is likely to become light and intermittent this evening and overnight.

Heaviest snow of the overnight storm was at Sproat Lake where up to 30 inches of snow made travel impossible. Nearby Port Alberni had 18 inches of snow, and Campbell River and Courtenay reported 15 inches overnight.

"It's still snowing here today, but traffic is beginning to move," Courtenay RCMP reported. "There have been no cases of distress but plenty of inconvenience. Cars are stranded all over the district."

HIGHWAY BLOCKED

The highway over the Alberni summit between Cameron Lake and Alberni was impassable at press time, and it is understood the last traffic made the trip late Friday afternoon.

Here in Victoria the fall was measured officially at 5.8 inches, but Mr. Mackie said it would reach seven inches in some portions of the district. Many cars were unable to move and about 20 were reported stalled at Memorial Arena where there was a hockey game Friday night.

By this morning, the snow had softened to slush, and in most cases traffic was able to proceed without difficulty. By press time the traveled portion of most main roads was clear.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported all buses from up-Island arriving here on time.

Duncan reported 12 inches of snow and warm temperatures, but no rain. Main roads were reported passable, but side roads were blocked in many cases.

At Nanaimo there was up to 18 inches of snow, and residents of many suburban areas were temporarily marooned.

Worst hit transportation operation was Trans-Canada Air Lines, which cancelled four flights to Vancouver Friday evening, and four Vancouver flights and a Seattle flight today. Normal traffic was resumed at 10.45 a.m. today.

Bennett's Pay Hiked to $20,000, MLAs Get $1,400 Boost to $5,000

Hon. W. A. C. Bennett joined the ranks of Canada's highest paid premiers Friday when estimates for 1957-58 presented to the legislature provided him with a salary of $15,000 a year and a $5,000 sessional indemnity.

His salary last year was $9,000. His executive assistant, Ron Worley, received $9,600. (Worley's salary this year is unchanged.)

Cabinet ministers each will receive a total of $12,500 a year, an increase of $5,000 over last year's salary.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's allowance—additional to his sessional indemnity—will increase from $2,000 to $3,500.

The sessional allowance of Mr. Speaker Thomas Irwin will be boosted from $1,800 to $3,500.

MLAs will receive $5,000 instead of as formerly $3,600.

The breakdown on their scale shows $4,400 indemnity and $15 a day for living allowance, based on a 40-day session.

Clerk of the House E. K. DeBeck will get an increase from $1,700 to $2,500, and newly appointed law clerk Ian Horne from $1,200 to $1,500.

Premier Bennett said the new salary scale will "enable our members to get around the province more and learn what is going on in other constituencies besides their own."

Pay increases also were included in the estimates for members of the Public Utilities Commission.

Dean Harry Angus, chairman, will have his salary increased from $10,816 to $12,000, and commissioner Percy George and A. B. Jackson from $8,300 to $10,000.

PM ANNOUNCES NEW DEAL FOR CIVIL SERVANTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today announced plans for a complete overhaul of the federal employment structure under a new civil service chairman.

He said the chairman is to be appointed during the next few weeks.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Study in Faces As Budget Bared

It was a study in faces to watch the general reaction to Premier Bennett's reading of his new record-breaking budget Friday afternoon.

While the Social Credit members listened with unrestrained admiration, there was a grim-faced lady in the public galleries who looked as if she had been persuaded to attend a bawdy night-club party.

Had there been nude dancing girls on the floor of the legislature, the lady could not have looked more disapproving.

Someone suggested she was a Liberal party campaigner of years gone by.

The rest of the House—members and public alike—listened in respectful silence to the premier's address, although some of the older folk in the galleries complained he spoke too fast.

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan leaned back in his chair as if he had heard it all before.

George Gregory, sole representative of the Liberal party due to the illness of P. Archie Gibbs, listened to the speech with becoming gravity, occasionally scribbling notes on his desk pad.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi sat eager-eyed, absorbing the premier's words as if they were pearls of wisdom.

W. J. Asselstine, that rugged man of the north—a Liberal turned Social Crediter—listened gravely, chin supported on both hands.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd, always a benign figure, leaned back in his chair as if relaxing in his favorite club.

Mrs. Buda Brown (SC, Vancouver-Point Grey), in black dress with large white collar and orchid, listened intently throughout the two-hour speech.

Tom Uphill, puckish 82-year-old Independent member for Fernie, followed the premier's speech for one and a half hours with stern knitted brows, then got up suddenly, as if obeying an urgent summons from the corridor, and left the chamber.

Ald. Don Smith, new Social Credit member for Victoria City, listened judicially, arms folded on chest.

Health Minister Eric Martin leaned forward, chin in hand, like some ancient Caesar holding a tribunal. And Ray Williston, youthful-looking minister of lands and forests, had the air of a man who says, "This is straight talk, whether you like it or not."

In the back of the galleries was a white-haired man who seemed more concerned with the comfort of the House than the Premier's speech.

Chin on chest, he dozed happily from the time the Premier started speaking at 2.40 p.m. until the vigorous desk-thumpings of Socred members awoke him at 4.45.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett told reporters his budget should be regarded as an insurance budget.

"Even if there were a recession," he said, "we would have enough reserves to carry on our regular services. And we have the interests of the people at heart."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, was the first to shake the premier's hand when he left the chamber.

Although the premier's budget gave no further aid to UBC than the $1,000,000 a year for 10 years already promised, Dr. MacKenzie said:

"I am glad, Mr. Premier, that you are still keeping the door open. I know you are on our side."

★ ★ ★

In honor of the budget speech, Premier Bennett and his cabinet were uniformly dressed in black coats and striped trousers. They wore white hyacinths against a green fern to represent the Social Credit colors—white and green.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett, suffering from a cold, was gradually losing his voice as he neared the end of the budget speech.

10,000 Sign TV Petition

More than 10,000 signatures have been received by the Saanich Voters' Association asking that CHEK-TV's transmitter be moved to cut down on interference, it was reported today.

It is the association's aim to have the petition to Ottawa completed by March 7 in order to have it before a meeting of the CBC board of governors April 3.

Object of petitioners is to obtain at least 20,000 names.

However, an association spokesman said, that if the results were to be completed in time more volunteer canvassers are needed. Donations are also necessary, it was added, to meet expenses.

. . . POLL

that 1,428 persons have voted "no" to the question whether it is wise to tie up such a large area of northern B.C. for the benefit of one group of interests. It is estimated the land reserve placed by the government covers about one-tenth of the province. The vote in favor of this question was only 76.

On the second question, as to whether B.C. should make any kind of deal with the Wenner-Gren interests, the negative vote is 1,370 and the affirmative 124.

The final question was whether it is morally right for Einar Gunderson, who holds public posts as executive vice-president of the PGE Railway and as a member of the toll bridge authority, to also be a director of the Wenner-Gren development firm. The vote on this is 1,418 against and 81 in favor.

The figures thus indicate the feeling shown by the poll run from 11 to one up to 18 to one against the questions.

It is conceded that this is not necessarily the complete picture of feeling, since in an unofficial ballot of this kind the tendency is for those who are opposed to a project to be more vociferous and definite in their views than those who favor it. Some of the latter would be more inclined to let the ballot go by default rather than bother sending in a vote. However, the enormous majority against it is taken as registering a very wide antagonism.

Tallying of the votes is being supervised by W. Gordon Holms, of the chartered accountancy firm of Bailey, Monteith, Holms & Co., and all ballots are being placed in his possession.

The unusual interest in the ballot was demonstrated by dozens of letters accompanying votes mailed to The Times.

Many of these were highly complimentary to the paper for giving people the opportunity to express their views. They also gave a variety of opinions on whether the province should deal with Wenner-Gren in view of his alleged sympathies prior to the last war, and on how cautious the government should be in allowing rights over large portions of territory.

There were a few of those favoring the plan who claimed the wording of the ballot was "loaded" against the project.

Further results of the tally will be announced in Monday's paper and it is hoped to have the count complete by Tuesday.

Naval Probe Ordered Into Dockyard Death

W. M. Stewart, 49, Asphyxiated by Gas While Working in Hold of Vessel

A naval inquiry into the death of William M. Stewart, 49, 1527 Camosun, in an accident at HMC Dockyard Friday afternoon will be conducted within a few days.

A civil inquest into the death will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Sand's Funeral Home, coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said.

Mr. Stewart, a civilian rigger at the Dockyard, was asphyxiated by carbon dioxide gas shortly before 2 p.m. Friday when working in a confined after hold of the navy torpedo recovery launch Wildwood as it was undergoing refit.

Three other civilian workmen in the hold escaped above decks of the 70-foot vessel before they were fully overcome by the gas. They turned in the alarm and were given first aid treatment.

One man, George D. Neligan, 971 Dunsmuir, also a rigger, who was working with Stewart, and two HMC Dockyard firemen, Frank F. Bell, 95 View Royal, and Donald J. Metcalfe, 3251 Rutledge, were admitted to HMCS Naden Hospital for treatment.

The firemen had donned all-service breathing masks, good for respiration in atmosphere containing no less than 16 per cent oxygen, and went below decks to get Stewart.

Carbon dioxide, from a 50-pound cylinder being connected to the ship's fire-fighting system, completely filled the hold. The firemen felt themselves being overcome and returned to the dockside.

By this time other firemen, with oxygen-generating breathing equipment, were able to go down and get Stewart.

Efforts to revive him proved in vain. He had been in the hold about 15 minutes from the time the alarm was given, a navy spokesman said.

Delay was caused by the fact the oxygen-generating masks require several minutes to begin functioning.

Others in the hold at the time were pipe-fitter Harry Maat, 403 Hillside, and shipwright Robert F. Dunton, 2350 Epworth. With Neligan they scrambled to the open air, gasping for breath.

Maintenance bosun Arthur Jane, 73 Sylvan Lane, saw them and turned in the alarm.

Plane Crash Death Toll May Reach 25

SEOUL (AP)—A burning United States transport plane crashed on an islet in the Han River Friday night. At least 134 of the 159 aboard were saved, but five bodies were found and it was feared the death toll might reach 25.

The pilot said an engine of the big C-124 Globemaster ran wild, burst into flames and spewed chunks of metal into the two-decker fuselage.

As the tide ebbed at the Han's mouth today, permitting resumption of the search for bodies, air force officials listed 20 persons missing. A spokesman said: "It is very doubtful if they will be found alive."

New York Dockers End Costly Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Dock men went back to work today on piers in New York and other northeastern seaboard ports, ending a costly 10-day strike.

Signals summoning longshore gangs sounded at 5.55 a.m. and a few minutes later the docks buzzed with activity. A huge backlog of cargo meant plenty of work ahead.

The scene was repeated elsewhere along the coast from Maine to Virginia following the signing of new contracts between employers and 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) who load and unload ship cargoes in the ports.

Losses to shippers and industy during the strike have amounted to an estimated $30,000,000. More than 100 ships were tied up.

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

Copper is one of 14 elements obtained from Inco ores. Inco produces over 250,000,000 lbs. of copper a year. And more than half of all this copper goes to Canadian companies for the manufacture of copper tube and fittings and hundreds of other useful products. Copper tube and fittings for supply and drainage plumbing are easy and economical to install... and will usually last as long or longer than the buildings in which they are used.

INCO COPPER in millions of feet of plumbing for Canadian homes

...more jobs in Canada

FOR LONG LIFE and trouble-free service, there's nothing quite like copper plumbing in the home. It won't rust; it resists corrosion; under normal conditions, it will last as long as the building.

Today, nearly all the new homes being built in Canada have copper plumbing. And more than half of this copper comes from Inco.

Here's how Inco Copper helps make jobs for Canadians. Down in the mines, Inco workmen blast out the ore. It is milled, smelted and refined at Inco's plants in Copper Cliff, Ontario. Refined copper is sold to Canadian companies for the manufacture of tube, fittings and other plumbing items. Then plumbers install them in Canadian homes.

All these operations help provide jobs for thousands of workmen. That's how Inco helps stimulate the growth and development of industry in Canada.

Brewers in Manitoba Ordered to Cut Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba municipal and public utility board Friday approved a reduction of about $160,000 a year in prices paid to Manitoba breweries for beer by the government liquor control commission.

The board's decision was announced one week after its final hearing of a price-change application filed Jan. 15 by the commission.

The changes were approved without change. The board gave no reasons for its decision, believed to be the first time in Canada that a utility board has ruled on beer prices.

The price cut came about 17 months following publication of the final report of the Bracken liquor inquiry commission in which it was charged that the government liquor authority was over-paying breweries by at least $1,000,000 a year.

The new prices, coupled with a change in licence fees put into effect last week, will increase provincial revenues by about $300,000 a year.

The ruling cuts the price paid brewers for a half-keg of beer to $16.38 from $16.93; quarter kegs to $8.19 from $8.91; one-dozen carton of bottled beer to $2.09 from $2.14. Two-dozen cartons remained unchanged at $4.10. Prices are effective immediately.

QOR Officer Gets High Post In 4th Brigade

Appointment of Maj. Edwin H. Shuter, second in command of Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, at Camp Gordon Head, to a senior headquarters posting with Fourth Canadian Infantry Brigade was announced Friday.

He leaves with his wife, Edith, and four children for Camp Borden, Ont., about mid-March.

Maj. Shuter becomes deputy assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general in his new appointment.

Prior to joining the Second Battalion, QORs, at its formation in 1952, Maj. Shuter was with the Royal Canadian Regiment. His army background dates back to pre-Second World War days.

Maj. Shuter's father, Edwin Shuter, of Barrie, Ont., was a regimental sergeant-major in Her Majesty's Coldstream Guards and Mrs. Shuter is a daughter of Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, formerly of Saskatoon and now living in Kingston.

Wilfred Shuter, a brother of the major, was killed in action in Holland in the Second World War while a member of the Queen's Own Rifles.

An ardent sportsman, Maj. Shuter participated in all army field sports and was a member of champion volleyball teams in Italy, Korea and Ottawa.

Times Square Rocks, Rolls, Quivers

NEW YORK (AP) — Times Square, which rocked 'n' rolled Friday, quivered again today from an outpouring of thousands of ecstatic teen-agers bent on seeing their favorite kind of show.

Focal point of the bedlam is the Paramount Theatre at 43rd Street and Broadway.

It is featuring a week's run of the movie "Don't Knock the Rock" and a rock 'n' roll stage show starring Alan Freed, a local disc jockey who claims to have invented the term.

Today's turnout as the second day opened was much smaller and far more orderly than Friday's. And police were more experienced at their task of restraining the exuberant youngsters.

From 4 a.m. Friday until midnight there were 20 hours of near pandemonium in and around the movie house.

STORM THEATRE

The youngsters, clad in dungarees and other attire favored by much of today's youth, stormed the area, pushing and shoving to get inside.

They stamped, screamed and climbed atop seats, beating out ear-splitting time to the rhythms. Gangs of boys roamed the aisles.

Police rushed reinforcements until there were 175 engaged in trying to preserve order.

Two girls were in hospital with leg injuries. Scores suffered barked shins, sore feet and bruises. They littered the area with remnants of lunches they had brought along — and sometimes tossed them at policemen.

The rhythmic pounding of feet of 1,600 youngsters in the second balcony prompted a call for inspectors from the city building department. It was feared the balcony might crash down.

Three-fourths of the balcony was cleared while the inspectors checked the structure. Finally they permitted it to be refilled.

By Friday's 8 a.m. opening time, some 5,000 girls and boys, out of school for Washington's birthday, thronged the area around the theatre.

The theatre's 3,650 seats couldn't begin to handle the demand. The opening day receipts of $29,000 set a record for the 31-year-old theatre which has billed practically all the greats of show business.

Officials believed the week's run would outdo records set earlier by such luminaries as Frank Sinatra, Nat King Cole and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Said the 35-year-old Freed, himself overwhelmed by his gigantic success:

"They are not bad kids, they are just enthusiastic. If the kids let off steam here, they won't be doing it somewhere else."

Alexander Whyte, Ex-RCN Engineer, Succumbs at 64

Former commissioned engineer in the RCN, Alexander Whyte, 72 Dallas, died at home Friday at the age of 64.

Mr. Whyte retired nine years ago, after nearly 30 years naval service.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he served with the British Navy in the First World War. In 1921 Mr. Whyte joined the RCN at Halifax, N.S., and served on HMCS Assiniboine during the Second World War. He also had served on HMCS Skeena, HMCS Fraser and HMCS Armentiers.

A well-known soccer player with the Navy here until the age of 45, Mr. Whyte was an executive member of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, member of the Naval Officers' Association and United Services, and honorary member of the Chief Petty Officers' Mess at Naden.

He is survived by his wife, Isabella, at home; four daughters, Mrs. Lloyd Loiselle, Mrs. Jack Ready, Miss Helen Whyte and Mrs. Jim Turner, all of Victoria; two sons, Alexander, Jr., Lake Cowichan, and Edward, at home, and thirteen grandchildren.

Rev. A. I. Higgins will officiate at a funreal service in McCall's Funeral Home, Monday, at 3 p.m. Burial will be at Royal Oak Burial Park.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Friday:

Alfred Nehring, 5118 Old West Road, $35 and licence suspension except for business purposes for one month, on a charge of careless driving.

Donald McClintick, 45 Moss, $50 and licence suspension for careless driving Feb. 9 in Lover's Lane.

Ernest J. Bitterman, 1322 Hillside, $10 for failing to register a change of address.

Keith Bassett Shairp, 911 Caledonia, $25 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, paced at 50.

Richard Grant Lewers, 3500 Saanich Road, $25 for speeding over 30 miles an hour, paced at 50.

In Oak Bay court Friday:

Fisher Appointed Financial Adviser

John V. Fisher, deputy finance minister in the B.C. government, has been named to the post of economic adviser, and co-ordinator of provincial finances, Premier Bennett announced Friday.

He will take over the position formerly held by ex-finance minister Einar Gunderson.

Mr. Fisher is succeeded by Gerold S. Bryson, formerly assistant deputy.

"The post given to Mr. Fisher has been necessitated by the expanding finances of the province," Premier Bennett said.

"We do a great deal of research in the financial field. We do not make judgments on the spur of the moment. They are based on careful and prolonged calculations.

"Mr. Fisher is eminently qualified to do this work."

$135,000 Windfall For City in Budget

The new federal-provincial tax-sharing agreement announced in Premier Bennett's budget could mean $135,000 extra tax income for Victoria this year—all of it from B.C. Electric and B.C. Telephone companies.

All B.C. municipalities may increase their utility taxes, Premier Bennett said in his budget speech.

He said due to new tax-sharing negotiations with Ottawa, the utility tax on certain property such as power lines and phone lines may be boosted to 5 per cent of gross receipts.

Before this, by federal regulation, telephone companies could be taxed 4 per cent and other affected utilities could be taxed 3 per cent, in lieu of property taxes.

B.C.'s Municipal Act had stipulated a 2 per cent tax ceiling. The revenue from this in Victoria last year was $87,230.

The new tax ceiling would raise about $135,000 more and could reduce the city mill rate by up to 1½ mills.

"I see no reason why we shouldn't do it," said Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell.

Too Much Read Into Premier's Statement Says CNR President

Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, on Friday further explained the extent of his conversations with Premier Bennett regarding the PGE.

Premier Bennett said in the House the CNR would like to buy the PGE; Mr. Gordon later said question of the sale had not arisen.

In Winnipeg Friday, Mr. Gordon issued a further statement:

"I have only now had an opportunity to read what the press has reported Premier Bennett to have said about our conversation. It seems to me the press is reading much more into his words than he actually said.

"In accordance with the statement which I have already released, no sale of the PGE was in contemplation or discussed between us.

"I do not recall the exact words of our conversation or those of any passing remarks which must undoubtedly have been made concerning the PGE but I would certainly agree that if the PGE were for sale then the CNR should be invited to indicate whether or not they are interested. That, surely, is obvious but should not be construed as anything more.

"Perhaps I should also make it clear that when I was in Victoria I had heard nothing about the proposals made by the Wenner-Gren interests, as later reported in the press."

Vancouver Court Upholds Woodwards Assessment Hike

VANCOUVER (CP)—An assessment jump of 1,000 per cent on 31.9 acres of land owned by Woodward Stores Ltd. for a proposed shopping centre here must stand, the court of revision ruled at city hall Friday.

The jump was a direct result of the rezoning of the land from its former residential status to commercial use to permit construction of the project.

The assessment was appealed by lawyer F. K. Collins, on behalf of the company. He argued that while Woodwards have important plans for the area the assessment is "premature."

It went up from $47,850 when it was residential property to $478,500 as commercial land.

Mr. Collins said Woodwards paid approximately $2,000,000 for the land.

He stated that similar adjacent property still zoned for residential use, was assessed at $1,500 an acre compared with the $15,000 an acre placed on the Woodwards' land.

The court held that, in view of all the circumstances, the city assessors had been fair.

New Schools in Suburbs Benefit To City, Curtis Tells Edgelow

The school board proposal to locate most new schools in municipalities surrounding Victoria is beneficial to the city in some respects, Ald. Austin I. Curtis said today.

He said he will send a submission to city council next Thursday refuting arguments of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow that in the approaching $4,470,000 school building program Victoria taxpayers will be paying for more than they are getting.

"School board officials have pointed out that by increasing accommodation in certain neighboring schools they can take care of a certain number of Victoria students and in this way eliminate the need for further construction in the city.

OFF TAX ROLL

"Surely this is good economics. I might also point out that if additional schools are built in Victoria such action will mean taking the necessary land off the tax roll and this is not desirable.

"Another important point is that a great deal of the money spent for materials . . . will go to Victoria business firms. The money spent in wages will find its way in many cases into the hands of Victoria merchants. All of this will be good for business in the city."

Ald. Edgelow had protested that though Victoria is paying 53.24 per cent of the over-all costs, only 11.81 per cent of the new construction will actually be built in the city.

Officials pointed out the last two by-laws had centred much of the program in Victoria, including Central Junior and S. J. Willis Junior High Schools, additions to George Jay, Oaklands and other elementary schools.

"The point in question applies throughout the province," said Ald. Curtis. "Many areas have been called upon to finance school construction outside their municipal boundaries, but within the school district.

"The school trustees have a duty under the Public Schools Act, to provide accommodation for all pupils in their district, and having elected them we should support them."

SHY CAT WON'T BUDGE; DINES ON MILK FLOATS

MONROE, La. (AP)—There has been little sleep for the Cliff Ferguson family since a contractor added a room 19 days ago and unwittingly closed a cat in the ceiling.

The cat sleeps during the day, meows during the night and shows no inclination to leave.

"It's about to drive me crazy," said Mrs. Ferguson.

After days of hoping the cat would find its way out, the Fergusons chopped a hole in the ceiling but the cat refused to emerge. His vanishing act has paid off in a "salmon-milk float," which has become his nightly fare.

Mrs. Ferguson said the four little Fergusons are eager to have the cat for a pet.

Listless Trading Hits Market; Few Signs of Encouragement Seen

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock market prices wandered aimlessly through five sessions of listless trading this week.

Traders were extremely cautious and many were waiting for definite signs of encouragement.

A few selected issues drew some support. Companies which reported improved earnings for 1956 or announced increased dividends were generally active.

Speculative mining stocks were active. Drilling reports in the Chibougamau area stirred some interest among coppers.

The Canadian markets lacked leadership from American counterparts Friday when the United States' houses were closed for Washington's birthday. The Toronto Stock Exchange, however, which usually follows the trend set by Wall Street, recorded its best showing of the week.

The markets showed little change Monday and Tuesday. Mining stocks, were active Wednesday. The pace again slackened.

NO INCREASES SEEN

Observers said at week's end there was no sign of encouragement.

They said the talk of easier money in the United States might stir some interest in Canada, but until something concrete is announced, trading would continue at its slow pace.

Goodyear Tire climbed $10 to $167 for the best industrial gain. Canada Life Assurance was up $6 to $170. Chrysler, Ford A, Algoma Steel, Trans Mountain Pipe Line, Union Gas and United Fuel B each gained between $3 and $4.75. Aluminium lost $3.50 at $111.50.

Hudson Bay lost $2.50 at $76 among senior base metals.

Great Plains advanced $1.87½ to $39.87½ among Western oils.

Index changes at Toronto: Industrials off .26 to 448.73; golds up .74 to 76.88; base metals off 4.17 to 203.38; western oils off 1.56 to 154.14.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks off 0.93 to 51.10; utilities off 0.8 to 139.3; industrials off 4.5 to 275.1; combined off 3.3 to 229.8; papers up 2.52 to 1322.64; golds up 0.49 to 73.34.

Week's volumes: 233,757 industrials and 3,104,851 mines against 364,543 industrials and 3,009,875 mines.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 40 cents at $172.10.

Increases Under Study

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK (AP) — Price increases came under official scrutiny this week as most business indicators pointed higher.

Senate investigators turned the spotlight on prices of crude oil, fuel oil and gasoline. The federal trade commission opened a new inquiry into coffee prices.

The government reported a record high in living costs with no immediate halt foreseen.

Some businessmen were talking about consumer resistance.

Merchants reported, however, that shoppers were spending freely on spring clothes, furniture, paint, garden tools and hardware. Dun and Bradstreet said total retail trade for the week was four to eight per cent higher than a year ago.

Mixed trends were evident in the new car market. Ford and Plymouth were still producing to the hilt, while Chevrolet slashed its output 22 per cent. Total industry production touched a 1957 low.

Here's the latest on the cost-of-living: The government's consumer price index for January set a record for the fifth month in a row. This yardstick of what it costs to live touched a high at 118.2 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

ADVANCE HOME CREDIT

Incomes have gone up too. Factory workers' earnings have risen four per cent.

It was the rise in gasoline and oil prices that touched off the biggest ruckus.

However, industry defender M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), said the 35-per-cent increase in crude oil prices was "long overdue."

Rathbone said the average well drilled in the United States involves an expenditure of $71,000, compared to a $49,000 average cost seven years ago.

Congress took steps to make more credit available to builders and buyers of houses. The House of Representatives (and later the senate banking committee) voted to give the federal government $500,000,000 more for the purchase of home mortgages.

Briefly over the business scene:

Major producers reduced prices of vacuum - packed and instant coffee. . .General Electric Co. reported sales passed the $4,000,000,000 mark for the first time last year. Sales were up 18 per cent and profits two per cent . . . J. Sinclair Armstrong, chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, says SEC is following up more stock fraud cases now than at any time in its history . . . Trading stamp companies sold $350,000,000 worth of stamps to merchants last year, an increase of 75 per cent over 1955.

THE END OF A SHORT, SAD (FOR JOHNNY) STORY

Grim-Faced Basilio Chops Down Saxton

WHAT'S THE SCORE?
BY Denny Boyd

For idle weekend musing, we would suggest the subject of money.

What with the Legislature talking billions in the House and millions in the coffee shop, one cannot help but be titillated by the seductive curves of the dollar signs, particularly when the milk-man and cleaner are both clamoring at the back door.

But putting domestic problems aside for the nonce, our particular topic is money as it concerns the Victoria Cougars.

The Cougars are much like any lunch bucket-carrying Joe in that they have bills, their kids need shoes and Marcel Pelletier has to keep up his wardrobe.

So they have more than a mere fleeting interest in the money that can be squeezed out of the Western Hockey League playoffs. Their season wages buy the bread but the playoffs supply the jam.

Now Just Imagine This . . .

With hope thumping eternal beneath the shirt, let's for a moment imagine that the Cougars finish first in the Western Division.

For doing this, they would pick up a cool $4,500 and get a bye in the semifinal playoffs.

Imagine further than the Cougars win the Coast Division playoff. For this, they would pick up an additional $7,000.

Now, we move on to the Prairies where the Cougars would meet the Prairie champion in the inter-sectional playoff. They win this league final in a blaze of glory and greenbacks and tuck another $7,000 into their poke.

Now comes the big money.

Being WHL champions, the Cougars would travel to Eastern Canada to meet the Quebec Hockey League champions in the annual Edinburgh Trophy playoff.

This playoff carries an $11,000 bundle for the winner and $5,000 for the loser.

So, toting it all up, the team that can win its division, go through the section and league playoff and then knock over the Edinburgh Trophy can cart away $29,500 in playoff money.

That total would be divided among the 15 players a club can carry. It will work out to close to $2,000 for each player and as Barney Google would say, that is a bodacious heap of money.

You Have to Score to Collect

But, on the other hand, you have to finish above fourth place to even get a sniff of the green stuff and if you don't get past the sectional semifinal, you have to divide a paltry $1,500 between your 15 players.

Which brings us up to the point of the lack of goals the Cougars have been scoring recently.

Friday night's game marked the sixth time in their last seven games that the Cougars have scored only two goals. In fact, over their last nine games, the Cats have scored only 14 goals.

They have won three of those games and tied two but, as Cougar Bill Davidson was saying Friday night, "These two-goal games are going to kill me. Every time I pass the puck I get a twitch in my stomach, just hoping I don't do anything wrong."

Yes, they pay off in goals, a possible $29,500 worth of payoff. The Cougars might do well to start punching the cash register a little harder.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carmen Basilio, a savage, grim-faced warrior, made short work of Johnny Saxton Friday night, bombing the ex-champ with a chilling left hook to retain his world welterweight title on a knockout at 2.42 of the second round.

Basilio, determined to let his own two hands do the officiating in this brief battle, chased bewildered Johnny from corner to corner with wicked punches.

Near the end of the second round Basilio caught Saxton near midring with a numbing left that dropped the New Yorker on the ring deck. He rolled over once and started to get up, but referee Tony LaBranche ruled his gloves still were on the floor when he counted the fatal "ten".

SUPERIORITY OBVIOUS

Thunderous cheers echoed off the walls of the Cleveland Arena as the 29-year-old onion farmer from Canastota, N.Y., clearly demonstrated his superiority in the third bout of this controversial "series". Never from the opening bell was there any doubt about the eventual outcome.

If Saxton expected to box and run as he did at Chicago last March when he won the title on a highly disputed decision, he never got a chance to put his plan into operation. Basilio stormed out from the first bell, poured leather at him with both hands, with thudding wallops that had Saxton trying desperately to grab and hold.

So over-anxious was Basilio to finish the Saxton series for keeps that he almost fell on his face from the force of a missed left hook in the first round.

The craggy-faced ex-marine dropped to both knees for a few seconds in silent prayer after the shockingly quick ending, while his corner crew whooped it up in a wild celebration for the 3-to-1 favorite.

DRIVEN ON ROPES

Strong and determined at 147 pounds, the same weight as the ex-champion, Basilio lashed Saxton's body with left hooks, switched to the head with equal effect and drove him foggy-eyed along the ropes in both rounds.

It was apparent that Saxton, desperately trying to survive this blazing attack, couldn't hold out for long. Punch after punch thudded off his body as he made a feeble attempt to fight back.

When Carmen switched from head to body late in the second, he bulled Saxton into Basilio's own corner and slammed away at will. Johnny's return punches were missing fire, but he escaped for a few more seconds.

Then came the hook, the best punch in the artillery of Basilio, who is a converted southpaw. Saxton tried to get up, but he couldn't quite make it. If he had succeeded it would have made little difference for he was a badly beaten man.

Johnny was helped to his corner by his handlers while the Basilio crew staged their own private demonstration.

SIGNS WITH STAMPS

CALGARY (CP)—Don Caraway, 210-pound fullback from the University of Houston, has signed with Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, it was announced Friday night.

NEW YORK—Clinton F. Russell of Duluth was named winner of the Ben Hogan Award for 1956. He has for many years been an inspiration to blind golfers.

MIDDLEWEIGHT CROWN CARMEN'S NEXT TARGET

CLEVELAND (UP)—Carmen Basilio, the snarling tiger man who flattened Johnny Saxton last night, challenged today for the middleweight crown.

"I want a shot at the winner of the Gene Fullmer-Ray Robinson fight," announced the fiery slugger who staggered Saxton a dozen times and smashed him to the canvas with a booming left hook for a knockout at 2.42 of the second round in their title "rubber match."

About $48,000 richer for less than six minutes of work, the champion from Chittenango, N.Y., sought "a real big-money fight" outdoors in May with middleweight ruler Fullmer or Sugar Ray, who are slated for a title bout at Chicago Stadium April 24.

HEAVY HOOP ACTION

Casaba Chorus Rings Tonight

Basketballs will be beating a merry tune tonight as four Up-Island teams visit two city gymnasiums.

Although final results are almost a foregone conclusion, most of the hoop attention will centre on Victoria High School, where a pair of two-game series for Vancouver Island titles will be concluded.

Dickinson & Dunn, well on the way to a second straight senior "B" men's crown, tackles Alberni Athletic Bs in the feature tussle at Vic High at 8.30. The Tiremen will start with a comfortable, 19-point cushion earned in their 76-57 victory in the series opener at Alberni.

BIG LEAD

Victoria College Vikings only have to avoid losing by more than 38 points in order to wrap up the Island junior men's crown. They start the finale of the junior series against Alberni at 7.30 with an 84-45 bulge gained in the opening game at Alberni.

Winners will advance to the provincial playoffs against Mainland teams and the Tiremen and Vikings are given excellent chances of giving Victoria its first junior and senior "B" B.C. crowns in many seasons.

Two First United hoop teams will risk undefeated records against strong Alberni rivals at the First United gymnasium, Balmoral Street, tonight.

First United's pre-midget boys, winners of the provincial title last year, open proceedings against Alberni pre-midgets at 7.30.

At 8.30, Alberni midgets, B.C. champions last season, tackle the Victoria midget squad, unbeaten this year, in an exhibition tussle.

Don't Say 'Crucial' —But It Will Be

Cougars Edge Stamps; Face Canucks Monday

Victoria 2, Calgary 1

By DENNY BOYD

In spite of the guy who threatens to crack some heads if one more mention is made of "crucial" hockey games, the Victoria Cougars will meet the Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena Monday night in a game that is critical, urgent, momentous, essential, trenchant and pregnant with playoff possibilities.

Call it what you may but this will be an extremely large hockey game.

The Cougars and Canucks, in their own ways, set the stage dressing for this joust of consequence in a pair of preliminary games Friday night.

The Cougars, as is their habit, knocked off the Calgary Stampeders, 2-1, at Memorial Arena, while the Canucks were in the aching process of dropping an overtime decision to the Brandon Regals, who play no favorites but simply knock off everyone in sight.

As a result of the two games, the Cougars again are back snapping at the Canucks' ankle, just one point out of the third and final playoff berth that has been kicked around by the two clubs like the family cat during the last three weeks.

Next week positively shrieks with opportunity for the Cougars.

They meet the Canucks here Monday night and play a return go in Vancouver Tuesday night. After that, it is Seattle here Friday night and a return bout in Seattle Saturday night.

Split Will Be Good Enough

There is a possible eight points there but Cougar coach Colin Kilburn indicated after Friday night's win that he would be satisfied with a split for the week—two victories.

Friday's game was a story of muffed scoring chances. On the scoring opportunities presented, the score could have been a 4-1 Cougar lead at the end of the first period, rather than the 1-0 lead they carried into the second period.

Bruce Carmichael got the only goal of the first period on an alert bit of opportunism.

Gordie Haworth made the big play on the goal, sifting breezily between two defencemen for a shot that Stamp goalie Hank Bassen stopped with his pads. However, Carmichael, following the play closely, whacked the rebound home before Bassen could clear.

Nelson Bulloch, Don Chiupka and Doug Macauley all had big scoring chances before the period ended while Lee Fogolin and Doc Couture came close for Calgary but it was still 1-0 entering the second period.

Calgary snapped out of the doldrums in the second period and continual pressure finally produced the first goal they have scored on Victoria ice this season.

Old Pro Enio Ended Drought

Vic Dzurko shot one from the side, Marcel Pelletier blocked it but old pro Enio Sclisizzi pushed in the rebound from short range. It ended a scoring drought that had seen the Stamps go 152 minutes and 58 seconds without a goal in Victoria.

There were more near things in the second period, Carmichael missing on two more good shots and Lionel Heinrich getting through on Bassen but losing control of the puck at the last second.

Rookie Larry Leach, whose goals have been few and far between, made his fourth of the season a mighty big one as he got the winner at 11.50 of the last period.

Leach cranked in a hard 25-footer that Bassen appeared to have covered but the puck glanced in off his skate as he sprawled in the crease.

Kilburn's line changes, involving all three units, appeared to give the Cats a shot in the arm with the Leach-Haworth-Carmichael line a constant threat. Dobbyn played a fine two-way game on defence while Don Chiupka caused the Stampeders continual grief with his fore-checking.

England Beats France

LONDON (Reuters)—England beat France 9-5 in a Rugby Union international championship game at Twickenham today. England led 6-0 at half-time.

Ireland beat Scotland 5-3 in another championship game at Edinburgh. They led 5-0 at half-time.

Brandon Helps Us; Flyers Fly

Regals Nip Canucks; Warriors Walloped

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Flyers pasted Winnipeg Warriors 9-2 in a Western Hockey League game Friday night but a bare 3-2 overtime win by Brandon kept the Regals seven points ahead of Edmonton in the Prairie division.

Veteran Don Poile of the Flyers scored three goals, boosting his season's total to 27.

Brandon's win was at the expense of Vancouver Canucks and left the latter only one point ahead of Victoria Cougars in the Coast Division.

In Edmonton Poile's first goal came unassisted after eight minutes of the second period. He got another before the period ended and completed his hat trick in the third.

Bill McCreary got two for the Flyers.

SOLO PERFORMANCE

The prettiest goal of the game was scored for Winnipeg by Bill Mosienko after Tom McCarthy put Edmonton in front, 1-0. Mosienko broke away alone, shifted the Edmonton defence wide, went in close and flipped the puck past Dennis Riggin.

Edmonton's other goals were scored by Jerry Melnyk, Chuck Holmes and Murray Costello. Earl Ingarfield scored the other for Winnipeg.

In Vancouver, Ray Manson scored the winner for Brandon after 5½ minutes of overtime in what was probably the fastest contest in the coast city this season.

The Regals almost had the game sewed up in the final second of the third period when a rebound from Les Lilley's shot was batted in by Don Raleigh. Referee Scotty Morrison ruled, however, that a glove, rather than a stick, was responsible for the score.

Earlier, Raleigh had sent Brandon into the lead but Motto McLean tied it for Vancouver.

Vic Lynn scored the first goal for Brandon and Bud Syverson the first for Vancouver.

Royal Roads Third In Service Tourney

KINGSTON (CP) — College Militaire Royal of Saint Jean, Que., took a four-point lead in the annual tri-service sports tournament which started a two-day run Friday at Royal Military College here.

Sweeping to two victories in volleyball, a single victory in basketball and five victories in the boxing CMR racked up 21 points in the unofficial standings. RMC is in second place with 17 and Royal Roads third with 14.

In the afternoon events, CMR blanked Royal Roads 3-0 in volleyball and went on to whip RMC by the same count. In basketball the leaders edged RMC 54-51. In other court contest RMC turned back Royal Roads 49-44.

A major upset occurred in the boxing competition when RMC's W. A. Urie, a middleweight, scored a unanimous decision over the favored J. L. Eggens of Royal Roads.

A rough heavyweight bout between RMC's G. K. Welch and RR's W. H. Nordick drew applause from the large crowd. The fighters stood toe to toe for the entire three rounds but Welch held a slight edge and gained the decision. In a light heavyweight match Bruce Norris of Royal Military College dropped a decision to J. W. Baragar of Royal Roads.

In a heavyweight match, Ken Stefason of CMR decisioned RR's M. W. Cavanaugh.

Claude Leduc of CMR knocked out RR's C. S. Anstis in a light heavyweight bout and A. Copeland of CMR scored a TKO over F. C. Swain of Royal Roads.

L. A. Ashley of RMC lost on a TKO to H. B. Weatherhead of Royal Roads in a lightweight bout.

Royal Roads' I. C. Fletcher won by a TKO over John Carrie of CMR in a welterweight contest.

Three Rinks Undefeated

Only three rinks still boasted unbeaten records as play in the fifth annual Alberni Valley Curling Club bonspiel swung into its fourth day this morning.

Jules Wenezenki of Port Alberni and Victoria's Tony Gutoski each scored two victories Friday to top the 40-rink entry with five successive wins. Bob Cummings of the host club, skipping the only other undefeated quartet, posted his third and fourth triumphs Friday.

Wenezenki, Gutoski, Bob Fuller of Nanaimo and Ed Price, Frank Hunt, Ed Myers and Cec Hooper, all of Port Alberni, reached the eights of the MacKenzie Trophy primary.

Quarter finals were also reached in the Colonist primary with Gutoski, Wenezenki, Cummings, Annis Stukus, Vancouver; Warren Paul, Port Alberni; Jack Coates, Parksville; and Ron Harper and Ollie Panzer of Duncan still in the running.

Nanaimo Rinks Clash Today To Gain Final

Mrs. H. Tegert of Salmon Arm will meet a Nanaimo rink in the final round of the provincial women's curling playdowns at Nanaimo.

Mrs. Tegert, representing the North Okanagan, reached the final Friday with a 13-7 triumph over Mrs. G. McKilligan of Summerland to top the five rinks entered in "B" section of the 'spiel.

Three rinks finished in a tie for the top spot in "A" section and Mrs. Min Holm of Nanaimo ousted Mrs. A. Fuller of Vancouver in a playoff Friday night.

Mrs. Holm met Mrs. Marg Fuller of Nanaimo, the other rink that shared the section lead, in a playoff this morning to decide which rink would advance to the final against Mrs. Tegert.

Chinook Club to Lobby for Increased Fishing Grounds

Members of the Chinook Club will attempt to have a greater area reserved for sports fishermen in the vicinity of Saanich Inlet and Cowichan Bay.

During the club's annual meeting Friday night, the Chinookers drew up plans to work with a committee from the parent Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association on a campaign to have commercial fishing banned in Sansum Narrows and Satellite Channel.

Named to head the Chinook Club, which is open to any member of the VSIAA who catches a salmon of 20 pounds or over in the inlet, was Andy Anderson.

John Rose was elected vice-president and Bill Rowe was named secretary-treasurer.

Voted in as directors were George Heathfield, Dan Thomas, Cliff Heglin, Bill Robinson, Art Midlane, Sparky Romano, Martin Nickels, Jack Clyde and Vince Reid.

Trophies won by members during the past season were presented during the meeting, with Sid Upton, who landed a 43-pound, two-ounce salmon, taking the trophy for the biggest salmon by a Chinook Club member.

Other trophy winners follow:

Art Midlane, the Currie trophy for three button fishing weighing a total of 84 pounds, 14 ounces.

E. Jaundrew, the Sylvester trophy for a 20 pounder, the largest caught in the annual Chinook Club derby.

Mrs. George Heathfield, the Chinook Ladies Cup for a 21 pound, 12 ounces, largest caught by a woman member.

Jim Haslam, Dr. Clarke's Dominion Day cup for a 15 pound 8 ounces, the biggest caught in Dominion Day derby.

Mart Nickels, the Peets trophy for a 33 pound, 14 ounces, largest salmon caught by a new member.

Bill Robinson the Liar trophy for the biggest fish story told at the annual banquet.

Here's One Tenant Happy, Proud to Pay His Rent

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A stocky, dark-haired Hungarian today dug into his pocket, pulled out a wad of dollars, and proudly paid his landlady $60.

Joseph Panos, 22, an electrician by trade, had reason to be proud.

A refugee, who fled his Communist-controlled country, he had earned his first pay cheque since his arrival in Canada in December.

The cheque represented a phenomenal achievement for the young man. Two months ago he arrived in Canada destitute, owning only the clothes he wore. His knowledge of the English language only amounted to a few words.

Today Joseph Panos can converse in English and has fully adapted himself to the environment of his new country.

Panos worked hard to establish himself in his new community.

"I learned at least 40 English words a day," he said. "I studied every night until one in the morning."

Since December, 263 refugees have come here—all are working hard to learn English so they can take their rightful place in the community.

The total number of refugees living here include 152 single men over 18 years of age. The remainder are women and children. Twenty are single women.

SIX DOCTORS

Among the group are 30 professionals and they include six doctors, one dentist, six school teachers and several engineers.

All but 50 single men have been placed in private homes. The single men are living at the Immigration Building.

R. S. Reid, immigration officer in charge of the refugees, said about 30 Hungarians have found jobs so far.

"Once these people learn English they won't have any trouble in finding work," he said. "The majority are skilled tradesmen and are anxious to work."

He disclosed that not one person who has taken a Hungarian into his home has yet complained of misbehaviour.

"Of course, we expect to run across a few who will not adapt themselves to this country," he said. "That is to be expected. On the whole they are hard-working, honest people, anxious to make good."

MONTE ROBERTS

I feel the constituents are letting me down.

A couple of days ago, I suggested, as Victoria's centennial project, a spoonerized pun with a local flavor, to serve as a permanent memorial to B.C.'s 100th birthday.

You will see why I feel the constituents are letting me down when you read the result to date:

Dear Mr. Roberts:

Re your spoonerized puns for the B.C. Centennial:

A stranger driving down the Island Highway paused to watch a native Indian, sauntering along with a knife in his hand, hewing out the inside of a fibrous tropical fruit.

"What in heavens' name are you doing?" asked the tourist.

"Carving," said the Indian.

"Do you sell those things?"

"Ugh!"

"And is your business expanding?"

"Yes," said the Indian, a crafty gleam in his eye. "I intend to hollow the gourds to Victoria."

You don't like that one, Mr. Roberts? Well . . .

There was once a reception given in honor of a beautiful girl named Victoria, who had just announced her engagement.

As the hour for the toast drew nigh, the girl's sponsor approached a long table on which were placed 12 glasses of champagne, and carefully selected the third glass, then the sixth, ninth and twelfth.

"What are you going to do?" asked the bride's mother.

"Obvious," said the toastmaster, with a low bow. "I'm going to swallow the thirds to Victoria."

—CONSTITUENT.

I guess I will have to give "Constituent" an A for effort.

But much as it pains me to do so, I must point out neither of the above contributions are

(a) Spoonerized

or (b) puns.

I can just see William Archer Spooner (1844-1930) winning spildly in gris hayve at alleged spoonerized puns which fail to transpose the ACTUAL initial letters of the key words. Or should I say, wee curds?

The good Dr. Spooner, who started all this with the immortal "Kingering kongs their titles take" was, above all things, a purist in the spooneristic field.

What is worse, the contributions from "Constituent" are not puns. They are plays on words, an entirely different matter.

Come, come constituents, Rally 'round. We need a true spoonerized pun to commemorate the centennial year.

Time is a-wasting. Rush your contribution to the Times right away.

(But don't, of course, exspeed the seed limit.)

Irwin to Seek Federal Seat; To Quit as MLA

Tom Irwin, Speaker of the B.C. legislature, will resign his post as member for Delta constituency in order to represent the Social Credit party as candidate for Burnaby-Richmond in the federal election.

"But I won't do it until the last minute," he said here today. "I still have a responsibility to the people of Delta, and must discharge that obligation first.

"I don't have to file federal papers until about three weeks before the election, and that might not be until the fall," he said.

Mr. Irwin was nominated for the Burnaby-Richmond candidacy Friday night, but was not present. He sent his acceptance after a snowstorm delayed his arrival from Victoria.

He said that when he files his federal papers he must be free of other obligations, such as his present post.

Tax Rebate Deducted As Credit

Premier W. A. C. Bennett's promised $28 property tax relief to homeowners will be deducted as a credit from 1957 tax statements. The municipalities will be reimbursed with cash during the collection period.

Greater Victoria municipal leaders say they do not intend to use the gift as an excuse to raise taxes.

The new scheme will cost the province an estimated $7,500,000 this year.

Those who will receive the grant are owners of single housekeeping unit homes, owners of duplexes provided the owner lives in one unit, combined single family dwellings and business premises where the living quarters occupy 50 per cent or over of the floor space.

ONLY ONE

Each owner will receive a grant for only one residence.

If taxes are less than $28.99, the owner will still be required to pay $1. Throughout the province 267,000 homeowners will benefit.

Owners will receive their tax credits by filling in a certificate on the reverse side of taxation notices. The collector will decide eligibility. False application would bring a $50 fine.

The legislature gave first reading to the bill, to be known as the Provincial Homeowner Grant Act, at its session Friday.

Acting mayor of Victoria Ald. Arthur Dowell said the grant would be a great help to taxpayers here if council could not hold the mill rate for 1957 at the 1956 level.

"But I am optimistic there won't be an increase in the mill rate."

"We'll do everything possible to keep the mill rate down," said Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash.

"We certainly won't consider the tax refund when we are setting the mill rate," said Reeve F. E. Norris of Oak Bay.

400 Travel Agents Here in September

Plans for reception of 400 top travel agents from western United States, Hawaii, Mexico and the Pacific were formulated at a meeting in Empress Hotel today.

Here from Seattle to discuss the Sept. 15-18 convention with local vice-chairman C. E. Blaney Jr. are Charles B. West, conference chairman; George E. Hatch, general allied chairman, and George V. Wachtin, president of the Pacific Northwest chapter of the American Society of Travel Agents, which has a world-wide membership of 4,000.

"These are the people who plan tours and send visitors to us," Mr. Blaney told the Times. "The importance of this convention to Victoria and the Island is obvious."

BEAT HAWAII

Victoria, the first Canadian and Pacific Northwest site to be selected as an ASTA convention site, won out after a spirited bid from Hawaii and Mexico.

Both these countries will send special "convention parties" to entertain the visitors.

John Fisher will come from Toronto to be keynote speaker at opening sessions Monday, Sept. 15, in Empress Hotel.

A busy round of sales clinics, fishing, golf, and visits to Butchart's Gardens are scheduled. The Canadian Scottish will be invited to pipe guests off the Seattle boat Sept. 15, and a sunset ceremony is planned for the following day.

It is hoped that Gordon Wood, vice-president of TCA and president of the Canadian Travel Association, will be guest speaker at the wind-up banquet and dance Sept. 18. The Mexican party will entertain at this function.

Assisting local vice-chairman Blaney in making arrangements are Tom Sturgess, department of trade and industry; Wallace Courtney, Cy Porter, Harry Newton, Conway Parrott, Cyril Chapman and Charles Moore.

City Architect Named Judge In Big Contest

John H. Wade, senior partner of the Victoria architectural firm of Wade, Stockdill and Armour, has been appointed one of the judges in the forthcoming competition for the design of the Aluminum Company of Canada's multi-storied suburban sales office building to be built in the Greater Toronto area.

Total prize list offered to architects amounts to $12,000, with first prize of $6,000 going to the architect given the award by the six judges representative of the whole of Canada.

The other judges are Pierre Amos, Montreal; A. F. Duffus, Halifax; William R. Souter, Hamilton, Ont.; H. G. Moody, Winnipeg.

Decision of the judges will be given at Ottawa next June.

Hold-Up Suspect Shuns Jury Trial

Hearing Set For March 5

Trial by a judge of the County Court was elected by Victoria man, Colin W. L. Chalmers, 25, no fixed address, when he appeared in city police court today charged with armed robbery of $3,000 from Canadian Bank of Commerce James Bay branch Feb. 11.

Preliminary hearing on the charge will be heard in city court March 5.

Chalmers was arrested in Vancouver early Thursday and brought to Victoria late Friday after investigation by city detectives William Andrews and Norman Bath. They booked him at 1.30 a.m. today.

An earlier suspect, Barry Irwin Keele, 26, arrested and charged three days after the hold-up, was released from custody Friday after the armed robbery charge against him was dropped.

NO JURY

Chalmers, thin-faced and dark, was asked by the court how he elected to be tried—by a magistrate without a jury, by a judge without a jury or by a judge and jury.

"I don't want a jury, so I guess a judge . . ." he said.

FREED AFTER EIGHT DAYS IN JAIL as a bank robbery suspect, Barry Irwin Keele, 26, enjoys Times headline. His experience was laid to mistaken identity and another man has today been charged.

'DIDN'T TRY TO PROVE OR DISPROVE MY STORY'

Man Freed in Hold-Up Case May Sue for False Arrest

By PETE LOUDON

A young Saanich man who spent eight days in Victoria jail on an armed bank robbery charge, then was released for lack of evidence, may take legal action for false arrest.

Unemployed and ineligible for unemployment insurance, 26-year-old Barry Keele told the Times today:

"The fact I was accused won't help me get a job."

He added: "I will ask Mr. Grant if legal action can be taken in view of the apparent false arrest." (City lawyer Ronald Grant, out of town today, represented Keele in court.)

Barry Irwin Keele was arrested three days after the February 11 armed hold-up of the James Bay branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. (Prior to his release, Colin W. L. Chalmers, 25, was arrested in Vancouver Thursday in connection with the same $3,000 robbery. He elected trial by a judge of the County Court when he appeared in city police court today.)

DARK FUTURE

Keele looks on the future darkly.

"Frankly, I have a police record dating back a few years. But I thought that when that was over I would have the same rights as any other citizen.

"I'll stay in Victoria if I can get a job, otherwise I'll get out."

He doesn't know where he'll go or what he'll work at. He lives now with his grandparents at 916 Tolmie but says they are not in position to help him much.

When he has a job, Keele works as a truck or "cat" driver. Recently, with a $25 loan he has been able to buy an old car and made a small profit wrecking it for sale of parts.

He knows why he was arrested—his record and the fact he left Victoria with a friend Bob Dovey, the day of the robbery. They went to Vancouver where Keele looked for work.

"We were on the 1.05 p.m. Mill Bay ferry and in Nanaimo by 2.30 (when the robbery occurred)."

"We stayed in Vancouver until Wednesday and arrived back in Victoria at 1 a.m. Thursday the 14th.

"Bob stopped where I live to let me out. He called me back for something. The first thing I knew policemen were around us with their hands under their coats. They frisked us. There were two Saanich constables and a Saanich detective."

He said the police had acted on private information.

"As far as I know they didn't make any attempt to prove or disprove our story."

He said they were delivered to Victoria police station and at 2.15 a.m. a line-up was held in the charge office.

"There was Bob and myself and six others. I don't know where they got them. We were rumpled and needed shaves.

"They brought in the bank manager, he walked straight up to me, shook his finger at me and said 'That's the man'. I pretty near dropped dead on the spot."

Keele said he had read of the robbery Wednesday in Vancouver and was stunned by the accusation.

"They put Dovey and me in separate cells. I was upstairs."

He recalled the cell contained an interlaced steel-band cot with no mattress and a toilet with no seat.

"I had four blankets. I put two under me and two on top, but I was still cold.

"All I could see was 20 years.

"I was trying to figure how it happened to me.

"I never slept that night at all."

"They brought breakfast but I couldn't eat it.

"There was no chance to wash up or shave before another line-up at nine o'clock and I guess I looked desperate.

"Five or six bank witnesses were led past us.

"One identified me for sure, one gave tentative identification and the others were blank."

Keele was led into court at 10 a.m. He was charged but reserved plea until he could get a lawyer. He was remanded until the next day. After Ronald Grant took the defence a plea of not guilty was entered and two more remands given. He was released Friday for lack of evidence.

"I heard someone else was picked up," he said.

The Times learned Keele's arrest was due to a case of mistaken identity.

Letter from Gus Ryder:

"Hope everyone weathering the old-fashioned type of winter—we've got it, too.

"Come March 1, Phyllis and I are heading for Florida in a new Olds 98, so should get there OK.

"Saturday night (tonight) a big night for all of us — Marilyn, Cliff and myself. We are getting a banquet at the Old Mill, given by a fellow named J. S. Vanderploeg, head of Anaconda Brass.

"Admiration trophy selected our Victoria swims as 'the outstanding performances of '56.' George Demaresq, president of the company, makes the presentations.

"Wish all you folks could be here for the party—Capt. Cavin, Jack Todd, the Elworthy's father and son; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Morrow of the Charming Inn—that would really be a big award in itself—to see and talk with everyone again.

"That of course includes Mr. and Mrs. Cec Wyatt and the Victoria council for all their grand gifts.

"The painting and the plaque are the admiration of all.

"Cliff and Joan have a lovely baby girl. All three doing great.

"Our crippled and blind swimming work going along fine. Just last Saturday, passed a 100 per cent blind swimmer for his quarter-mile test, and on his own. Amazing progress.

"Marilyn is at McGill, likes it and is doing fine. She might take the summertime polio job—depends on her swimming commitments and the old training grind.

"We think a great deal of beautiful Victoria and have 'sold the West' to people who think of going overseas.

"We think it is beautiful and have many fond memories of the straits (cold water?), the city, mountains, homes, etc. — who knows, we may drive back that way from Florida.

"We're going to the heart of the baseball camps, so hope to see some games.

"Notice that your Victoria Cougars are doing real good which is a grand start for Colin Kilburn. Best of luck to him.

"Football here all snarled up, trying to oust the ORFU. My philosophy is: the more sport, the better. Keep it going. Once you erase a league, it's hard to bring it back.

"Many times a team will get beaten—but don't throw them out. The Yankee ball club has had a stranglehold for years but there is still a world series. My idea is mass sport; keep everyone playing. It makes a better and healthier nation.

"The very best to all—Les Fox and Mrs. Les, Frank and Ethel Mack, the Denny Boyds, my little sweetheart Kathy and my pal Richard.

"We will always remember your faith in us."

No Moslem Dieties, Each a Missionary

Rev. Frank Hoffman, DD, has never forgotten one lesson he learned when he was in an army camp with Moslem forces during the First World War.

The Moslems, who pray five times daily, emphasize "very brief sermons," he said, "and it was a very wise thing."

Later Dr. Hoffman emigrated from Hungary to Canada and became a United Church minister. He practiced what the Moslems preached, limiting sermons to 10 or 15 minutes.

"When I found some good ladies sleeping, I would give the benediction," the retired minister told a "Comparative Religions" night class at Victoria College.

"Long sermons defeat themselves," he said. "If a sermon continues for half an hour, 50 per cent of the congregation will begin thinking about something else."

Islam, title of the Moslem religion, literally means "submission," Dr. Hoffman explained.

It is an unorganized religion, but "each single Moslem is a missionary of the faith."

The religion is based on the belief in predestination, where followers "do their best and the rest is up to God," he said.

"That is why the Moslems have always been such excellent soldiers. They believe that if thousands of bullets are swirling around them, they won't be hit unless it has been destined by God."

The daily prayers of Islam begin with the words, "In the name of the Merciful Father of All Mercies," but there are no images or deification in the faith.

Mohammed, the prophet of the Moslems, did not allow deification, Dr. Hoffman said. "He repeatedly told his people, 'I came from the dust and I will return to the dust'."

Mohammed lived "an ordinary commercial life" until his forties. Then he retired to meditate and fast and, since he was an epileptic he "often fell into trances."

During these trances he heard things which he spoke freely, Dr. Hoffman said. "The scribes listened, and wrote or memorized his words and later Omar compiled his teachings into the Koran."

Bible of the Moslems, the Koran was first translated into other languages in the 17th century.

Dr. Hoffman will continue his talk on Islam next week.

YOU SAID TO ME-

By ETHEL TULL

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "I sense from your writing that you are surrounded and enfolded in a most wonderful Love. Will you help me find it too?"

I shall try to give you my own personal experience which has led me to feel the enfolding love of God. From childhood, I had known that the way to God was through the Cross of Christ—repentance, and belief in His power to forgive sin and to keep me from sinning—yet I found myself committing the same sins over and over again. Then I met some people known at that time as the Oxford Group, and now as the Moral Rearmament movement, (MRA).

These people showed me that sin was anything that came between God and me, and between me and my fellow man, so the way to come nearer to God was to learn to recognize sin in myself, and in His power to conquer it.

I learned to go to God each morning and ask Him to show me where my life did not agree with the Absolutes of Christ—Absolute Honesty, Purity, Unselfishness, and Love—and day by day, as I listened in silence, I wrote down the thoughts that came to me. What a change God demanded of me! Pride had to go, and resentments, self-consciousness, selfishness, crookedness, lack of love. Apologies had to be made, and everything that I knew to be crooked, straightened out.

I am very slow to learn, but He has taught me through the years, and still teaches me in my quiet times. I know His love is all around me, and I will go on with my hand in His to ever new adventures on the good road where He rules and guides.

NANAIMO (CP)—The sudden weight of overnight snow caused a Seabee plane to sink at a wharf here this morning.

There was no one in the aircraft. Chemainus Towing Company directed salvaging operations today. The plane recently was sold by B.C. Airlines to a private firm.

Dispute Looms in Chrysler Plant

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A serious labor-management dispute loomed today between Chrysler of Canada and the membership of Local 444, United Auto Workers.

Charles Brooks, union president, said today he will ask the membership at a meeting Sunday to approve an executive request to the company asking Chrysler to lay off its entire working force until the company needs the cars. Chrysler officials have charged union segments with a slowdown.

Arab 'Summit Conference'

CAIRO (UP)—Syrian President Shukri El Kuwalty arrived today for an Arab "summit conference" that may decide the fate of the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine. The meeting was called to chart new Arab action to get Israeli troops out of the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

Royal Family Goes Riding

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth and her husband, newly promoted to a prince of the kingdom, took their two children horseback riding in the rain today in the family's first full day together in four months.

Jaundice Quarantine at Camp Shilo

WINNIPEG (CP)—Army officials here today said a quarantine has been placed on Camp Shilo, Man., 15 miles southeast of Brandon, due to an outbreak of infectious jaundice. They said 17 cases have been reported in the military camp, which has a population of "several thousand."

Bad Weather Blocks Up-Coast Jet Search

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bad flying weather held up an air search today for a T-33 jet trainer, missing 50 miles up-coast on a flight here from Portage La Prairie, Man.

Aboard the "Shooting Star" jet was FO Gilbert Russell, 26, of Portage La Prairie and Port Arthur.

RCAF officials said the same bad weather which is believed to have been a factor in the plane's disappearance would hold searching aircraft on the ground until mid-afternoon.

A marine search involving three tugs, several fishboats and three government vessels was organized to search the Malaspina Strait area between Pender Harbour and Texada Island.

Residents of the area reported hearing an aircraft about the time the T-33 went missing.

The jet was one of two T-33's which set out from Portage La Prairie at 2.30 p.m. PST Friday on a long-distance training flight bound for Sea Island air force base. They refuelled at Lethbridge, Alta.

One plane landed at Sea Island at 7.08 p.m., at which time last contact was made with the second, which was flying 10 minutes behind.

Litzenberger Gives Hawks 4-3 Victory

CHICAGO (UP)—Eddie Litzenberger scored with 49 seconds left to play today to give the Chicago Black Hawks their second win of the season over the National Hockey League-leading Detroit Red Wings, 4-3, in a nationally televised game.

The Chicago win broke a three-game victory streak for Detroit, and pulled the Hawks within five games of fifth-place Toronto in the NHL race.

The winning goal was Litzenberger's eighth in the last 10 games and strengthened his position as the league's fifth-leading scorer.

HOWE GETS NO. 38

Until Litzenberger's game-winning score, the Wings had come from behind three times to tie, with Gordie Howe, the league-leading scorer, connecting for his 38th goal of the season to tie the score with less than seven minutes to play.

Earlier, Red Kelly and Alex Delvecchio had counted for the Wings, with each score producing a deadlock.

Hec Lalande, Glen Skov and Forbes Kennedy were other scorers for Chicago. Glenn Hall made 31 saves for Detroit, Al Rollins finished with only 19 stops for Chicago.

SUMMARY

FIRST PERIOD
1. Chicago, Lalande (Ciesla, Kachur), 11.20.
2. Detroit, Kelly (Reibel), 16.15.
3. Chicago, Skov (Watson, Mickoski), 15.30.
Penalties — Godfrey (2.51), Skov (14.21), Lalande (19.05).
Saves—Rollins 5, Hall 13.

SECOND PERIOD
4. Detroit, Delvecchio (Howe, Lindsay), 5.26.
5. Chicago, Kennedy (Lalande, Kachur), 9.40.
Penalties—Godfrey (9.55, 13.12), Skov (13.12), Kennedy (17.38).
Saves—Rollins 7, Hall 10.

THIRD PERIOD
6. Detroit, Howe (Lindsay), 13.22
7. Chicago, Litzenberger (Wilson, Nesterenko), 19.11.
Penalties—None.
Saves—Rollins 7, Hall 8.

U.K. Soccer Schedule Hit By Weather

LONDON (Reuters)—Heavy snow blizzards in the north, the Midlands and the west of England and driving rain the rest of the country played havoc with the British soccer schedule today.

Some games were called off after the referees had a look at snowbound or waterlogged grounds. Others were abandoned before full time ran out.

Stoke City's right-winger, Neville Coleman, triumphed over mud, water and the whole Lincoln City team to bang in seven of the eight goals by which his team shut out Lincoln.

Armed Robber, 14, Caught at Tacoma

TACOMA (AP) — A 14-year-old armed robber was arrested Friday night as he left a supermarket here with an unreported amount of cash.

Richard A. Burkland of Gig Harbor, who reported the robbery, said the boy came into the store about 10.35, partly drew an automatic pistol from his right overcoat pocket and said "Freeze! I want the big ones!"

Police heard the report on a prowl car radio and sped to the scene in time to apprehend the youth as he attempted to escape on foot.

Israelis Blowing-Up Gaza Bases?

CAIRO (Reuters) — Reports reaching Cairo from El 'Arish said explosions could be heard from frontier outposts in the Gaza Strip indicating the Israelis were destroying military installations.

Similar explosions were heard from El 'Arish prior to the Israeli withdrawal there.

CRISIS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles today invited congressional leaders of both parties to a Sunday meeting with him on the Middle East crisis.

President Eisenhower has received another message from Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel, but the White House declined to disclose its contents.

Ben-Gurion, in a speech to the Israeli Parliament Wednesday night, refused to accept U.S. proposals for withdrawal of Israeli forces from areas captured from Egypt.

PEARSON TO FORE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — After weeks of postponements, proposals and counter-proposals, the UN Friday took up the Israeli dispute again and an assembly battle over the question of sanctions against Israel was the immediate prospect. However, indications are that nothing will be done until the U.S. makes its final declaration.

The Arab delegations late Friday put formally before the assembly their long-threatened sanctions resolution, which would ask all UN members to cut off economic, military or financial aid to Israel if she does not withdraw at once.

Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson has been a leader of the anti-sanctions faction. He considers that passage of such a resolution would be a complete admission of UN failure. During the weekend he is expected to try lining up support for a compromise plan—and if the U.S. falls in with this as a result of the Washington talks the sanctions proposal would be doomed to failure.

Strong Opposition Shown By Wenner-Gren Voting

First count in the public opinion ballot conducted by The Times this week indicates that the people of southern Vancouver Island are overwhelmingly against the development scheme for northern B.C. proposed by the Axel Wenner-Gren interests as now presented.

The poll demonstrated that the issue is one of the most controversial public questions raised in many years.

More than 2,000 people sent in marked ballots.

Up to this morning approximately 1,500 had been tabulated, but today's mail brought hundreds more, so that it is not possible to publish the final totals today, as originally planned.

The poll results so far indicate that Greater Victorians' votes on the issue are in sharp conflict with the result of a survey announced by Premier Bennett in a press interview Monday.

The Premier said that the people of British Columbia were 20-1 in favor of the project. He based this estimate on "weekend press comment . . . letters reaching this office and from special information from all corners of the province."

The progress count so far showed

Snow Treacherous Streets Blamed in Several Accidents

More than a dozen traffic accidents between early afternoon Friday and this morning, many of them blamed on snowy streets, sent eight persons to hospitals with varying injuries.

In satisfactory condition at Jubilee Hospital after an operation for internal injury is Robert Wicks, 6½, 1051 Admirals, who was in collision with a car in a school crosswalk Friday about 1 p.m. near Craigflower School.

Police said the boy was driven to school by his father, left the car and proceeded to cross Admirals past a school patrol flag into the path of a car driven by William B. Nikkels, Happy Valley.

Saanich police took the boy to hospital where he was treated in emergency for facial abrasions and head injuries, then admitted.

OVERTURNED

Mrs. Yvette Smethurst, 57, and her daughters, Jeanette and Sylvia, of Brentwood, were treated at Jubilee for injuries received when the car Mrs. Smethurst was driving overturned about 7.40 p.m. on Patricia Bay Highway after going out of control.

The car apparently skidded on the slippery highway near Beaver Lake, went into the ditch and turned over.

Admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. Mae Lee, 24, with facial injuries, and her daughter, Deanna, two, with head injury, who were occupants of a car involved in an accident on the Malahat about 7.40 p.m.

In the city, Arvid Beck, 66, 33 Simcoe, was treated for minor injuries received about 7 p.m. when he was in collision with a car in the 500 block of Yates.

Seven-year-old Glenn Campbell, son of Mrs. Hazel Campbell, 800 Reed, was treated for a cut head at St. Joseph's at 8.10 p.m. He fell at his home.

Police call to take him for treatment was answered by a naval shore patrol wagon, which was in a minor collision with a parked car as it proceeded to hospital.

Slippery streets were blamed for the vehicle striking the parked car at Quadra and North Park after it swerved to avoid a car attempting to cross Quadra in its path.

Other minor accidents occurred through the evening and overnight as slushy driving conditions reduced automobile control.

Victoria Gets Sun Sunday

A wet, sticky blanket of snow, that buried Vancouver Island to depths of over two feet overnight, broke up today under the impact of warm weather, auto traffic, and a blitz by highways department crews.

By midmorning authorities in the up-Island area feared disastrous floods might be caused by the warm rain that fell for a few hours, but weatherman William Mackie said here in Victoria that rain is likely to become light and intermittent this evening and overnight.

Heaviest snow of the overnight storm was at Sproat Lake where up to 30 inches of snow made travel impossible. Nearby Port Alberni had 18 inches of snow, and Campbell River and Courtenay reported 15 inches overnight.

"It's still snowing here today, but traffic is beginning to move," Courtenay RCMP reported. "There have been no cases of distress but plenty of inconvenience. Cars are stranded all over the district."

HIGHWAY BLOCKED

The highway over the Alberni summit between Cameron Lake and Alberni was impassable at press time, and it is understood the last traffic made the trip late Friday afternoon.

Here in Victoria the fall was measured officially at 5.8 inches, but Mr. Mackie said it would reach seven inches in some portions of the district. Many cars were unable to move and about 20 were reported stalled at Memorial Arena where there was a hockey game Friday night.

By this morning, the snow had softened to slush, and in most cases traffic was able to proceed without difficulty. By press time the traveled portion of most main roads was clear.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines reported all buses from up-Island arriving here on time.

Duncan reported 12 inches of snow and warm temperatures, but no rain. Main roads were reported passable, but side roads were blocked in many cases.

At Nanaimo there was up to 18 inches of snow, and residents of many suburban areas were temporarily marooned.

Worst hit transportation operation was Trans-Canada Air Lines, which cancelled four flights to Vancouver Friday evening, and four Vancouver flights and a Seattle flight today. Normal traffic was resumed at 10.45 a.m. today.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

Study in Faces As Budget Bared

It was a study in faces to watch the general reaction to Premier Bennett's reading of his new record-breaking budget Friday afternoon.

While the Social Credit members listened with unrestrained admiration, there was a grim-faced lady in the public galleries who looked as if she had been persuaded to attend a bawdy night-club party.

Had there been nude dancing girls on the floor of the legislature, the lady could not have looked more disapproving.

Someone suggested she was a Liberal party campaigner of years gone by.

The rest of the House—members and public alike—listened in respectful silence to the premier's address, although some of the older folk in the galleries complained he spoke too fast.

CCF Opposition Leader Robert Strachan leaned back in his chair as if he had heard it all before.

George Gregory, sole representative of the Liberal party due to the illness of P. Archie Gibbs, listened to the speech with becoming gravity, occasionally scribbling notes on his desk pad.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi sat eager-eyed, absorbing the premier's words as if they were pearls of wisdom.

W. J. Asselstine, that rugged man of the north—a Liberal turned Social Crediter—listened gravely, chin supported on both hands.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd, always a benign figure, leaned back in his chair as if relaxing in his favorite club.

Mrs. Buda Brown (SC, Vancouver-Point Grey), in black dress with large white collar and orchid, listened intently throughout the two-hour speech.

Tom Uphill, puckish 82-year-old Independent member for Fernie, followed the premier's speech for one and a half hours with stern knitted brows, then got up suddenly, as if obeying an urgent summons from the corridor, and left the chamber.

Ald. Don Smith, new Social Credit member for Victoria City, listened judicially, arms folded on chest.

Health Minister Eric Martin leaned forward, chin in hand, like some ancient Caesar holding a tribunal. And Ray Williston, youthful-looking minister of lands and forests, had the air of a man who says, "This is straight talk, whether you like it or not."

In the back of the galleries was a white-haired man who seemed more concerned with the comfort of the House than the Premier's speech.

Chin on chest, he dozed happily from the time the Premier started speaking at 2.40 p.m. until the vigorous desk-thumpings of Socred members awoke him at 4.45.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett told reporters his budget should be regarded as an insurance budget.

"Even if there were a recession," he said, "we would have enough reserves to carry on our regular services. And we have the interests of the people at heart."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, was the first to shake the premier's hand when he left the chamber.

Although the premier's budget gave no further aid to UBC than the $1,000,000 a year for 10 years already promised, Dr. MacKenzie said:

"I am glad, Mr. Premier, that you are still keeping the door open. I know you are on our side."

★ ★ ★

In honor of the budget speech, Premier Bennett and his cabinet were uniformly dressed in black coats and striped trousers. They wore white hyacinths against a green fern to represent the Social Credit colors—white and green.

★ ★ ★

Premier Bennett, suffering from a cold, was gradually losing his voice as he neared the end of the budget speech.

By taking frequent sips of water, he managed to finish—hoarse but smiling.

10,000 Sign TV Petition

More than 10,000 signatures have been received by the Saanich Voters' Association asking that CHEK-TV's transmitter be moved to cut down on interference, it was reported today.

It is the association's aim to have the petition to Ottawa completed by March 7 in order to have it before a meeting of the CBC board of governors April 3.

Object of petitioners is to obtain at least 20,000 names.

However, an association spokesman said, that if the results were to be completed in time more volunteer canvassers are needed. Donations are also necessary, it was added, to meet expenses.

. . . POLL

that 1,428 persons have voted "no" to the question whether it is wise to tie up such a large area of northern B.C. for the benefit of one group of interests. It is estimated the land reserve placed by the government covers about one-tenth of the province. The vote in favor of this question was only 76.

On the second question, as to whether B.C. should make any kind of deal with the Wenner-Gren interests, the negative vote is 1,370 and the affirmative 124.

The final question was whether it is morally right for Einar Gunderson, who holds public posts as executive vice-president of the PGE Railway and as a member of the toll bridge authority, to also be a director of the Wenner-Gren development firm. The vote on this is 1,418 against and 81 in favor.

The figures thus indicate the feeling shown by the poll run from 11 to one up to 18 to one against the questions.

It is conceded that this is not necessarily the complete picture of feeling, since in an unofficial ballot of this kind the tendency is for those who are opposed to a project to be more vociferous and definite in their views than those who favor it. Some of the latter would be more inclined to let the ballot go by default rather than bother sending in a vote. However, the enormous majority against it is taken as registering a very wide antagonism.

Tallying of the votes is being supervised by W. Gordon Holms, of the chartered accountancy firm of Bailey, Monteith, Holms & Co., and all ballots are being placed in his possession.

The unusual interest in the ballot was demonstrated by dozens of letters accompanying votes mailed to The Times.

Many of these were highly complimentary to the paper for giving people the opportunity to express their views. They also gave a variety of opinions on whether the province should deal with Wenner-Gren in view of his alleged sympathies prior to the last war; and on how cautious the government should be in allowing rights over large portions of territory.

There were a few of those favoring the plan who claimed the wording of the ballot was "loaded" against the project.

Further results of the tally will be announced in Monday's paper and it is hoped to have the count complete by Tuesday.

Naval Probe Ordered Into Dockyard Death

W. M. Stewart, 49, Asphyxiated by Gas While Working in Hold of Vessel

A naval inquiry into the death of William M. Stewart, 49, 1527 Camosun, in an accident at HMC Dockyard Friday afternoon will be conducted within a few days.

A civil inquest into the death will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Sand's Funeral Home, coroner Dr. E. C. Hart said.

Mr. Stewart, a civilian rigger at the Dockyard, was asphyxiated by carbon dioxide gas shortly before 2 p.m. Friday when working in a confined hold of the navy torpedo recovery launch Wildwood as it was undergoing refit.

Three other civilian workmen in the hold escaped above decks of the 70-foot vessel before they were fully overcome by the gas. They turned in the alarm and were given first aid treatment.

One man, George D. Neligan, 971 Dunsmuir, also a rigger, who was working with Stewart, and two HMC Dockyard firemen, Frank F. Bell, 95 View Royal, and Donald J. Metcalfe, 3251 Rutledge, were admitted to HMCS Naden Hospital for treatment.

The firemen had donned all-service breathing masks, good for respiration in atmosphere containing no less than 16 per cent oxygen, and went below decks to get Stewart.

Carbon dioxide, from a 50-pound cylinder being connected to the ship's fire-fighting system, completely filled the hold. The firemen felt themselves being overcome and returned to the dockside.

By this time other firemen, with oxygen-generating breathing equipment, were able to go down and get Stewart.

Efforts to revive him proved in vain. He had been in the hold about 15 minutes from the time the alarm was given, a navy spokesman said.

Delay was caused by the fact the oxygen-generating masks require several minutes to begin functioning.

Others in the hold at the time were pipe-fitter Harry Maat, 403 Hillside, and shipwright Robert F. Dunton, 2350 Epworth. With Neligan they scrambled to the open air, gasping for breath.

Maintenance bosun Arthur Jane, 73 Sylvan Lane, saw them and turned in the alarm.

Plane Crash Death Toll May Reach 25

SEOUL (AP)—A burning United States transport plane crashed on an islet in the Han River Friday night. At least 134 of the 159 aboard were saved, but five bodies were found and it was feared the death toll might reach 25.

The pilot said an engine of the big C-124 Globemaster ran wild, burst into flames and spewed chunks of metal into the two-decker fuselage.

As the tide ebbed at the Han's mouth today, permitting resumption of the search for bodies, air force officials listed 20 persons missing. A spokesman said: "It is very doubtful if they will be found alive."

New York Dockers End Costly Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Dock men went back to work today on piers in New York and other northeastern seaboard ports, ending a costly 10-day strike.

Signals summoning longshore gangs sounded at 5.55 a.m. and a few minutes later the docks buzzed with activity. A huge backlog of cargo meant plenty of work ahead.

The scene was repeated elsewhere along the coast from Maine to Virginia following the signing of new contracts between employers and 45,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) who load and unload ship cargoes in the ports.

Losses to shippers and industy during the strike have amounted to an estimated $30,000,000. More than 100 ships were tied up.

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

Copper is one of 14 elements obtained from Inco ores. Inco produces over 250,000,000 lbs. of copper a year. And more than half of all this copper goes to Canadian companies for the manufacture of copper tube and fittings and hundreds of other useful products. Copper tube and fittings for supply and drainage plumbing are easy and economical to install... and will usually last as long or longer than the buildings in which they are used.

INCO COPPER in millions of feet of plumbing for Canadian homes

...more jobs in Canada

FOR LONG LIFE and trouble-free service, there's nothing quite like copper plumbing in the home. It won't rust; it resists corrosion; under normal conditions, it will last as long as the building.

Today, nearly all the new homes being built in Canada have copper plumbing. And more than half of this copper comes from Inco.

Here's how Inco Copper helps make jobs for Canadians. Down in the mines, Inco workmen blast out the ore. It is milled, smelted and refined at Inco's plants in Copper Cliff, Ontario. Refined copper is sold to Canadian companies for the manufacture of tube, fittings and other plumbing items. Then plumbers install them in Canadian homes.

All these operations help provide jobs for thousands of workmen. That's how Inco helps stimulate the growth and development of industry in Canada.

Noble and Masterly

THE modesty of this column, so admired of its many readers, has just been destroyed by one of those discerning persons. Mr. Atkins has sent it a photograph of a bust of itself which is (I can use no other adjective), justly described in the caption as "noble and masterly." How true, how true. And how gratifying to know that this column's light has penetrated the bushel under which it has so long been hid.

What price modesty now? Noble and masterly! Ha!

A wineskin of the best to Mr. Atkins, and a shot of Greek fire to all who disagree with him, if indeed any such miserable souls exist.

But modesty, or at any rate caution, must still play a part if this column is to carry out its assignment without fear of condign reprisal. Making comments about the goings on in the Courts is like walking a tightrope with a noose about one's neck; above looms the gibbet of libel and below seethes the caldron of contempt. Even the most noble and masterly must walk delicately, and wield the two-edged phrase with prudence and discretion.

* * *

Thus it is that in a spirit of caution, prudence, discretion and as well with the greatest possible respect (but also, so far as the context admits, in a noble and masterly manner), I venture to say a word or two about the august tribunal which broods Olympian over all our comings and goings, the Court of Appeal.

This court is the place where a long cool second look can be taken; and a divorce appeal in which it gave judgment last week illustrates its function very clearly. Freed from the intolerable difficulties under which a trial judge labors in these cases, it came to a different conclusion than that of the Court below, and the divorce went through.

Concerned only with the law, the Court of Appeal has its being in what a learned and somewhat cynical professor called "the heaven of juristic concepts." Their minds uncluttered with thoughts on the behavior of witnesses, their view unimpeded by the mechanics of proof, the judges move with calmness and deliberation in a rarified atmosphere of logic and reason; at least, so far as the law will permit them they do.

In divorce law, of course, there is little logic and no reason at all. But at least the Court is spared the ritual ballet which takes place before the weary eye of the trial judge. The proceedings are all there verbatim; and the only thing the Court of Appeal has to do is consider the Matrimonial Causes Act without bursting forth into yells of hysterical laughter.

This it is well equipped to do, for its judges are all highly experienced on the Bench and can keep a straight face under almost any circumstances.

* * *

It has been said that one is as likely to find a whistling bishop as a snickering judge. As the former appears to lose the power upon his consecration, so the latter assumes an impregnable gravity upon his elevation. It would be a dreadful misfortune were it otherwise; for while justice would still be done, nobody would think so, and the whole foundation of civilization would fall apart in a welter of doubt and confusion.

Judges, however, occasionally permit themselves a certain relaxing of the facial muscles when sitting. Hopeful counsel regard this gesture as a benign smile, while others incline to the view that it is a ghastly grin. The Court House Seagull (whose experience is very great) is of the opinion that both these views are unsound. He feels the phenomenon is no more than a change of position, or at most an indication to counsel that His Lordship is awake and listening.

But we are wandering into a promising field of inquiry more suitable to a monograph than the profane pages of the Press. Let us, therefore, tiptoe quietly out and leave the judges to their Homeric laughter in the soundproof privacy of their chambers.

UN CORRESPONDENCE

By CHARLES LYNCH

Britain, France Learn Fast

NEW YORK—Britain and France, having done one of the world's worst jobs of international public relations in connection with their armed intervention in Egypt last November, have shown in the last two weeks what a good job they can do when they put their minds to it.

Lynch

In the Egyptian business they made virtually no effort to condition world public opinion for the action they planned to take. They did not even inform their best friends. The result was that when they acted the reaction among friend and foe alike was one of shock, so much so that opinion as expressed in the General Assembly was overwhelmingly against them.

That they learned a lesson in the value of public relations, or call it propaganda if you like, is clear from the way they have handled two questions that have come before the General Assembly in February—Algeria and Cyprus.

Long before these questions were due to come up for debate, opposition forces began a propaganda barrage—the Arabs against France on Algeria, and the Greeks and the Cypriot terrorists against Britain on Cyprus.

Both Britain and France took up the paper challenge and proceeded to set their own presses and mimeograph machines whirring. The result was that all sides of the issues had been well ventilated in print by the time the items came up on the General Assembly's agenda—in the battle of words the British and French case was put forcefully, without apology, and with a great deal of logic.

DELEGATES SWAYED

France sent her foreign minister, M. Christian Pineau, to the United Nations to voice her stand on Algeria. His definitive speech on the subject before the political committee was one of the most forceful ever made at the United Nations by a representative of a major nation. He dealt with Arab charges chapter and verse, and took the offensive by charging the Arab states with fomenting strife in Algeria, and thereby making any settlement more difficult.

A great many delegates were swayed by the French case, and by the vigor with which it was put forward. As a result of these bold tactics, as much as anything else, France saw the Algerian debate end with a resolution so moderate that even she herself voted for it, although she was opposed to any outside interference in Algeria.

Britain has been following similar tactics in the Cyprus debate, and it has been a revelation to see her delegation operate. Not content to stand unflinching in the face of the blows Greece was bringing to bear upon her, she launched a counter-offensive of her own, and documented it to the hilt. The basis of her charge was that Greece was aiding and abetting the terrorists in Cyprus, and by so doing was interfering in the affairs of another state, and making the task of settlement virtually impossible.

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—An active Pacific storm approaching from the southwest brought extensive snow to the southern and central B.C. interior and rain or freezing rain to the south coast this morning. A strong outflow of cold air persists in north coastal areas. Precipitation will become showery tonight behind the disturbance as it moves inland. Temperatures will be a little higher Sunday but will remain somewhat below normal in most areas.

Bennett Budget Protested By Loggers, UBC Students

A torchlight protest parade by UBC students and the promise of a legal fight by logging interests were the main reactions to Premier Bennett's "cautious" $295.9 million budget delivered to the legislature Friday.

Vancouver police and firemen slithered through snowy streets following reports that "a big fight and a fire" had broken out at Georgia and Howe.

It turned out to be a torch-lit parade of University of B.C. students demonstrating, to protest the fact Premier Bennett didn't boost a grant of $1,000,000 annually to the $2,000,000 figure they had been seeking.

L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said the association will contest legally the constitutional basis of a logging tax in B.C.

Mr. Andrews said the decision to contest the tax was made before the budget came down, but that the new formula announced by Premier Bennett in his budget aggravated the grievance.

The new plan will bring $1,500,000 into B.C. coffers.

It provides for a progressive tax scale on profits of integrated logging and processing firms.

Mr. Andrews said the tax would be contested on the grounds it was actually being levied on lumber processing. With companies involved not only in logging but in processing, it is hard to identify the logging profit, he said.

The manufacturers' association produces about 90 per cent of the lumber cut in the coastal area, Mr. Andrews said.

Legislation setting up the revised tax plan received first reading in the House Friday.

Five-Fold Expansion Noted In Chemainus Credit Union

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus and District Credit Union membership has grown from 81 in 1948 to 446 in 1956, and its assets from $5,150 to $282,417, chairman George Beaubier said at the annual meeting.

The meeting endorsed the board's recommendation that a dividend of 3½ per cent be paid on share accounts at Dec. 31, 1956, totalling $5,380; that a 20 per cent patronage refund be paid on all interest paid by members, totalling $3,645; that 20 per cent of the surplus be placed in the reserve account; that any remaining funds be held as undivided surplus and be used for the educational fund.

The credit committee reported that during the year 278 loans totalling $115,565 and seven endowment loans totalling $6,600 had been made. In the nine years the credit union has been in operation there have been only $70 in bad debts.

Officers elected were: Supervisory committee, three-year term, A. Brown; credit committee, three-year term, O. M. Samuelson and Wes Paisley; directors, three-year terms, Mrs. F. A. Albee, E. Eggen, Miss M. Clayton; one-year term, H. G. Morris.

Bennett's Pay Hiked to $20,000, MLAs Get $1,400 Boost to $5,000

Hon. W. A. C. Bennett joined the ranks of Canada's highest paid premiers Friday when estimates for 1957-58 presented to the legislature provided him with a salary of $15,000 a year and a $5,000 sessional indemnity.

His salary last year was $9,000. His executive assistant, Ron Worley, received $9,600. (Worley's salary this year is unchanged.)

Cabinet ministers each will receive a total of $12,500 a year, an increase of $5,000 over last year's salary.

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan's allowance—additional to his sessional indemnity—will increase from $2,000 to $3,500.

The sessional allowance of Mr. Speaker Thomas Irwin will be boosted from $1,800 to $3,500.

MLAs will receive $5,000 instead of as formerly $3,600.

The breakdown on their scale shows $4,400 indemnity and $15 a day for living allowance, based on a 40-day session.

Clerk of the House E. K. DeBeck will get an increase from $1,700 to $2,500, and newly appointed law clerk Ian Horne from $1,200 to $1,500.

Premier Bennett said the new salary scale will "enable our members to get around the province more and learn what is going on in other constituencies besides their own."

Pay increases also were included in the estimates for members of the Public Utilities Commission.

Dean Harry Angus, chairman, will have his salary increased from $10,816 to $12,000, and commissioner Percy George and A. B. Jackson from $8,300 to $10,000.

Doctor Raps Martin On Hospital Freeze

NANAIMO—Policy of Health Minister Eric Martin in letting 1952 hospital cost figures apply today was criticized sharply Thursday night by Dr. G. R. Blott, former chief of the medical staff of Nanaimo General Hospital.

"We get no government help for any increase in staff we have at Nanaimo Hospital, over and above the staff employed in 1952," he said at a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting.

He said "the people in Victoria" had decided the city needed a 200-bed hospital by 1961.

"But we need that now," he said, "and by the time we get it built, we will need another 200 beds."

"Whose money is the minister doling out with such munificence and kindness?" he asked. "It's our money, from the sales tax we pay."

Bridge Worker Killed

Police to Shoot Sheep-Killing Dogs

SOOKE — Slaughter of at least a dozen sheep in the East Sooke district has brought a warning from Const. Don Knight, RCMP, that any dogs found roaming at large in areas where sheep are pastured will be shot on sight.

H. E. Thornett found several sheep mangled after dogs were heard in the vicinity, and dog tracks were seen. It is believed two dogs are responsible.

$350 LOSS

A ram, ewes and lambs were killed in the first attack, and four days ago a ewe and two lambs were found dead, and two ewes were reported missing. Mr. Thornett estimated his loss in the two attacks at $350.

If the dogs are not found, it is understood the provincial government will pay the owner a percentage of his loss.

Const. Knight spent one night on watch at the Thornett farm, from 11 p.m. to 6 a.m., but did not see the predators.

(BB Plus) "THREE BRAVE MEN" (Odeon)—20th Century-Fox's well-acted "Three Brave Men" makes for capital entertainment. But as the Great Red Hunt and suspicions of possible Communists in our midst is not so great as in the U.S. the plot appears overdone and thereby fails to arouse the sympathy it might elsewhere.

Ernest ("Marty") Borgnine is starred as a man who has worked for the U.S. Navy Department for more than 20 years. The father of four children and an outspokenly loyal American, he is shocked when he is suspended "for security reasons."

Early in his working life Borgnine attended some meetings sponsored by Commie-run organizations thinking they were something else entirely. Also, quite unwittingly, he subscribed for a while to a Red-sponsored newspaper. Personal enemies branded him as a "radical" during his community housing project.

All small things to be sure, but when U.S. department investigators add them up they mean that Borgnine is a poor security risk and they suspend him and then, eventually, fire him.

★ ★ ★

AT FIRST the heart-broken man coaxes his wife Virginia Christine to pack up the family and run away with him to another city where they can start out all over again. But he is persuaded by pastor Andrew Duggan to remain and fight it out. He secures the services of sympathetic lawyer Ray Milland who takes the case before a navy board. Eventually they persuade the board of Borgnine's innocence but the findings are overruled by the assistant secretary to the navy. Now the fight has to start out all over again.

The moral of the whole is that it is unjust for man to cast suspicions upon his fellow man. Or, to an outsider, "Three Brave Men" has an air of apology to Americans who might have been inadvertently harmed by the nation's witch-hunt. Actually the play is based on a true incident.

All perform capably. Borgnine is especially believable as the man so hurt he finds it difficult to fight back. More than that, it is good to see last year's Academy Award winner continuing to perform so nobly in so many films. He must be considered to be the exception to the rule that Oscars can mean the end or easing off of a promising career.

Milland as the lawyer also performs creditably as does Nina Foch as a WAVE officer and lawyer, Frank Faylen as the hostile postman, Frank Lovejoy as head of the hearing board and the youngsters who play the accused's two oldest children, Warren Berlinger and Diane Jergens.

DAUGHTER OF GREAT TRADITION

Shaw Praised Her Saint Joan; Inherited Role From Mother

ANN CASSON

Ann Casson, the English-Canadian actress who will star with the Canadian Players of Stratford on their current cross-country tour, has a great tradition behind her and has proved a worthy inheritor of it.

Her mother was the famed British actress, Dame Sybil Thorndyke.

Ann Casson's partnership with her husband, Douglas Campbell, started when they were both working under Tyrone Guthrie at the Old Vic.

The blue-eyed, golden-haired actress also inherited the role of Saint Joan from her mother for whom it was originally written by George Bernard Shaw. Ann's interpretation, during the two-year run of the play in Great Britain and the Continent, brought rave notices and a letter from Shaw himself, which said:

"You are in exactly the right humor for it; for Joan is a volcano of energy from beginning to end, and never the snivelling Cinderella, born to be burnt, that all the others — except the first — (Sybil Thorndye) made her. So go ahead with my blessing, and be sure not to wear yourself out before you begin. Not that you could, even if you tried; but still, keep a bit always in reserve."

When the Canadian Players come to Victoria for two nights at the Royal Theatre, March 12 and 13, Miss Casson will play the lead in Shaw's "Man and Superman."

Year's Work Abroad Ruined in Transit

TORONTO (CP) — With almost fatalistic moderation, William Koochin said:

"It was not a loss in the sense that the experience of building them was valuable. That was one satisfaction. As finished articles, there was a little bit of a loss."

Koochin, 29 - year - old sculptor from Brilliant, in the heart of the Doukhobor country in Eastern British Columbia, had just returned to Canada after 13 months study and work in Europe.

On arrival in New York he learned that a metal trunk containing seven terra cotta heads and figures he was bringing home had been smashed in transit.

Apart from a few figures he presented to friends before he sailed, they represented his year's work. From what he could see in the customs shed at New York, all but one or two were damaged beyond repair.

"Either the trunk was dropped or something was dropped on it," he said. "The whole side was crushed in."

Koochin gave up a job in the design department of the CBC television studio in Vancouver to go overseas in December, 1955. He studied and worked in Paris for four months, then travelled through Europe until last September when he returned to Paris.

In the French capital he worked for a time in the factory and studios of the centuries-old Manufacture de Sevres, a government-operated concern that produces fine porcelain, china, enamel ware and ceramics.

Koochin said he found his year overseas of tremendous value, not only because of his studies but because of art exhibits and museums he visited and the exchange of ideas with other artists. He was told that in Paris alone 40,000 artists are working and studying, among them many Canadians.

The young Westerner, once described by curator Jerry Morris of the Vancouver Art Gallery as a sculptor of "rare individual promise," found that Canadian art ranks favorably with what he saw overseas.

"Canadian artists," he said, "have learned and can learn much from Europeans, but the quality of Canadian painting and sculpture is quite comparable with what is being done in Paris."

Partnership

NEW YORK (UP)—Yul Brynner and producer-director Anatole Litvak have announced formation of a company in which they will be partners for the production of two motion pictures to be made in Europe in 1957 and 1958.

Brynner and Litvak initially worked together for 20th Century-Fox's most successful "Anastasia," current recipient of many awards.

Brynner and Litvak met early in January in Europe to scout locations for one of the projected properties they plan to make there this summer. A formal announcement of the properties and a distribution deal will be made soon.

Toscanini Throne For Otto Kemplerer?

By HUMPHRY DAVY

If you can visualize a man over six feet tall, but looking more like eight, who resembles a giant "Thunderbird" when he bends towards his orchestra, then you have a picture of Otto Kemplerer, one of Europe's most brilliant conductors.

Davy

Perhaps unjustifiably, this German-born conductor of dark complexion with sensitive features, was overshadowed by Arturo Toscanini who died this month. It is only now he is coming to his own as one of the greatest interpreters of classical music.

Kemplerer's skill as a conductor dawned on this continent last year when he started to perform for Angel a series of Beethoven's symphonies. Everyone of his performances so far has been excellent. His recording of the Eroica Symphony was selected by leading U.S. newspapers as one of the best records of 1956.

★ ★ ★

The conductor's latest recording is Beethoven's Symphony No. 7 (Angel 35730), which lives up to expectation. We predict this is another winning record. The performance is superb and it certainly establishes him as a great interpreter of Beethoven.

Kemplerer, by the way, conducted the Los Angeles Philharmonic during the Second World War. In his 71st year, he now frequently conducts in England and other European capitals.

In his own country, he is known as the man who introduced rare and new works to the German people, prior to the political upheaval of the thirties.

On the record shelf this month, there is another excellent disc worth listening to — Beethoven's sonata No. 17 "Tempest," and No. 18, performed by Walter Gieseking, pianist, (Angels). The performances are fine examples of the French pianist's calm and exquisite playing.

Gieseking died suddenly while in London last year. It was his plan to record all of Beethoven's piano works. He had completed 23 before his death.

POPS LIBRARY

Just before Christmas Columbia issued "Required Singing," a score of fireside songs that belong in every sentimentalist's collection (includes "Whiffenpoof," "Hand Me Down My Walkin' Cane," etc.) . . . Also, in retrospect, "Jerry Lewis Just Sings" (Decca) should have been recommended to all collectors. Lewis has tapped a new talent.

Selected Singles — "Salute to Tommy Dorsey" by the Modernaires (Coral) . . . "Brazilian Rhapsody" by Caesar Giovannini (Bally) . . . "No One Sweeter Than You" by Nick Noble (Mercury) . . . "August Moon" by Leroy Holmes and Orchestra (M-G-M) . . . "It's So Easy to Forget" by the Four Lads (Columbia).

Mood Music—"The Tender Touch" by Nelson Riddle and his Orchestra (Capitol). Love songs played by one of the country's most interesting orchestras . . . 'Play Melancholy Baby" (RCA-Victor). This is Matt Dennis at his best on a dozen mood songs ranging from "I Gotta Right to Sing the Blues" to "My Funny Valentine."

Music Festival Syllabus Notes

One month from today—March 23—is the closing date for entries in the Greater Victoria Music Festival. Late spring dates of this year's festival, May 8 to 10 and 13 to 15, will it is expected, result in a big entry.

Attention of potential piano candidates is drawn to three corrections in the festival syllabus.

In Class 100, Piano, 15 years and under, the complete two movements of Beethoven's Sonata Op. 49, No. 2, is to be performed instead of "first movement only."

Performers' Class 102, any Beethoven Sonata, exceptions to include Op. 27, No. 2, first movement.

Piano Duet class 114 is now to read "David and Goliath," Victor Babin—(any three).

Copies of the official syllabus and entry forms may be obtained from the recording secretary, Mrs. Doris Hopkins, Box 308, Victoria, or from local music stores.

AUSTRALIAN TV

Australia had six television stations operating early in 1957, including two national, non-commercial, stations.

St. David's Day Concert Is Planned

In commemoration of St. David's Day, March 1, the Victoria Cymrodorion Society will hold a banquet and concert, Friday night in the Tartan Room of McEwen's Restaurant.

Chairman of the program will be David Evans. A travelogue presented by Archie Gibbs, MLA, will be a highlight of the evening.

Assisting artists will be Miss Colleen Erb, contralto; Mrs. E. Paul, soprano; Frank Martin, W. M. Paterson, Walter Pym, vocal solos; Florence Phillimore, piano solo; Geoff Venables, violin.

Community singing will also be included in the program.

WITH SYMPHONY

Outstanding Victoria baritone noted for his fine, resonant voice, is John Dunbar, a popular and genial stage personality who is to be soloist, Sunday afternoon and Monday evening, at Victoria Symphony Orchestra "Pops" concerts. Mr. Dunbar frequently commutes between Victoria and Vancouver to keep singing dates, including his star spot on the CBU old-time musical broadcast, "Liecester Square to Broadway."

From the stage play of the same name which ran 14 months at the Strand Theatre in London playing to packed audiences, comes this film, directed by Philip Leacock, who gave us "The Kidnappers" and many other fine pictures. It is a film which brings great entertainment for the whole family because it has to do with domestic affairs as well as the activities of the three boys at school. They have problems too. There's the Headmaster, The Secret Society, "Operation Birdcage" and "Who Is Icarus?". All very mysterious, amusing and well done, by an excellent cast.
